WHAT DIES?

By Douglas Malloch

What dies? Most certainly the pine
Will never die—descendants brave
Maintain the old majestic line—
The very oak above the grave
Speaks Nature's continuity.
What dies? Not, certainly, the tree.

What dies? The bud, the rose, the seed,
Each has its time and has its turn.
One needs his garden but to read
Of life's eternity to learn,
That every springtime will disclose.
What dies? Not, certainly, the rose.

What dies? The sun will fade, the stars
Come out, and then the stars will fade—
But still the midnight has its Mars,
The day will have its light and shade,
The sun again when night is done.
What dies? Not, certainly, the sun.
What dies? The river finds the sea,
The sea the sky, the sky the hill—
The hill shall give us presently
The river from the mountain rill,
With star and sun again to gleam.
What dies? Not, certainly, the stream.

What dies? Shall only one thing die?—
God's mind in human minds expressed?
Shall tree and rose live on, and I
Expire, this spark within my breast?
Is death the end of all the plan?
What dies? Not, certainly, the man!

CHURCH NOTES

Kennedyville M. P. Church, Sunday, Oct. 21: S. S. 10 a. m., L. W. DeFord, Supt.; 11 a. m., preaching service by pastor, Dr. J. W. Trout; 7.30 p. m., C. E., subject, "What is Christian Citizenship?" led by Mrs. Harry Stanley.

Last Tuesday evening the Christian Endeavor of Kennedyville M.P. Church held their business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. Urie. A very profitable and pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Revival meetings will soon bee in progress in the Methodist Churches of Kent. While at some points the interest is keen and success always follows the appeals of the preachers, in others the outlook is discouraging. A Methodist preacher gauges his success in the pulpit by the number of souls he brings to the altar for conversion and it is always a season of great joy to him when there is a great revival.

The annual celebration of the anniversary of Old Dudley's Chapel, near Sudlersville, was held Sunday of last week, when several hundred persons attended the services.

The world is not going backwards, but is progressing and advancing to a more and more perfect state, Rev. Dr. S. Parks Cadman, pastor of the Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., said the other night in Wilmington. He stressed the need of religious training in the schools. He also advocated the consolidation of all Protestant churches. America, although it is not falling back, lacks great leaders like Washington, Hamilton and Franklin, Dr. Cadman said. These men laid foundation to the ideals which we cherish today. Dr. Cadman is well and favorably known in Chestertown.

The week just past has been a great week of religious consecration in the M. P. Church here. Beginning with the morning service last Sunday, when Dr. Humphreys delivered one of the most impressive and eloquent speeches heard here for some time, there has been a service in the church every evening. The week has been consecration week in Christ Church. Dr. Trout, of Kennedyville, spoke on Sunday evening last.

Approximately 5000 people from Delaware and neighboring states gathered at Barrett's Chapel, in Delaware, Sunday afternoon to celebrate the 143d anniversary of this ancient church. The church was too small to hold the crowd. The anniversary address was delivered by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary, Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, of the M. E. Church.

SPORTS

Washington College Primed For First Contest Of Year Where They Have A Chance To Meet Team Of Their Standing — Other Football Notes

Washington College and Penna. Military Academy will play football today at Chester, Pa., the home of the latter and quite a few are preparing to make the trip to see the game. This game offers the first opportunity for Washington College to show its real calibre on the gridiron this year. All the other amges played have been against teams vastly stronger, heavier and with wider experience. The game today, then, will be a real test and we expect Washington to give a good account of herself. No one expected Washington to do better than she did against the Marines and the Army Corps, neither did the most ardent Washington enthusiast look for anything better than was done against Carnissius.

The Pennsylvania Military College's athletic status is no higher than is the local team's, their weight will be about the same, their condition can be no better, and, taking everything in consideration, Washington will, doubtless, give a good account of herself today.

Washington College's football squad traveled to Buffalo, N. Y., last week and meet the big squad representing Carnissus College Saturday, losing the game 14 to 0. Washington gave a good account of herself in this contest, as in the others this season, and held the Buffalo team down well. The team went through the game with no serious mishaps. The trip was enjoyed by the boys, who went over to Niagara Falls while in that section of the country.

Notre Dame proved itself one of the strongest football machines of the country last Saturday, when they won from the Army, 14 to 0. The Army has a powerful team, but proved no match for the Notre Dame team.

It looks like a Yale year on the gridiron. After losing every year to its chief rivals on the gridiron, we believe Yale has a real chance this year to go through with a clean slate.

You need Balance for Full Power and ALL the other gasoline qualities

A GASOLINE has to be balanced to give you the full, rounded performance that you're entitled to.

"Standard," the balanced gasoline, gives you full, ample power because it had just the correct proportion of high-boiling constituents ("fractions", as the refinery men call them). Too much of them would make your motor hard to start and slow to accelerate. Too little would lower your power and mileage and you'd have to use a rich, wasteful mixture to get satisfactory results.

"Standard" has the right percentage of these high-boiling fractions. And it has the correct percentage of low and intermediate fractions for instant starting and snappy pick-ups. Over fifty years of experience are built into every gallon you buy. Try it out this Fall—see for yourself.
