The Rose Bud Sign Is Being Recognized As The Seal Of Flour Quality

Ross Bud Flour Sales Are Growing By Leaps And Bounds. Quality Is The Reason

Of All Foods Those Made of Flour Are Used Most By The American People

ADITORIAL

Many of our customers in being shown around our mill have asked the question, "Why do you go to all this trouble in manufacturing Rose Bud flour." This is but a natural question, and is very easily answered.

Two parties gain from the care we constantly exercise. First the user. Our care insures their having a pure wholesome product that matches well any that is made. This assurance is of real value to users and that is one reason why we are so cautions. In the second instance, we are the gainers. And here's how. Every sack or barrell of flour that we turn out, that proves eminently satisfactory, works to an almost inestimatable value to us. It is creating good-will, and good-will is creating for us a continuance of patronage and a future increase to our business.

From this it can easily be seen that we are well repaid for the little extra trouble and care that is practiced at Radcliffe Mills.

This being so, every family should use the utmost precaution in seeing that the flour purchased is of the highest of quality. There should be no loop-hole for impurities to creep in—absolute purity should be an exacting demand.

Rose Bud Flour is a 100% guaranteed pure flour. Only the choicest grain is used in its manufcture—but more about this will be said below. And the care that is exercised at Radcliffe Mills insures the purchaser of the best that can be had. A lot of flours cost more money—but this tells no story. Rose Bud is the cream of the field and its superlatively fineness will always make it incomparable to the ordinary run of flour and the equal of the best that is made.

When you buy a sack or a barrel of Rose Bud you take no chance. If it does not —in your opinion—measure up to the high standards that we boast, the flour is yours and the money that you have paid will always be refunded without a challenge.

The capacity of our mill is great, and though our sales are growing with surprising rapidity, it is not taxed to its utmost possibilities—and this is what we are striving for. Consequently we are anxious that even more people, than at present are faithful users of this flour, get acquainted with our product, and become constant users.

Just try a sack the next time you need flour, and we will with pleasing satisfaction await the result of your judgement of its fitness.

The Selection of The Grain Is Important To Fine Flour

Many mills take wheat as it comes. There is no descrimination practised against the mediocre or cheap grades. This is not so out at Radcliffe Mills. There the finest of wheat grains only is used. We faithfully and consistantly watch the run of the grain, and if it does not measure up to the standard necessary to turn out a good flour the quality of Rose Bud, it is turned down—we refuse to let it enter our mill. Many will say that this is not essential. But we differ, because it is our knowledge and experience that the low grade wheat invariably turns out the low grade flour.

We do not want this in Rose Bud, we want the best, and we feel that even this is none too good. The one message that we want to deliver to you at this time is, NOTHING IN THE WAY OF CARE IS SACRIFICED IN THE MAKING OF ROSE BUD FLOUR—HENCE ONE OF THE REASONS FOR ITS ALMOST INCOMPARABLE FINENESS.

We want you to think of these things, and to appreciate the care that we are constantly using in our fforts to turn out a product that will meet with your most exacting requirements.

What We've Done

About what we have just said regarding the care in the use of wheat that measures up to a certain standard.

During last year we imported approximately twenty thousand bushels of wheat from the state of Pennsylvania, to use in the manufacture of Rose Bud flour. We did this because we were experiencing difficulty in securing wheat that was of a sufficiently high grade to warrant going into the mill to turn out Rose Bud Flour. This is just one of the many instances that we will quote to show you how scrupously we watch over every stage of the manufacture of our product. It must be right, else we do not want to put it on the market.

American Education Week

The week of November 11-18 has been set aside as American Education Week.

President Coolidge has issued a proclamation recommending that the State and local authorities everywhere co-operate with the civic and religious bodies to secure its most general observance; that this be done for the purpose of more liberally supporting and more effectually improving the educational facilities of our country.

Three of the greatest organizations in the world have united their forces to make the schools of "America," "Go over the top," in the observance of American Educational Week, "They are the American Legion, The National Education Association, The United States Bureau of Education.

The call Kent County is making to the teachers and patrons of the schools is the call of the Nation for better schools for forward progress along all educational lines. Why not Kent County 100 per cent?

During American Education Week, Mr. Robinson desires that each teacher have a visiting day, either afternoon or evening when the regular lessons are studied and recited in the usual way. Parents do not visit the schools for several reasons. One is that they have not formed the habit and that is the most important reason. This is your opportunity, teachers, to let the parents know just what you are doing. Sometimes the parents get the notion that the teacher works from nine until four and the rest of the time she plays. Of course when school closes the good teacher has many duties to perform to make effective preparation for her work next day. No good teacher will appear before even a primary class without having made some definite preparation. This means that her time is not her own but that she gives it to the school district. Let the parents see that you are making special preparation for your daily recitations and that you are doing your very best for the advancement of their children.

Prof. L. C. Robinson, County Superintendent of Kent County Schools has sent invitations to the ministers of Kent County, the Officers of the American Legion, Fraternal Organizations, Civic Leagues, and other organizations to a conference at the office of the County School Board, third floor of the Elementary School Building in Chestertown at 7.30 p. m., Monday, November 12th. This meeting is called for the purpose of discussing ways and means of conducting a profitable program for American Education Week in Kent County.

If, for any reason officials do not receive this invitation, this is an invitation to any one who may be interested enough in the cause to offer their services as speakers throughout the county during the week and to attend this meeting. Mr. Robinson will be glad to receive the names of any one in Kent County who will be willing to lead in the discussion of educational topics any place in the county during American Education Week.

Every minister in the county of every denomination is invited to preach a sermon during American Education Week for the good of the schools.
