What is Transpiring in Town and County.

Mr. A. J. Hynson's little trotter, "Sailor Girl," surprised even her owner Monday, by her burst of speed, making a half mile in 1.10. Mr. Richard Lockwood's horse won a heat in 2.29. Dr. Jarman held the watch and says the two horses were well matched. The trial took place on Mr. Hynson's track near town.

* *

Mr. Eben F. Perkins, Jr., has sold his handsome skiff "The Three Brothers," to Mrs. Hiram M. Brown. This is one of the fast sailers of the large fleet about Chestertown.

* *

The Rock Hall Knights of Pythias will meet eleven other organizations at Tolchester Beach on the 17th of June. They expect to have eight hundred men in dress parade on that day.

* *

Mail Driver Legg left in the NEWS office Monday a piece of log almost destroyed by worm. Mr. Legg stated that the boats about Rock Hall were at times destroyed by these worms, entailing heavy losses to the boatmen.

* *

R. D. Hynson, Esq., sold on Tuesday the Spry farm, located near Still Pond, to Mr. Robert E. Spry for $30 per acre. J. D. Urie, Esq., sold Saturday the Hazzard property in Chestertown to Mr. F. G. Usilton for $200.

* *

Mr. Bradley Thompson, butcher, has purchased of Mr. Vandemark, the agency for Caroline and Talbot counties for the Goodwin Washing Machine, and has employed Messrs. John McCloud and Mort. Rawleigh as agents. Kent and Queen Anne's are under the control of Mr. Wm. T. Matthews.

The Morning News says, "a valuable horse belonging to Speaker H. H. McMullen of State Road, was stolen from a colored driver at Chestertown on Thursday night."

* *

Mr. W. Frank Stoops, of Cliff City, was thrown from his horse a few days ago and for a time it was feared that he was hurt, but his bruises, however, resulted in nothing serious.

* *

Mr. T. W. Eliason has placed model cellar doors to his property occupied by Mr. George Brice. They are made of steel and lay on a level with the street, thereby making it less liable to cause persons to stumble and fall. There are many dangerous cellar doors on the streets of Chestertown and their owners would do well to replace them with the steel doors.

* *

Quaker Neck was represented in the recent Baltimore regatta by the canoe "Minnie," which won second prize. Capt. Edw Jones had hold of the tiller, which accounts to a great degree for her excellent showing.

* *

The Board of Visitors of Washington College at their meeting Monday night conferred the degree of doctor of divinity on Revs. Walter R. Graham, Robert Watt and George C. Sutton. The able corps of professors were engaged for the coming year. The resignation of Miss Pettigrew, the efficient lady teacher was before the board but was withdrawn and she is now reconsidering the matter.

Wheat harvest will commence in Kent about the 25th of June. The "June drop" of peaches has not been as serious as in previous years.

* *

Mr. James Stewart, formerly of Chestertown, accompanied the baseball team to town Thursday. He is president of the Baltimore Homing Club and brought four of his pigeons with him. The score was attached to them at the end of the second, fourth and sixth innings and the birds released. They circled around for a short time, but after getting their bearings, started toward their home in Baltimore. Jim calculated that they would reach home in thirty minutes!

* *

The Foyer Club showed in Stam's Hall last Friday evening and delighted the audience by their excellent acting. It was a good show and upon their return here would draw a large house. There were seventeen in the company.

* *

The trim little schooner E. W. Scott, Capt. D. Coleman, arrived in Chestertown harbor Wednesday with a load of groceries for Chas. S. Smith. She will remain here for several weeks undergoing a thorough overhauling. New masts have been supplied the Scott at a cost of $182 and other repairs made while in Baltimore. Mr. Wm. Senart is cook on the Scott. He says he has'nt seen a game of ball this season!

* *

The festival at Rock Hall by the Anti Tobacco Society cleared over $40. The young people of Christ Church, Chestertown, realized $51. The lawn fete on Mr. Walter Morris' lawn cleared $34.51.

* *

A lost child! What appeals more tenderly to the human heart than that of a child, and when Mrs. Aleck Kennedy, of Kennedyville, reported that her child had strayed off from her, everyone who knew of it sympathized with her and joined the search. She had come to town shopping, and while in Mr. R. Bergen's large store, her little three-year-old boy Roger left her side. She noticed his absence, but supposed he was playing in another part of the store, but when she called him he did not answer. Search was made in the store and on the street, but in vain. Officer Kelley was notified and at once went to the river to look for him. Other parties went in different directions and finally about 7 o'clock the boy was found near the depot at Mrs. Wallace Maslin's home. A NEWS reporter happened to be passing Mrs. M.'s when the little fellow was stopped. He was walking in the road apparently unconcerned as to where he was going. We asked him his name but he spoke very indistinctly and it was difficult to learn what he said. Finally, while we were endeavoring to learn his name, etc., parties from town arrived and solved the mystery, and Roger was returned to his anxious mother.

Last Friday evening, the 7th, Wesley parsonage once more presented a scene of the liveliest activity, forms flitting in and out on the alert for the faintest signal of the new pastor and his bride. They finally arrived and were warmly welcomed by a large number of their new friends. An elegant supper was served at which was noticed the face of the old pastor, Bro. Shreeve, thus forming a link between the old and the new friends. After satisfying the inner man the friends left the parsonage well filled with the good things of this life, thus allowing Brother McCaslin and wife to become thoroughly settled before the arduous task of house-keeping should commence.

The Aid Society met last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Saterfield's. After attending to business an interesting program was rendered and all listened gladly to the instrumental and vocal solos of Prof. A. L. Judefind; a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

HAPPY CHILDREN.

Pretty Girls and Lovely Flowers Adorn the Churches and Crowds of People Attend the Exercises.

Christ M. P. Sunday school held its regular Children's day services Sunday night. As usual the church was filled with the large school and friends. Flowers heightened the beauty of the scene but the rarest of all blossoms were the happy children who filled the edifice. The program was opened with Gloria Patri, Lord's prayer led by Mr. J. F. Carey, and responsive scripture reading led by Mrs. T. R. Hubbard and prayer by Mr. P. T. McFeely. A recitation by Miss Blanche Cox entitled "The Last Words of Our Lord" was well rendered followed by a pretty quartette and chorus, "What of the Night" Miss Julia Thompson and Dr. Dodd rendering the duet. Mr. Stockton Startt delivered the address of the evening. A dialogue by Earle Simpers, Carle Russell and Howard Dodd was well presented and the seven little workers pleased everybody with their cute manner and modest demeanor. The workers were Charley and Willie Wheatley, Louise Urie, Adelaide Howard, Mildred Davis, Augusta Aldridge and Linnie Chilcutt. Master Charley Dodd recited "Two Pennies" and Miss Carrie Belle Sappington, "The Willing Sacrifice" in a most perfect manner. The recitations were interspersed with stirring songs by the school. The banner class of the evening was that taught by Mr. J. K. Aldridge and Mr. Wm. Sherwood presented the banner in ornate style. The collection amounted to $37. The exercises closed with prayer by Mr. Jas. W. Chapman, Jr.

On the same evening the M. E. Sunday School held their exercise and it was conceded to be one of the prettiest ever held. Mrs. Dr. Chas. R. Twilley, chairman of the flower committee, had successfully trimmed the church. The exercise was entitled "The Golden Gate" and on a large platform was erected an arch and the symbolic gates. The introductory address was made by Mr. White. The Guardian at the gates was impersonated by Miss Sue Ford and the Pilgrims by Harry Anthony, Miss Claudia Thompson, John Toulson, Miss Adele France, Charley Pippin and Miss Lilly Crow. The latter were in quest of the attributes of a perfect life and as they approached the gates they were presented with an appropriate key. To the one desiring Duty she gave the key of obedience: to Truth was sincerity; to Wisdom, humility; the pilgrim in quest of a field of Service was given the key of love, while the key of endeavor removed the bar of culture and self-surrender opened the way to Life. The pillows supporting the gateway bore wreaths of evergreen on which were inscribed the words, "Duty, Truth, Wisdom, Service, Culture, Life," the support of the golden gate and the essential qualifications to an admission to the joys within. The infant class presented an exercise "Wisdom for Little Folks" by Houston Toulson, Mildred Hyland, Kemp Bordley, Elizabeth Brown, Leonard Needles. "Bible Gems of Wisdom" were presented by Nellie McWhorter Wilkins Simpers, Mollie Ringgold, Geo. Compton, Edith Fallowfield, Hiram Jones, Mamie Davis, Sam Jones, Laura Lambert. An object lesson exercise was presented by Clara Thompson, Lizzie Davis, Nellie Jones, Emma Roe, Marcie Kirby, Nettie Kendall, Elsie Fallowfield, Julia Bordley, Louise Bordley. Miss Belle Pippin presided at the organ and Prof. Robt. K. Pippin had charge of the excellent singing. The program committee included Misses Annie Lambert, Laura Thomas, and R. S. Thomas. Mr. M. A. Toulson is superintendent of this school. The collection amounted to $25.

Wesley Chapel.

Children's day services were very prettily celebrated Sunday morning and evening. The church was tastefully decorated, the potted plants forming a lovely background for the little ones. The children recited and sang so nicely, thus showing the thoroughness of their rehearsals. "The Woodland Song" by a class of little girls was specially charming, Pansy and Daisy singing their solos with the sweetness of the birdies. Douglas Gresham's recitation was also particularly interesting. Me thinks the entire programme will speak for itself, as all rendered their parts with the inimitable perfectness usually shown by the children of this congregation. The solos by Missses Edith Stevens and Belle Coleman, and Mrs. Elmer Leary were beautifully and expressively rendered.

The following was the morning programme:

Millington M. E. Church.

Children's Day in Millington last Sunday was an occasion of absorbing interest to the whole community. The program used was that published by the Board of Education at New York, and its rendition reflected credit on the committee and those who took part. The general impression is, while all such occasions have been highly creditable in the past, this excels all its predecessors. The decorations were most superb. Miss Etta Massey was the leading character in the program, and performed her part most excellently, while all the others did themselves great credit. The trio by Mrs. Tonkin, Miss Lou Moffett and Mr. Wesley Moffett was most skillfully and impressively rendered, and the little folks were not excelled by the larger. Their "motion song" had to be repeated. The opening address by Miss Ida Slaughter, and the closing by little Forence Smith were admirably performed. With the blending of human voices and the enchanting warble of birds the scene was something perfectly enwrapturing. Everybody was happy, and words of appreciative commendation came unbidden to everybody's lips. The auditorium was well filled.

Children's Day was observed Sunday evening last in the Crumpton M. E. Church. The platform was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens, in the centre of which was a golden gate, festooned in evergreens with appropriate mottoes. The music by the children and the exercises were under the direction of Mrs. Loller, with creditable results. An address by Rev. W. W. Chairs on the duties of children to their parents and to religion and on the significance of the festival which they celebrated was of high order. Rev. W. H. S. Loller and Dr. Sullivan were also present and took part in the exercises.

GRAND RECEPTION.

The Brick House Club, composed of twenty young professional gentlemen gave a reception to their friends Tuesday evening, and a more delightful occasion has not been conceived recently. It was a recherche affair in every respect and the elite of the town were present in large numbers. The Spencer homestead on Queen street, was transformed into a scene of rare beauty, the myriad lights streaming through the windows and doors and piercing the darkness like rays of sun shot into some dark chasm. The lawn, kindly loaned by Mr. James T. Dixon, was decorated with lanterns while seats were to be found conveniently located for a tete-a-tete. The whole club constituted the reception committee and every guest was cordially received and gallantly ushered into the handsome quarters. Immediately upon entering the reception room the large silver punch bowl came in sight surrounded by a mass of evergreen and ivy, while within was the punch made more delectable by the cooling influences of a large cake of ice. Upstairs were the refreshment tables where the young men served all the delicacies of the season a la Delmonico. One of the charming features of the evening was the beautiful music by Iula, the harpist. While the guests moved about the stately rooms and partook of the club's hospitality the sweet strains of music echoed through the hall and and lent a fascination to the scene. The Club's quartette, Messrs. H. W. and W. W. Beck, tenors, E. J. Clarke and W. H. McFeely, bassos, furnished some enjoyable music. At 12 o'clock dancing was enjoyed for an hour or more.

Those present during the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Colin F. Stam, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. E. Wickes, Mrs. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hynson, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brice, Mrs. B. F. Fleming, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Beck, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Hines, Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. D. Miss May Matthews entertained her fellow classmates at her pretty home near town last evening.

The commencement ball of Washington College will be held in Stam's Hall next Wednesday evening. The committee in charge are Messrs. Thomas W. Perkins, Horace Constable, Spencer M. Hurtt and Harry G. Simpers.

The wedding of Charles E. Perkins, Esq., to Miss Caroline V. Harding took place Wednesday morning at Kingston, N. C. They will spend several days of their honeymoon in Chestertown at the groom's parents.

MR. GEO. H. PELL, died suddenly of heart disease, at his residence in Baltimore on Friday of last week. His remains were brought over on the steamer Ford last Saturday. Funeral director E. C. Reiche took charge of the body and prepared it for burial. Funeral services were held in Chestertown M. E. Church Monday afternoon, Rev. J. B. Merritt officiating. Interment at Chester cemetery. The pall bearers were Geo. T. Williams, H. I. Parsons, J. W. Ivens, Samuel F. Cooper, H. E. Cooper, and R. J. Benton. The deceased was a former well-known resident of Worton, where he was at one time engaged in the manufacturing of carriages. H. leaves a widow, a daughter of Mr. W. W. Parks, and several children.
