WM. B. USILTON & SON,

EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.

CHESTERTOWN, MD., - AUGUST 24, 1895

OUR Rock Hall letter is a little caustic in its political reference.

THE Democracy have just nominated a splendid ticket in Ohio headed by Hon. James E. Campbell.

TALK of an electric railway between Baltimore and Bel Air, Harford county, has been revived.

JOHN J. ROSS, of Seaford, Del., has 24,000 baskets of fine fruit. This he has disposed of at prices ranging from $1 to $1.25 a basket.

AN explosion of gas occurred at the steel works of Edgar Thompson, in Pittsburg, last Monday, killing eight men, seriously burning fifteen others and destroying $30,000 worth of property.

GOV. FLOWER, of New York, says the Democracy of New York will surely win the next President. He favors Hon. W. C. Whitney as the Democratic nominee. No stronger man could be nominated.

AN exchange says that Rodman Wanamaker, son of Mr. John Wanamaker, at a recent dinner in Paris spent $20,000 on 22 persons. The average country editor would have been satisfied with a 50 cent dinner.

A MULTITUDE of people from all sections of the county attended the Justis sale last Wednesday. There was a little mixture of politics of course, and we are glad to learn that the general outlook for the Democrats is very encouraging.

CAROLINE nominated a strong county ticket on Thursday and heartily endorsed the State nominees. For House Delegates, Dr. J. C. Clarke and Henry R. Lewis; county commissioner, J. S. Willis; States Attorney, W. H. Dewees; sheriff, Geo. W. Smith.

REV. SAM JONES is said to realize over $25,000 per year for his evangelistic services, and spends nearly all of it in practical charities. This is the best thing we have yet heard from "Sam." He made a great hit at Emory Grove camp, and when he left last Tuesday ministers and members all united in giving him a handsome testimonial of regard.

A CAMPAIGN LIE now going the rounds of the Republican press is to the effect that Mr. Hurst owns city property upon which he does not pay taxes. The lie was started in Baltimore, and Mr. Hurst last Monday nailed it upon the author and he retracted. It was just about as contemptible and little as other reflections upon this gentleman, than whom there is not a more upright citizen in Maryland.

THE Democratic clubs in Baltimore city are coming forward with more than usual promptness and heartily endorse the nominations of HURST, SMITH and CROTHERS. The howlings of the Sun now serves only to inspire the Democracy. Its efforts to turn the State over to the Republicans is fully known and makes the Democrats all the more earnest and enthusiastic.

THE platforms of the Democratic party adopted in Kentucky, Maryland and Ohio all endorse the administration of President Cleveland and so it will probably be to the end of the chapter of State conventions. The political fights this year are preliminary to the national struggle next year. The State that goes Republican this year stabs Cleveland and the party to the heart!

THAT sterling Cleveland paper, the Maryland Republican, published at Annapolis, has discovered the Baltimore Sun's true attitude and goes for it with some truthful utterances. It says: "The Baltimore Sun has now shown its cloven foot and proven in its own columns that its professions of Democracy were insincere and were made solely for the purpose of misleading its readers and thereby enabling it the better to aid the Republican party in this fall's campaign. We are delighted that it has thrown off the mask and proclaimed itself an open enemy; for now it will be powerless to do the party harm. The Sun will find out, as many a man has heretofore to his cost, that it may rally quite a respectable body of Democrats in Maryland to its banner in a primary contest, but cannot lead any considerable number of them into the Republican camp. The fight in Maryland this fall is whether the State shall remain Democratic or be turned over to the Republican party. There is no good reason why any Democrat should hesitate to vote for his party this year."

THE Dorchester Era, published by Mr. J. H. C. Barrett, one of the leading Republicans on the Shore, states that it preferred "a candidate more closely in touch with the masses than we suppose Mr. Lowndes to be." Yet as a good Republican he will support him.

THE enemies of the Democracy in Baltimore are in a bad way. They are using the city press for all it is worth and it has had its effect. The last is a bald lie upon Governor Brown. The Governor is reported to have given the opinion that Hurst ought to withdraw. The Governor nails the lie flat, and says he not only never gave any such advice, but predicts Mr. Hurst's election. The Republican press seems hard up for campaign material thus far. What will be its next move?

WE have heard of two Democrats in Kent threatening to vote against Hurst. One says he opposes him because he is "a Gorman candidate." The other declares he will vote against Hurst for no other reason than that he knows him to be "an out-and-out Cleveland man!" Neither of these have a proper regard for their party or they would quit such factional talk and help elect the ticket.

Baltimore Newspapers.

The Democracy of Maryland have no Democratic daily newspapers in the principal city of the State. The Sun, which never claimed to be Democratic, but has done good service to the party at times, is now bitterly antagonizing the State ticket, and may be expected to continue this opposition. The Sun has had a big circulation among Democrats in Kent in past years, and by its ability and conservatism has exerted a wide influence. But its present attitude of partizan hostility to the Democracy, as shown by editorial utterance and "news" reports, is disgusting to fair minded party men generally. Its "opinions" and news on all political subjects now has the same merit as the American. No more—no less.

The Herald seems to be fair in its tone toward the Democrats, though it is said to be Republican in its leanings, its chief owner being of that faith. Yet, because of Democratic poverty in the newspaper line in Baltimore, together with the Herald's wide-awake news columns, it has more than trebled its circulation here within the past few weeks; hundreds of copies are sold in Kent where but recently they were counted only by dozens.

The Democrats of the State are much in need of a fair hearing in the city. They are getting nothing but villification now, alike from the American and Sun.

Pertinent Parallels!

WHEN GROVER CLEVELAND was first elected President all the great Democratic dailies of New York city were bitterly opposed to him. He was antagonized from the day of his nomination to the day of election. But, he won. New York went for him grandly, notwithstanding this opposition. Most singular to relate, Cleveland had the support of all these influential daily papers in his second campaign and was beaten! The situation in Maryland to-day is similar to that of New York in Cleveland's first campaign. With the city press against him and the country press loyal to the core, Cleveland swept his State. So now in our State. The city dailies are against the Democratic ticket, but the country press is solid and as true as steel. Every Democratic paper in the State is enthusiastic in its support of the ticket, than which none better and none more fairly nominated was ever before the people of the State. And it will sweep the State.

Robinson and Fisher.

JUDGE ROBINSON would have been as bitterly opposed by the Sun as Mr. Hurst now is, unless he should have played the tune of hate and contemptible factional partisanship it set for him. The truth is now fully apparent that the Sun's opposition to the Democratic ticket is personal. It hates Gorman as it does the devil for a valid reason—that Gorman honestly advocates a new assessment of property in this State. This is the real reason for the Sun's intense bitterness. It wants to prevent a fair assessment of property. It has made its fight in the Democratic party and succeeded as often as it is possible, and now it would elect a Republican Governor and Legislature, knowing it will be safer to take its chances with that party to defeat assessment. This is why that paper would have opposed Judge Robinson or any other Democratic nominee. It purposely "killed off" Judge Fisher by its "interviewing." We do not believe it would have supported Judge Fisher even if he had been nominated. It might have pretended to support him, just as it did in the nomination, but it would have been just such a support as it well knew would defeat him. It wouldn't have trusted him on the assessment business. No, the Sun long since determined to turn the State of Maryland over to the Republicans if it could. But it will fail. It has not succeeded in drawing a single Democratic journal away from the faith. It goes naked and alone into the ranks of Republicanism, and will be repudiated by the sterling Democracy of the State.

TO ALL MARYLAND DEMOCRATS.—There is only one issue in Maryland this year, and that is the issue between Democracy and Republicanism. Advice to the contrary from the Baltimore Sun or any other source is treasonable. The Republicans have put up a very strong ticket. Go in and beat it!—N. Y. Sun.

LAST Tuesday was the eighty-fifth birthday of Jacob Tome, of Port Deposit.

THE peach growers of Delaware are happy. Prices are high and the crop is better than expected. An interesting article will be found in another column.

THE DROUTH in Kent has been very damaging. The corn crop, which never was more promising up to two weeks ago, will be cut short at least one-third, and grass is burned up.

EX-CONGRESSMAN WELLINGTON has been selected as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. Messrs. Westcott, Harper and Henry were reappointed State Central Committee for Kent county.

THE Baltimore American of Saturday last editorially complimented the Sun and News on their Republicanism. It very pertinently said that its two co-temporaries "need not forsake any of their principles in supporting the Republican ticket!" Fact!

THE Baltimore Evening News is very earnest in its efforts to defeat the Democratic nominees, but it is not so unfair as the Sun in its political news clippings. It honestly gives opinions from all its Maryland exchanges. The Sun selects a few from Republican exchanges and gives them as "views of the country press." It was not formerly so with the Sun. But now it is controlled by a personal partizanship, and it has fallen very low in political journalism!

Independent Candidate.

John D. Urie, Esq., has formally announced his candidacy for State's Attorney. He states that he proposes to enter the field as an independent candidate. We regret very much to see Mr. Urie take this step, as we believe its influence will be wholly to the advantage of the Republicans, and our young friend will land "bag and baggage" in the lap of our political enemies. He will be beaten, of course, as the Democratic ticket from top to bottom will be elected this fall by a big majority. Mark this!

President Cleveland.

A Washington dispatch to the Baltimore Morning Herald says:

"If the Republicans are calculating upon obtaining any aid for their ticket by and through any opposition of the President or his administration to the Democratic nominees, then they are doomed to serious disappointment. It will be made manifest to all long before the day of election that the administration is as desirous of Democratic success in Maryland as in any other State in the Union."

How could the administration be otherwise than desirous of Democratic success in Maryland? The loss of this State to the Democracy this fall is its loss for years to come. The defeat of the Democratic State ticket this fall would surely result in Republican success in the State for President next year. The one will follow the other as certain as the night follows the day. The Democrat who undertakes to separate the interests of the National from the State Democracy is trying to do the impossible. To cut Hurst is to stab Cleveland. And if any one is short-sighted enough to do so he will regret it when it is too late.

GEN. STEWART BROWN, of Baltimore, and a man named Gambrill, of Howard county, is reported with much relish by the American, Sun and other Republican organs as having declared their purpose to support Lowndes for Governor. This announcement has been made for a week and we have yet to see the first expression of surprise. We regret it, of course; whether they are Democrats, Republicans or Mugwumps, we would have preferred to hear that they are for Hurst, as we are sure he will make the best Governor. But that these two gentlemen are for Lowndes is just as much a matter of course as that the Sun is for him. They have been drifting toward Republicanism so rapidly of late that to see them go over "head, neck and heels" into the Republican camp was expected.

7 REPUBLICAN REASONS!

Regarding the Republican Candidate for Governor.

The Cambridge News says of the recent Republican convention held in that town:

Wm. T. Malster, of Baltimore, had the people with him, but the machine had the delegates, and ran the convention in their own way.

Whilst the bosses were making up the ticket with the Coal King at its head, the Baltimore negroes were making speeches on the streets denouncing Lowndes for his position on the Civil Rights Bill, and leading Republicans were circulating dodgers giving seven reasons why he should not be nominated. These reasons are that:

1. He is against Reassessment.
2. He is backed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.
3. It was through him that the militia was called out to scare the Frostburg miners into submission, he believing that bullets are more forcible than arguments.
4. He voted against the Civil Rights Bill.
5. He does not know a man in moderate circumstances when he sees him. He is a banker and a plutocrat, with plutocratic ways.
6. He ships all his coal to Philadelphia, instead of Baltimore, in his own State.
7. He is a business partner of Boss Gorman.

The two or three steamboat loads of Malster men that came here went away cursing, and it looks as if Lowndes is beat before he is notified of his nomination.

VROOMAN, the populist preacher, is traveling over the State in the interest of the Republicans, trying to get up independent or "Populist tickets composed of dissatisfied Democrats. He is a Republican "side show," and almost equals the Baltimore Sun in the violence of the opposition and his denunciations of the Democracy. The Vrooman ticket in Talbot will probably get a dozen votes!

"If you object to me, it is proof that you belong to the devil—head and foot." ["Amen," said a voice.]

The above is from one of Sam Jones' sermons. It is in keeping with a great deal of that gentleman's talk. It shows more bigotry than sense, and just that sort of preaching is what does the cause of religion so much harm. Sam Jones is a great improvement on Vrooman, however, and his ilk of political preachers, but he is a little rough, sometimes, for a Christian minister. The sentiment above expressed is exemplified also in the course of some who take an interest in politics. There are crank politicians as well as crank lecturers. They possess all political virtue and sometimes add thereto all the moral good of earthly existence. Other people should see as they see and do as they do, or—they belong to the devil!

Come, dwell with me always. H. C. G.

WILLARD HANSON, infant son of Thomas and Mary Price, departed this life August 19, 1895, age 5 months and 23 days.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord,
When love has bound the heart
'Tis hard, so hard to speak the words,
Must we forever part?
Dearest loved one, we have laid thee
In the peaceful grave's embrace,
But thy memory will be cheerished,
'Till we see thy angel face.

On Tuesday evening, Aug. 20th, 1895, at 7.30 o'clock, MARY BARBER, daughter of Harrison W. and Jennie B. Y. Vickers, aged twenty one years. Services at residence, "Laurentum Place," at 5 o'clock P. M., Friday. Interment Chester Cemetery. [Southern Maryland papers please copy.]

"Tribute to Whom Tribute is Due."

What earth has lost and heaven has gained by the decease of MARY VICKERS only those who were intimately acquainted with her can ever know. Although but twenty-one years of age at the time of her death the biographies of the saints reveal few lives more beautiful or deaths more triumphant than that of this remarkable young lady. She was endowed by nature with a gentle, loving disposition, which challenged at once the admiration, and won promptly the affection of all with whom she became associated. These natural traits of character, since she arrived at the age of accountability, had been enhanced and developed by the most careful and prayerful effort on her part, until she had become in the eyes of all who knew her a miracle of grace. Never, in the recollection of those who were nearest to her, was she ever known to speak a harsh or even impatient word, but under circumstances which might well exhaust the patience of others she was invariably the same gentle, loving angel of consolation, and minister of peace.

The idol of a large family, her home was her centre of influence. Here she swayed the sceptre of love, here her influence was unbounded, and here the fragrance of her memory will linger so long as life shall last. And the desire for a heavenly home, where partings are unknown and sorrows never come, will be largely in the knowledge that the one who has brightened home below is there, and where the treasure is there the heart will be also. Not only in her home was her influence powerfully felt, and her absence sorrowfully mourned, but her church, one of her chiefest objects of solicitude, shares the loss. Here she endeavored with all diligence to do her Master's work and will. Constant in her attendance when her health permitted her voice was ever heard in song, and prayer and instruction. Her Sabbath-school class loved her with a peculiar devotion. The Junior League seemed to delight in her presence, and the Senior League in which she was always active and earnest will "long for the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still." But as is often the case the one so much needed on earth was also needed in heaven. He, to whose will we bow, has said "it is enough, come up higher," and the one who bore the image of the heavenly, even while here on earth, has been transferred to continue her angelic ministrations in heaven.

It was the writer's privilege to witness her departure. As long as life shall last will that marvelous scene be fresh in my memory. We thought of the Mount of Transfiguration as we saw the radiance of her face. We thought of the words of Jacob "Surely this is none other than the gate of heaven." To our inquiry as to her condition and feeling she replied "They say I am nearing the borders of the better land." Expressing a perfect willingness and readiness to go she besought her weeping family to be resigned to the Divine will, assuring them that all things work together for good to them that love God. After her minister and physician had led in prayer at her request she added in clear tones a beautiful invocation to the source of all consolation and strength in behalf of the dear ones she was about to leave, and then her voice was even heard in song as hymns of her choice were sung. Then calling each one to her bedside she bade them adieu, exhorting each to be faithful and meet her in heaven.

The servants were called at her request, and to each one she extended her hand and gave a parting word of advice and encouragement. As one of these turned away bathed in tears, as a reference to angels was made, we caught the remark: "An angel is here already." Why she should say this none who looked on the radiant face of that dying saint could wonder! After this scene had continued for more than hour, the hands were peacefully clasped, the breathing became fainter and fainter, until at 7.45, calmly and peacefully as summer evening's zephyrs fall, the gentle spirit took its flight.

"Long, long be the heart with such memories filled,
Like the vase in which roses have once been distilled:
You may break, you may shatter the vase, if you will,
The scent of the roses will hang round it still."

Funeral services were conducted at the home of deceased yesterday afternoon, conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. F. Compton, and Presiding Elder Smith, after which the remains were deposited in the family lot in Chester cemetery, the pall-bearers being as follows: H. Norman Perkins, R. Snowden Thomas, H. W. Catlin, Eben F. Perkins, Jr., J. Boone Vickers, W. W. Beck.

BOB HUNTINGS Big Railroad Shows, Circus, Museum and Menagerie is now billing Chestertown in the most elaborate manner, and the gorgeousness and variety of the beautiful printing strikes one with bewilderment. The show is three times as big as it ever was, and no money has been spared while building it larger,—to make it keep pace with the very best. The irresistable Bob will be in the ring himself, Monarch of all Clowns! The enormous tents will be spread on Usilton's Lot, Cannon St. Don't forget the day and date. Friday Aug. 30.
