SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

THE BEST

SPRING MEDICINE

is SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR—don't forget to take it. The Liver gets sluggish during the Winter, just like all nature, and the system becomes choked up by the accumulated waste, which brings on Malaria, Fever and Ague and Rheumatism. You want to wake up your Liver now, but be sure you take SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR to do it. It also regulates the Liver—keeps it properly at work, when your system will be free from poison and the whole body invigorated.

You get THE BEST BLOOD when your system is in A1 condition, and that will only be when the Liver is kept active. Try a Liver Remedy once and note the difference. But take only SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR—it is SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR which makes the difference. Take it in powder or in liquid already prepared, or make a tea of the powder; but take SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR. You'll find the RED Z on every package. Look for it.

A CHILD INCUBATOR.

Medical men are watching with great interest the struggle of Phil Armour's little granddaughter for life in an incubator. As the time passes increasing confidence is felt in a happy outcome, but it may be several weeks, if all goes right, before she will have obtained sufficient strength from the peculiar treatment to warrant her removal from the box-like contrivance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, her parents, were advised to adopt this method, and almost immediately after the birth of the child last Tuesday, she was so small and delicate that the attending physicians were afraid that her chances of living, unless confided to an incubator's care, would be exceedingly slim. The millionaire pork packer has no other granddaughter. His other grandchildren are the two sons of Phil Armour, Jr., each of whom was presented with $500,000 on their birth. The little girl, who has begun life under such adverse circumstances, is assured of a similar sum at any rate. That it will be doubled out of joy in the event of her life being saved is the general belief of friends of the family.

Notwithstanding the fact that the child is very frail, she has been gaining rapidly since she took up her abode in the incubator, and the family physician says that she will yet develop into a fine, robust girl. The mother is doing finely. She is a beautiful young woman, with a singularly sweet and unassuming manner. She has been a great favorite in society, but has shown herself to be more devoted to her home and family than to the endless demands of the butterfly world. She superintends the details of the care of her magnificent house on Michigan Boulevard and takes great pride in her knowledge of housekeeping. Her entertainments, while not frequent, are always marked by the utmost elegance and beauty. J. Ogden Armour is associated with his father in the immense Armour Packing Company and is worth several millions in his own name.

An American Fable Whose Moral Will Be Appreciated by Politicians.

One day the owl remarked to the crow that the peasant who had lately moved into the cottage beyond the wood was a good fellow and the crow passed the word to the jackdaw and the jackdaw to the parrot, says the Detroit Free Press. Then the fox wanted to know what was up, and, being duly informed, he took it upon himself to inform the other wild animals of the forest, and pretty soon it was—

"Resolved, That the peasant being a good fellow, we will visit him and prove our good will."

In due time there was a great gathering of birds and beasts, and at a signal each one cried out and applauded in his own peculiar way. Things were mighty lively and the assemblage was fluttering itself that it was doing the proper thing in a proper way when the peasant appeared, with his hair standing up and his eyes hanging out, and exclaimed:

"Ah! Lack-a-day, but what in Texas is all this row about?"

"We have come to show our friendship for a bully boy," was the chorus.

"Had you come as enemies I would have brought out my shotgun and protected myself, but now, alas! I am helpless and undone.

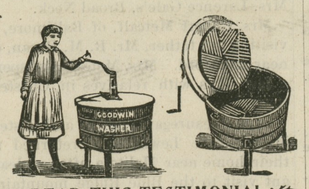

Moral—The man "in the hands of his friends" may be pitied even by his enemies.

A Craze for Laces.

Lace and embroideries are used on everything. The very simplest and cheapest of gowns must always have some piece of lace, some ruffle or embroidery before it can be pronounced satisfactory, and there is really no limit as to the money that can be invested in these adjuncts to every smart costume. Silk, velvet, crepon, cloth and the thousands and one wash materials, each and every one must have in its construction not only the lace or embroidery, but chiffon, mousseline de sole and ribbon as well. Chiffon and mousseline de sole seems to be quite as important to a gown as the principal material of the gown itself, and the craze instead of diminishing grows apace every day. It is really remarkable how these materials have held their own for so long a time. Whole gowns are composed of them, hats are trimmed with them, while waists of gowns are often made entirely of one or the other.

The New Certificates.—The new $2 silver certificates are in circulation. The new note is regarded as being handsomer than the ones and fives recently issued. On the face the design represents Science presenting Electricity and Steam to Commerce and Manufacture. Science is represented by a young woman. At her right and left are two pretty and plump children, one representing Electricity and the other Steam. Commerce and Manufacture are represented by two shapely damsels with clinging costumes. On the reverse side are pictures of Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, and Morse, inventor of the telegraph.

The Goodwin Washer.

READ THIS TESTIMONIAL:

TOLCHESTER BEACH, MD., Jan 20, 1896.

MR. WM. T. MATTHEWS, Gen'l Agent:

Dear Sir—I have been using 3 of your Goodwin Washers for the past year, and I find them a very durable and useful machine. We used these machines not once a week, but every day at the Hotel and Bath Houses, and in fact washed every thing we had occasion to wash, with one-half the labor as formerly. After the close of the season here I sent one of these machines to Baltimore, to a friend, and quote their words, "You have certainly sent us a good friend." It gives me pleasure to recommend this Washer to anyone who desires a Labor Saving, Easy, Durable and Clean Washer. Resp'y, yours, &c.,
