ISHIE

There was a little girl
Who had a little curl
Which hung right down her forehead;
And when she was good, etc., etc.—
(Nursery rhyme)

Another little girl
Who had a little curl,
Was the darling of our household years ago;
And the name of that small girl
With the matchless, golden curl,
Was "ISHIE" if you really care to know.

Sometimes in fancy bright,
I see that little spright;
And the pretty little curl—like 'twas gold—
Just trailing o'er her nose,
Its beauty to disclose;
Disheveled by the breezes—gently bold.

My arms in welcome dart,
To clasp her to my heart,
And place upon that curl a loving kiss—
I sigh to think that time
Will ever make this rhyme
An echo, and a dream of wondrous bliss.

'Tis many years ago
Since she I used to know
Left naught to me but this her golden curl:—
My heart that once was glad,
Is lonely now and sad,
When mem'ry gives to me my little girl.

I see again that curl—
To me a priceless pearl—
The tangle in the ringlets oft times see,
I kiss that little face,
And feel that last embrace,
When dreaming brings my darling back to me.
