Improvements at Tolchester.

The improvements at Tolchester Beach have begun. A corps of workmen went over to the resort on last Saturday, and the hum of the saw and beat of the hammer can be heard on every hand. Mr. Frank H. Howard and his corps of painters are pushing things rapidly.

The hotel is being remodeled, while the excursion house and all the other buildings are having alterations and repairs. The Pike's Peak railroad is being rebuilt and lengthened and made more attractive. The Switchback railroad is being changed, and electric appliances are being put in the big carousal.

There are some other amusements the company is negotiating for. Everything on the beach will be repainted and put in fine condition. An additional convenience, and one that will be appreciated, is a station on the pavilion, built on the end of the wharf, where parties can sit during the day and sniff the salt breezes off the bay.

Great improvements are being made to the steamer Louise. A new pilot-house has been erected, and back of this a large room, or gallery, has been built, through which a large stairway has been placed, leading to the promenade deck below. The large engine dynamos and switchboard are all on the main deck, encased in immense French plate glass and backed up by large mirrors.

The engine and dynamos are gotten up with the view of beauty as well as for service, and are finished in nickel and gold. A searchlight is to be placed on top of the pilot-house, to be controlled by the man at the wheel. Among the fine electric decorations is an electric chandelier, to be hung over the large saloon stairway. It was made by the Schultze Gas Fixture and Art Metal Company of Baltimore, and was one of the chandeliers that took the first prize at the World's Fair. New velvet carpets will be placed in the saloon, and the social hall is being remodeled. The engines and boilers have been thoroughly overhauled, and the steamer is to be repaired both inside and out, from stem to stern.

Capt. Eliason has gone to various points to complete arrangements for amusements for the coming summer.

CAMDEN STATION will soon lose a great deal of its importance. The new Mount Royal depot, which is now receiving its finishing touches, is to be the chief station in Baltimore of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, and in a short time the famous Royal Blue trains will not even speak to Camden as they fly proudly past the ancient depot, now one of the most active public places in the city.
