

ON and OFF

MAIN STREET

A new game: Golfers at the Chester River Yacht and Country Club are trying not to make "birdies" but "ducks." Doc Hughes' several score tame-wild ducks are frequenting the No. 1 fairway. The golfers play if you-hi-a-duck-you-win-the-hole. Since the ducks are just about in the range of a half-topped shot the duck stands the best chance of winning. The wharf at the fertilizer factory of Massey & Wilmer is the "old swimming hole" for Chestertown's colored folk. New cement walks and ramps are being constructed at Washington College under the supervision of "Chief" Bryan Newton. Chestertown's ball club had both of its week-end games forfeited. Doc Simpkins is the possessor of a Mexican horned-toad, the gift of Maxwell Crowding who goes in for snakes and such things at his College Hill Filling Station.

Bill Collins skipped a crowd on "The Brothers" to the regatta at Herald Harbor, above Annapolis, on Sunday. Reports the regatta, despite its publicity, no better than ours. Jake Flowers hitting the ball hard and playing third base for Rochester, helped to defeat Baltimore in a double-header Sunday. Bill Nicholson, incidentally, is in a hitting slump at Federalsburg. The team had a recent shakeup, Dale Hudson, the star hurler, being made manager. If we can overcome our natural modesty sometime in the near future we'll print a poem by Frank H. Ruth entitled "THE ENTERPRISE." Wade Smith, the former road cop here, who was shot and killed Sunday by his young wife at Laurel, is the lad who played a strong game of ping pong and bested most of the locals when the game was popular at the Fire House some years ago. Charlie Eshman's wife buys his shirts and does a tip-top job. John Truslow and crew sailed down to the Quaker Neck Horse Show Saturday in the "Jolly Roger." They struck a calm and had to stay over night, getting back just in time for the races Sunday afternoon. Fifteen minutes after he arrived back in Chestertown from a visit with his son at Camp Red Cloud, Tom Kibler was back at work at the coal yard. It took Bill Usilton, who also made the trip, two days to recover.

The "Reba Main," about the only Chesapeake Bay Log Canoe in the river since Stanley Evans moved the "Island Blossom" was entered in the races here Sunday but the Grieb boys couldn't maneuver here across the starting line. John Truslow had the same trouble with the "Jolly Roger." Most of the local lads who have been attending Camp Rodney are back at their respective homes. The snappiest stationery around these parts in a long time is that of Dixon Gardens and Lotus Inn near Delchester, where the Edward McC. Fishers hold forth. One of the things that impresses visiting relatives is the colorful design on the Gill Bros. milk bottles. The hospitality extended on the "Swarja," the yacht of the Price Ewings, is tops. Sheriff Bennett reports no trouble with his auto on the trip to Seattle and back. One tire went down and had to be replaced. Farmers beginning to sell their wheat because the 7-day free elevator storage is ending.

Belt Townshend has purchased a row-boat to get back and forth from his Barnegat sneakbox which is anchored in the rear of his home. Ruben Jamar, candidate for the Democratic nomination as Sheriff last fall, is the only one of the nine patrons of the Morgue school not to sign a letter agreeing to the close of said school. Crabbers in motor-boats off Chestertown making good hauls daily. W. W. Hubbard riding in a "new" Model T Ford. All the times played by the band with the Negro minstrel here sound just the same but the time is perfect. Postmaster William B. Usilton is a "two-gun" man, the postal regulations requiring him to put a couple of pistols under the window counters each day and take them back each evening. A letter from John Ellison, at Camp Pocono, published in this issue, is very interesting. The Rotary Club subscribes for its magazine "The Rotarian" and has it sent to several local libraries. Margaret Jefferson off to New York for her fall buying. Elkton service clubs like Betterton. Both the Rotary and Kiwanis organizations dining there last week at the Royal Swan.

Syd Turner splashed all over the newspapers on the bay bridge issue. Chestertown scheduled to play Tilghman's Island on the Hopewell diamond Sunday. Dr. J. S. W. Jones, editor-in-chief of the Washington Alumnus, almost let that paper be scooped entirely on his marriage. Grace Maxwell working hard on the Flower Show which promises to be the biggest and best ever. The women do a good job anyhow. The auxiliary of the Hospital contributes mightily each month to its support and the auxiliary of the Fire Company donates badly needed new boats. Work progressing rapidly on the new Gulf filling station on Maple avenue. The State Roads shakeup hits Kent county. The local National Guard unit looking forward to its annual encampment this year, starting August 17, the biggest such encampment ever staged.

The United States is developing a market for figs in Austria in competition with Turkey, Greece and Italy.

Fire Destroys Barn Of Townsend Anthony

Fire, starting in an automobile, destroyed the barn belonging to Townsend Anthony at 4 A. M. last Thursday morning.

Awakened by the reflection of the burning building, Mr. Anthony was able to get a large oil truck out of the building and another auto belonging to A. S. Waller was also removed.

The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company answered the alarm and prevented a spread of the flames to nearby buildings.

A good cigarette, too needs Balance—

And that's why the tobaccos in Chesterfield are carefully balanced one against the other... not too much of one—not too little of another.

We take the right amounts of the right kinds of four types of tobacco—Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish.

It is this balancing of tobaccos that makes Chesterfields milder and makes them taste better.

Chesterfield... the cigarette that's MILDER
Chesterfield... the cigarette that TASTES BETTER
