In The Schools

CHESTERTOWN ELEMENTARY

It was time for new J. K. R. elections last month so now you have a new editor. I hope you will like my efforts as much as those previous editors. The new president for our club is Betty Beck, who received quite a number of votes. The class voted for Robert Gibson as vice-president. He accepted the office. The greatest number of votes for secretary were cast for Harriett Gill, who then became the new secretary. Jack Kibler was re-elected as treasurer for our club. Elizabeth Wheatley was chosen as the chairman of the Entertainment Committee. At our last J. K. R. meeting the president, Betty Beck, appointed Naomi Russell as Editor and Helen Cuiver, June Maslin, Mary Emma Chaires and Tommy Massey as reporters.

The weather has been very cold and the 7th Grade has been studying a very appropriate poem entitled "Snow Bound," by John Greenleaf Whittier. We have had a fine time studying it.

The 4th grade has just finished a trip which took them through the wheat lands of the North and South temperate belts. Along the way they observed the kinds of people, their homes, dress, customs and ways of traveling.

It certainly has been cold here, but the 3rd grade pupils have been studying about people who live in a colder country—the Eskimo. They have enjoyed finding out their queer habits and customs. Would you like to be one and eat a piece of blubber for a piece of candy? Would you like to have six months of night and six months of day? They decided the Eskimo has a harder time to make a living than we do.

They have written stories about them in their study. Here is one:

The Walrus And Its Uss
A Walrus is a very fierce animal. He has very sharp tusks. These tusks are very valuable because they can be used for so many things.

The Eskimo makes needles out of the Walrus' bones. They make clothes out of the skins. They make the kayaks of the skins. The meat of the Walrus is eaten for food. The Eskimos think it is very good.

—Bob Brenizer.
Im sure you all would rather live here than where the Eskimo lives. Last week the whole school was in excitement over the standard tests. We all took them and did the best we could. Now the papers are marked and soon we will go over them and see how we stood.

These are busy days, indeed, at Chestertown Elementary School.

Pennsylvania traffic accident statistics show that the hour between 4 and 5 p. m. is the most dangerous of the entire day, and that the hour between 6 and 7 a. m. is the least dangerous. Records of accidents for the afternoon hour totaled 3,446 and for the morning hour 601, for the period covered in the report.

Surprise Party Given For Still Pond Resident

Still Pond

Mrs. Eugene Massey was given a surprise birthday party last Friday evening. Those attending the party were: Mr. and Mrs. William Hopkins, Ray Hopkins, Miss Julia Curlett, of Turner's Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newsome, of Betterton.

The Philistines held their monthly business and social meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Geary last Wednesday evening.

Mr. Theodore Jewell, of Chestertown, visited with his sister, Mrs. Emma Thompson on Thursday.

The Rebekah Assembly Office drove around from Baltimore to visit Friendship Rebekah Lodge No. 57 arriving here about 5 o'clock Thursday. A delicious turkey supper was served by the members. An interesting address was given by each of them.

Mr. A. J. Hackett, Mr. Harry Bidwell, Mr. William Clark and Mrs. John Nicholson are among those on the sick list.

Miss Louisa Travers was hostess to an all day session of the Women's Club last Friday. All enjoyed a pleasant time.

Mrs. Earl Thompson and sister, Mrs. Helen Hogans, of Rock Hall, spent last Thursday and Friday in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Freeman and family, of Townsend, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Leasage on Sunday.

Miss Hazel Gosman, of near Chestertown, spent the week end with Miss Lucille Fellows.

The Men of Still Pond are planning to hold their monthly supper Wednesday evening, February 27 in the Odd Fellows Hall. All men are invited and bring your wives.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Massey visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams, of Barclay, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cornelius and baby, of near Galena, visited with Mrs. Elmer Atwell on Sunday.

Miss Louise Clark spent last week-end with Miss Kathryn Jewell, of near Lynch.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Newsome, of Chestertown, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hackett, on Sunday.

Mrs. Edward Hepburn has returned to her home after spending some time in Baltimore.

Union M. E. Aid Society Meets

The Aid Society of Union M. E. Church was entertained at its February meeting at the home of Miss Selma Hanson and her father. At the meeting it was decided to hold a turkey supper at the Bibbs House, Chestertown. Following the meeting a social hour was spent with refreshments of fruit punch and cake served.

JOHN M. LORD HILL HAPPENINGS

The Flying Pentagon's chances of bringing the hotly contested championship of the Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League to Chestertown are greatly decreased. Last Friday night at Emmitsburg the Shoremen suffered a let down when St. Mary's defeated them 25 to 15. Those who saw the game report that the home boys were completely out of step and were decisively outclassed by the Mounts. The Mountaineers, led by the elusive Tom Lynch, had no trouble in scoring on the Sho'men at will after the first ten minutes of the game. This defeat places the Sho'men in a tie for second position and only by winning the remaining two league games—with Western Maryland and Loyola—can they tie for first honors. We are sure, however, that the Kiblerites will stage a fighting comeback to make a great effort to finish on top.

The Flying Pentagon in a small measure redeemed itself by conquering the Mud Hens of Delaware 30 to 22. The Delawareans did not furnish much opposition to the Pentagon and it was easily seen that the teams were poorly matched. "Irish" O'Connell was by far the best player for Delaware, while for the Sho'men it was gratifying to see Leon Horowitz regain some of his top-notch form. Jim Salter and "Football Captain" Ed Thompson staged an interesting personal duel which was rough and ready.

Tomorrow night, Thursday, the team plays at Annapolis. Unless the Johnnies show a surprising reversal of their previous form the Sho'men should have no difficulty in taking them into camp.

Washington College is proud to mark its mid-year convocation tomorrow morning in the assembly period by having as guest of honor Dr. George F. Zook. To quote the college "rag"—"The Washington Elm," Dr. Zook is a noted authority and speaker on educational subjects, and has wide experience in this field." This is a mild attribute to such a distinguished scholar and gentleman. Dr. Zook in addition to having served as United States Commissioner of Education is now the Director of the American Council on Education. Dr. Zook's appearance in our assembly on this occasion will attract many visitors to the Convocation ceremony. We may well count it a privilege to hear him speak.

Dr. Mead will entertain Dr. Zook and other honored guests at luncheon after the assembly period. Dr. Zook, who is also prominent in Omicron Delta Kappa, will meet with the Silver Pentagon Society and other campus organizations during the afternoon.

The Washington Players rewarded an audience of 125 who saw the Players present two one act plays last Monday night. The program consisted of "Where The Cross Was Made," another one of those intriguing melodramas by Eugene O'Neil, directed by Bob Clifford, and a lively collegiate comedy, "A Girl To Order," directed by Bill Hall.

The Players produce two one act plays every month and this practice is doing much to develop the potential talent on the Hill. All who are interested are given an opportunity to act in the plays and an encouraging number of students are signifying their desire to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Chestertown, as we all recognize, is a pleasant little riverside town with which we all associate many happy memories. All who linger or visit here are said to always express the desire that they may someday return.

To contradict myself may I say that there is one glaring exception to the above generalization, namely—the unappreciated mediator, the object of varying praise and blame—the basketball referee. Officials coming here certainly get an overdose of booby and abuse. We must certainly all recognize that the "ref" has but two eyes, with which to watch ten men. Let's give the poor friendless wretch a break.

I have been told that it is a permanent policy of the Enterprise to give credit where credit is due. In true "Enterprisan" manner and spirit then I'd like to say that Fred "Flea" Taylor is writing a darn swell column in the Washington Elm. "Intercepted Phrases" as it appears every Saturday in the Elm is a semi-serious column devoted to noting and commenting on what goes on in our neighboring "institutions of higher learning."

Two cafeteria desserts to Columnist Taylor! (No acknowledgment required).

Workmen repairing a railroad dock at Detroit have found the unfinished tunnel to Canada, which was started and abandoned fifty years ago. The opening to the tunnel, twenty-five feet in diameter and walled with brick, is under two feet of water.

Residents in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains area get "the blues" each time a blustery sandstorm strikes. Dust in the air causes a deflection of light, making metal objects reflect a bluish sheen, weather men have observed.

"The Admiral knew his gasolines when he chose this lubricated Tydol"

"You said it! She's greased lightning...even at 60° below"

WE DON'T merely add "me too!" to the many gasolines claiming faster starting... We give you evidence why the cold-proof lubricant built into Tydol gasoline aids faster starting. The dry spots of cold, upper motor parts are instantly lubricated and protected when you step on the starter. The special lubricant also acts as a solvent in ridding your motor of old carbon formations and preventing new... You not only get a faster start but a safer start... And equally important—there is no premium in price.
