Kent News

SATURDAY, - - APRIL 11, 1896.

Body Found.—Mr. Spencer Wickes found the body of an unknown drowned man on his shore last Friday. It had on a suit of oil skin, but no coat. There was nothing about the body by which it might be identified. It had a large scar on the forehead and one eye knocked out. 'Squire Wilkins summoned a jury of inquest, who decided that death had resulted from unknown causes. The body was buried by Constable Coburn on the shore.

Sam in Trouble.—Master Sam Jones has a goat, and on last Saturday the latter got the best of its master. The cook heard a cry outdoors, and upon investigation found Sam in the corner, with the goat butting him. The cook tried to drive the animal away by striking him with a broom, but this only aggravated him, and he continued to make his owner feel uncomfortable. Finally other help arrived and the goat was pulled off of Sam, who escaped with a few bruises.

Fatal Accident at Queenstown.—The Queenstown News says: "On Friday, just as we were at press, a very sad and serious accident happened to Mrs. Daniel Friel. She and Miss Maggie Rhodes had started to drive out to St. Peter's Catholic Church, to aid in dressing the church for Easter. At the yard gate was a log laying; one wheel of the road cart passed over the log, throwing both ladies out, and one wheel passing over the stomach of Mrs. Friel, also throwing Miss Rhodes violently on her side. Mrs. Friel was immediately carried into the house and medical aid summoned. She died in about an hour after the accident happened. Mrs. Friel was kind and genial to a fault, and no one ever left her door hungry."

TOWN JOTTINGS.

Mr. Horace W. Constable, who has been merchandising in Chestertown on the corner of Queen and Main streets, sold his stock of goods last Saturday to Mr. Charles S. Smith and retired.

The dilapidated one story house at the foot of Main street was torn away last Saturday and with its demolishment came a decided improvement to the appearance of that locality. Capt. Burchinal was instrumental in having the eyesore removed.

Messrs. Moody & Lusby have erected an awning in front of their store on High street.

Mr. C. S. Smith has purchased of Chapman & Lambert a bran new wagon made especially for him in which to deliver goods, etc.

The town election will take place on Monday, 27th. The present board are placing our streets in good condition. The policy of the board in this direction is to be commended and under Officer Kelley's supervision the work is well done.

Mr. J. H. Sides has repainted the front of his jewelry store.

WANAMAKER'S.

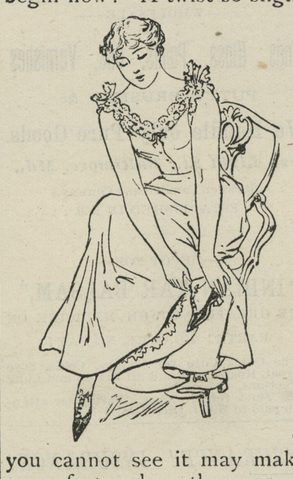

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, April 6, 1896.

TOUCHES OF BEAUTY

Greet you at every turn. The old rambling buildings are as plain as a greenhouse without. A step and you are in the midst of the brightness of Spring. Merchandise from three continents contributes most of the beauty. It has been gleaned by a corps of globe-trotters especially for Philadelphia shoppers. No wonder that such unmatched collections of goods should tempt women from far and near to become Philadelphia shoppers, no matter where they live. A bright style-hunter says she has made her last trip to Paris, for a day at Wanamaker's is as instructive as six weeks' stay in Paris. And she is right. To this gathering of style and beauty a hearty welcome!

WOMEN'S SHOES

Shoes for Spring and Summer wear are ready. If you've never studied shoes why not begin now? A twist so slight you cannot see it may make your feet ache; there are a score of things to watch in shoe producing. We've watched them for you. That is why Wanamaker shoes, dollar for dollar in cost, give such service and comfort as you can get nowhere else. That is why you can be stylishly shod here for less money than others have to charge.

We see to it that every last is scientifically right. And often in producing a new shape the workers have to try and try again before the shoe will be accepted here. You've brought us such a shoe business as no other Philadelphia store ever dreamed of—a business with but one equal in America. And this business will double if you study shoes.

Chocolate-colored, chrome-tan kidskin Shoes, button or lace; razor toe; should be absolutely comfortable, for the styles were created to our notion. $5 and $3.50.

Chocolate-colored kidskin Oxfords, needle or medium toe, $3. Lace.

Chocolate-colored tampico goatskin Oxfords, lace; medium and narrow toes, $1.60 and $2.

Twenty-five sorts of Black Oxfords, $1.50 to $4.
