FAIRLEE NOTES.

A music class is being organized in our village. There will be twenty members and Prof. Chas. Judefind will be the instructor.

The tide was very low some days ago and Supt. Noland, at the Beach, took advantage of it and examined the surroundings that are generally submerged in the water. While doing so he found a rifle that had been in the "surges" without a doubt for many years. The stock was badly worm-eaten. Mr. Noland thinks this war-like weapon scarcely dates back to the days of Peter Parker. He prizes it highly and will add it to his cabinet of curiosities.

The schooner, A. and M. Ella, that was beached at the mouth of Worton creek, is all O. K. again, and shortly she will be in Fairlee creek ready for freight.

If we have a magistrate why not a constable?

Our butchers are selling a beef a week. Soon fish will be plentiful and then the demand will not be so great.

Mrs. Hepbron and sons, of the Monumental City, visited their parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Merritt, at the parsonage last Sunday and the early part of this week.

Rev. Mr. Merritt leaves for Conference on Wednesday next. He "by the powers that be" in his church and whole community is called for return. He closes a most successful year having had more than 100 accessions to his charge. His congregations equal any church in the county outside of the towns and the large villages. He never fails to give his hearers food for thought, and in the most unassuming manner.

"La Grippe" in a mild form is prevailing.

Busy season is coming on and our weekly sociable is adjourned sine die.

Messrs. Noland, Todd, Gibson, Corey and others are having quite a lot of lumber sawed at Mr. Sparks' saw mill.

In a few days work will be commenced on a new back building for Mr. G. E. Noland to the dwelling near the Town hall occupied by Mr. J. C. Staats, and on a new stable and slaughter-house for our P. M., Mr. Jno. L. Lewis.

An organ grinder came around this week and wanted to trade music for cider (pear) with our P. M., but was informed by Mr. Lewis that he did not deal in the liquid.

Dogs continue to destroy sheep and other property. Farmers! it is high time some measures were adopted to put an end to this wholesale destruction of property, by a thing that can scarcely be called property, and yields not an iota to the production of the county. Some years ago the assessor came to your house and asked you how many sheep you had and opposite their number he put down their value and the tax you must pay for them. Then he went to a cabin a short distance from you and by hallos', sticks and kicks, worked his way through a pack of hungry "curs" to the proprietor thereof. How many sheep have you asks the assessor? "None, ai'nt able to own any." How many cows? "Ai'nt able to own a cow, nor feed it if I had one." Perhaps in a day or so these very dogs destroy your sheep. Now something ought to be done and why not do it? To advocate a dog tax seems to bring ignominy upon the person doing so. There should be a law (perhaps we have it, if so it is rarely executed) which if it fails to check the destruction of taxable property, will at least make the owner of the destroyer pay damages or be incarcerated for a certain term. Formulate a law, in such a manner, as that the introducer of it in our Legislature need not fear any calumny.

It has been so long since our little village has been mentioned in these columns that many readers of this valuable paper have doubtless, almost forgotten its very existence. The place is improving about as usual. Improvements are being made on every hand, no less than two new houses having been erected within your correspondents' remembrance.

Our fishermen are having a moderately successful season, but we have had extremely high and low tides.

The cannery has been sold at sheriff's sale to a syndicate of farmers in the vicinity, but by just whom it will be conducted has not yet been decided. This is an excellent opening for an enterprising business man.

Entertainments have been decidedly rare this season but the young people are now busily engaged in preparing for a typical court trial, A Suit for Damage; Breach of Promise; Marigold vs. Hardcastle; which together with "Too many Smith's" and "Helping to Propose," will be rendered on next Tuesday evening.

Our popular milliner, Miss Laura Corson, has removed to Baltimore where she has opened a boarding house. Mrs. Quimby, of Barclay has succeeded her.

Mr. Lindale has succeeded Messrs. Fennimore and Hendrix in the butchering business.

A Christian Endeavor Society was organized in the M. P. Church Monday night with Mr. Clarence Bradley, pres.

Mr. George E. Harrison who has been confined to his room for nearly three months with a complication of diseases is improving.

Mr. James Ringgold is quite ill at his home near Pondtown.

MILLINGTON ITEMS.

Many fishermen are catching fine fish which include pike, yellow neds and mullets, most of which have been very fine. Mr. Frank Taylor and Mr. Dudley Biscoe are our main fishermen. They sit around some man's good coal stove and catch the largest German carp ever caught in this locality. Mr. Taylor is one of our old fishermen and has made it a study, and Mr. Biscoe is taking some information of him. Including Sudlersville we can boast of 25 fishermen, at least.

Mr. George Warner and J. W. Porter butchered a very fine steer which dressed 824 pounds. His standing live weight was 1,455 pounds. This steer was bought from Lem Leager at 3 cents per pound, which is $43.65.

Mr. Charles Hurtt thinks he will have his store enlarged and fill it up with new goods. Mr. Hurtt will, no doubt, build his store 40 feet longer and the same width.

Mr. Wm. H. Harrington, of Cordova, spent Sunday with his parents in Millington. Mr. H. is a well known blacksmith of Cordova.

Mr. James Sewell, Miss Katie Reese and Miss Carrie Sewell spent several days with Miss Mary Poore. Miss Reese is of Hillsboro', and Mr. and Mrs. Sewell are of near Cordova.

Mr. John Bottomley purchased of a gentleman in Delaware 2 fine cows last Tuesday.

Mr. Wilson has removed to his new home at the corner of Cypress street, in the room adjoining Mr. C. M. Hurtt.

We greatly admire our new town peacemaker, and also our town constable. Our bailiff is one of the best we have ever had.

Mr. Dudley Biscoe has repainted his new boat, and will give it a new name, which will be called Minnie. The work was done by B. H. Williams.

KENNEDYVILLE BRIEFS.

The C. E. Society met at 6.30 last Friday evening and after a short service the evening was devoted to W. C. T. U. exercises. The program follows:

Chorus, Rally for the Right, by choir; exercises by Loyal Legion in charge of Mrs. Hepbron, including recitations by Emma Hessner and Annie Weer; roll call, responded to by interesting notes on temperance; solo, "Cling to the Bible Boy," by Annie Shafer, with a quartette chorus by the Misses McKnett; reading, Sketch of General Neal Dow, by W. T. Hague; interesting readings were given by Messrs. Harry Redmile and Ernest Sanders and Miss Jennie Meredith; a duet, "Mother Knows," by Misses S. B. and Marie McKnett, was followed by the closing chorus, Vote as you pray; Rev. Jesse Shreeve then pronounced the benediction.

A circulating library is talked of and is perhaps a possibility. We greatly need something of the kind. Our stores as well as Chestertown's are noted for loafers.

Miss Annie T. Forrest was here, as announced last week, and talked to very large audiences, Sunday morning and evening and Monday evening. She was very interesting and held the attention of all present. The collections were very good and were divided between the Conference assessments of this charge and Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

We received a letter from Bro. Shoomkooff, stating he could not be with us on Friday, but would be here Sat. evening, and give his illustrated lecture. We anticipate a successful "Missionary Meeting," Sunday evening as Bro. Shoomkoff will be with us morning and evening. His name ought to draw a crowd, Stanloff Ivanhoff Shoomkoff. What say you?

Mrs. Sutton returned from the city last Saturday with a full line of goods and expects to open her store the last of this week.

Messrs. Harry Jarrell and W. E. Sanders spent part of the week with relatives at Goldsboro. They attended the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of the latter's grandparents. They report a grand time.

Miss Sue Edson is visiting friends in the village.

Mr. Frank Burrows and daughter, Miss Bertha, and Miss Bertha Hendrickson, all of Kenton, Del., spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hendrickson, near Urieville.

Mr. Wilson Sutton is home fron Washington College suffering with boils on his neck.

Miss Forrest spent Tuesday evening with the Misses McKnett.

Miss Marie McKnett spent part of this week with Miss Parks of Chestertown.

Business at Urieville flour mills is very brisk at present.

James Newcomb is much improved at this writing.

The measles are slowly disappearing from our community.

Wattie McKnett caught a German carp last week weighing 21 pounds. Who can beat it?
