LOCAL NOTES.

To Resign.—Capt. Thos. W. Hyland, the efficient commander of the oyster police boat, Anna B. Smith, states that he will resign his position, the same to take effect the first day of December.

Sale of Farms.—Mr. Richard T. Turner, Jr., has sold at private sale the Howell Point farm located in the second district to Mr. Wm. J. Coleman for $6,500. This farm contains 313¼ acres.

Mr. Turner has also sold the Green Point farm located on Worton Creek to Mr. Isaac H. Dixon, of Baltimore, for $5,500. The farm contains 402 acres.

A Peculiar Accident.—Mr. George Venable, son of Mr. Jos. Venable, met with a singular accident while in Mr. R. F. Parks' store several days ago. He was standing with his back to a safe and in leaning against it closed the door. As the door shut Mr. V.'s finger was caught and the end mashed badly. Dr. Hines was called in and dressed the wound.

Knocked Down.—Dr. H. L. Dodd received a terrible knock from a bicyclist Saturday night while crossing the street near his home on high street. He was carrying his medicine chest in his hand, and when the darkey struck the doctor his chest was knocked from his hand. Many of the bottles were broken and contents vasted, otherwise the doctor received no hurt. The cyclist had neither bell nor light.

Extra Freight Train.—Since the introduction of steam heat on our Kent railroad it is found necessary to run an extra freight train twice a week. This freight will leave town at 12.30 noon on Mondays and Thursdays, the latter day being known as "cattle day." This freight train is necessitated for the reason that it is very inconvenient, and in some cases impossible, to do shifting and handle carloads of freight on the regular train. The passenger cars of necessity must be adjoining the engine, thus throwing the freight in the rear where it cannot be properly and satisfactorily handled. A limited amount of freight is carried on the regular train.

New Office.—Henry W. Catlin, Esq., has rented the Rockwell House. He will fit the front room on Cross street for a law office for himself and expects to rent the balance of the house for other purposes. Mr. Catlin's office will adjoin that of J. A. Pearce and Lewin W. Wickes, Esq.

Woman's New Branch.—Miss De-Long, of Philadelphia, has been in Chestertown the past week representing a brush house. She succeeded in getting an order from nearly every merchant in the town, and her success evidences the fact that a new field is open to the ladies of our land. She is a rival to Messrs. Smith, Fountain, Weems, Mettee and the other "boys," and they will have to hustle.

Judge Wickes' Term.—There is a movement on foot among the lawyers of the Second judicial circuit to have the General Assembly extend the term of Judge Joseph A. Wickes. Hon. George M. Russum, of the Caroline bar, has taken the initiative in the matter. He has already prepared a petition to the legislature, which will be signed by all the members of the Caroline bar. The paper recites that Judge Wickes will attain his seventieth year some time in the month of October, 1896, and that unless his time shall be extended, he will be compelled by constitutional requirement to retire from the bench before expiration of the term for which he was elected, which will occur in November, 1897. The petition alludes to the fact that Judge Wickes is in full vigor, both mentally and physically, and says there is no valid reason why he should not be permitted to serve out his full term.

A Fight at Rockfall.

A festival was held at Ike Warren's home in Grey's Inn last Saturday night and several of the colored guests became entangled in a fight. Some one treading upon Eben Rochesters' feet angered him, and he immediately, it is charged, drew his penknife and vowed he would clean out the place. Robert Johnson, it is said, disputed his claim of being boss, whereupon Rochester stabbed Johnson and wounded him upon the arm. Rochester was arrested Monday by Constable Benj. H. Coburn and after a hearing before Justice Wilkins, was brought here and placed in jail to await court. The injured man's wounds were dressed by Dr. Selby and on Monday he was carried to the University Hospital. He had a severe cut three inches above the heart and a gash across the arm. He was formerly of Chestertown. The prisoner is 32 years old. He cut his hand severely in some manner.

A Terrible Accident.

The first report of an accident during the present gunning season is here recorded, and it substantiates what we have constantly tried to impress upon our readers—carefulness. Robert, the twelve-year-old son of Capt. Robert Hynson, found an empty cartridge shell near his home in Piney Neck Sunday and began to experiment. He found some powder and placed it in the shell, then he got some refuse, placed them in the ground and set fire to the powder. An explosion followed and the boy's screams could be heard for some distance. He was carried into his home and the doctor summoned. The powder took effect in the lad's eyes and on his physician's advice he was carried to the Baltimore Infirmary Monday. He was kindly attended to on the boat and at last reports he was doing fairly well. Capt. Hynson is the efficient first mate on the police boat, Anna B. Smith, and has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Also 3 gingham dresses, two flannel skirts, for ladies, 3 ladies' waists, 9 undervests, and 7 ladies' wraps, 5 pair of pants, 4 mens' and boys' coats, 3 vests, 2 quilts, and a quanity of jelly, preserves, potatoes, dried and canned fruits, and many other things, such as aprons, towels, ties, &c. On behalf of the Berlin Relief Society, and this stricken people, I wish to publicly thank the kind people who have thus remembered us."

New Store.—Mr. Frank D. Leary has opened a branch store on Queen street at the stand formerly kept by Mr. Wm. H. Kirby. He will place this store in charge of Mr. Frank Jester.

A HUMILIATING CRIME!

John D. Carter, of Cliff City, in Jail on a Serious Charge.

One of the most heinous crimes in the list of foul deeds is that of robbing innocent childhood of its purity and when the act is done by an aged citizen the offense is heightened. It becomes our painful duty to chronicle an attempt at such an offense in this issue. The quiet little village of Cliff City, ten miles below this town on the Chester river was the scene of the present outrage. John D. Carter, farmer and oysterman, was the criminal and little Myra Benny, the seven-year-old daughter of Captain Percy Benny was the victim of the attempted assault. The parties concerned are neighbors, and for some time Mr. Carter has shown a great fondness for the child; but as he was a man of about sixty years of age, nothing was thought of it. For several days the child has moved around in a dazed way, although she is naturally of a sprightly disposition. When questioned by her mother concerning her condition, she would always give an evasive answer. It is customary at this season of the year to go to the woods to gather dry wood and nuts; but the child seemed afraid to venture from home; but being hard pressed by her mother for the reason for this change, admitted she was afraid to tell. The family became alarmed and suspicious, and after securing the child's confidence that no harm could come to her, she said that Carter had attempted to assault her repeatedly, but was not successful. When he met her away from home, she said, he attempted his purpose, and when she has stayed in the woods longer than she ought, and was told so and questioned by her parents, she now asserts she was detained by Carter, and compelled to keep silence by his threats of violence. Upon learning the facts, Mr. and Mrs. Benny, with the child, left home at three o'clock Monday morning, and came to Chestertown, and after consultation with their physician, went before Justice J. Evan Thomas and swore out a warrant for Carter's arrest. At six o'clock Constable John Rose was sent to Cliff City to watch the wharf, when the steamer Ford arrived, on her way to Baltimore, as it was feared that Carter might make his escape after the report had been circulated of his doings. Carter, however, failed to make his appearance at the wharf—probably because Constable Rose was stationed there—but as soon as the boat left, Rose was told that Carter was just up the road. When overtaken and told that there was a warrant for his arrest, Carter said: "Do you think you can take me?" and pulled out a pistol, but Rose as quickly covered his man with his pistol and made him surrender his weapon. Carter then wanted to go to his house, only a short distance away, to change his clothing; but knowing the nature of the case and man, Constable Rose refused, and made him accompany him directly to Chestertown. Here he waived a hearing, and was committed to jail.

Capt. Benny's friends were justly indignant at the ourrage but to their credit they have placed the prisoner in the hands of the law and expect the law to be meted out to him to its fullest extent. No attempts at violence have been seen and none are expected.

Mr. Carter is 58 years old. He married Miss Townsend, a fine lady, of Del., and they own a neat home near Cliff City. He is a man of intelligence and of many good traits. He has no children. When seen by our reporter he seemed to be impressed with the gravity of his crime, but remarked that it was not half as bad as people supposed it to be. He says he had been drinking very hard of late and supposes that he was crazed by bad whiskey. He is fearful lest a mob will lynch him and begs to be carried to Baltimore. Monday night a crowd of boys playing about the jail yelled "Bring him out" which frightened the prisoner into praying. Deputy Hurlock dispersed the crowd and quieted Mr. Carter's fears. The case will go before the Gand Jury of April court.

Capt. Benny, the father of the girl, was captain of the local police boat last year. His wife was a Miss Neal. The little girl is of fair size for her age and very bright. They were in town Wednesday night for the purpose of preventing any violence to the prisoner and deserve the commendation of the public.

Sheriff Dodd states that Mr. Carter has not eaten anything since Monday and he really fears serious harm. His wife is in a bad condition but is being consoled by Mr. Sam'l Startt and wife. She will go to Delaware at an early day.

Another Shop.—Mr. Elwood Whaley has left Mr. Samuel Hicks' employ and opened a blacksmiths shop on Cross St. in the building owned by Mr. Joseph Guest. Mr. Hicks will have a new helper in a few days to assist him in serving his large trade.

Crew—Carter.

A quiet but quite pretty wedding was consummated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crew on Wednesday morning, November 13. The contracting parties were Mr. J. Welch Crew, well known in Kent county, and Mrs. Annie E. Carter, of near Lynch's. The ceremony was solemn and imposing, performed by their pastor, Rev. J. B. Merritt. The bride was neatly dressed in travelling costume, and after early lunch the bride and groom left for a trip in private conveyance to points in Queen Anne's and Caroline counties, visiting friends in Church Hill, Centreville, Denton, Ridgely, Tuckahoe Neck and other places. They will return in a week of ten days and take up their abode at the Crew homestead, near Lankford.

Sheats—Ivens.

It was our great pleasure to be at the home of our esteemed friend, Mr. J. W. Ivens, on Tuesday evening, November 12th, to witness the marriape of his daughter, Annie May, to Mr. George E. Sheats, a popular young man of Worton Station. It was one of the most delightful social events that it has been our good pleasure to attend. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Kent M. Bull, pastor of the Worton Presbyterian Church, and was most beautiful and impressive. The parlors were well filled with the intimate friends and relations of the families at the appointed time. The bride, attired in a beautiful brown brocade satin gown, entered the parlor on the arm of the groom, preceded by the groom's sister, Miss Edna, as maid of honor, and Mr. Verne Barnett as best man, while the strains of the wedding march, "Oh, Promise Me," was most beautifully rendered by Miss Lizzie Hepbron, of Lynch's. After the ceremony congratulations and best wishes were passed by the friends of the couple. A sumptuous wedding supper was served and the young folks seemed to enjoy themselves very much. The wedding presents were both numerous and beautiful. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. James Sheats, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Newcomb, Mrs. John Ivens, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Beck, Mrs. J. W. Carter, Mr. Wm. D. Carter, Mr. Samuel F. Cooper, Dr. J. H.
