JOHN M. LORD

Some of my readers, I'm afraid to say many, are wondering what I'm going to write about now that basketball season is nearly over—well, I'm wondering too. A week remains, however, so basketball is good for a couple of paragraphs. Predictions as to the final outcome of the Maryland Intercollegiate League are rather risky with the league in such a tie-up so I'll be conservative as a dignified senior should be, and not forecast. Last Thursday we played St. John's, and won. Last night we played Western Maryland in what will be a mighty tough and what will probably set our chances of a championship team or not. Friday night the Shoremen close the league season when they tangle with the Greyhounds of Loyola.

In evaluating this past season, I think we've had a successful year; the team has played well for a new combination, most of the starting lineup will return next year and a formidable team is already formed. The basketball team has carried on the "new deal" spirit in Washington College athletics, a new spirit of fighting optimism has been molded. Playing at the Armory has been a change for improvement both from the point of view of players and spectators. Such an improvement, I am confident, will justify the continuance of the change. It would be impossible to cite for praise each person who has contributed to the success of this year's team so I merely offer a collective bouquet to the coaches, the squad, the managers, the cheerleaders, and yes, the referees.

Our attention will soon be turning to baseball—and we're confidently expecting to have a darn fine ball team. Signs of this coming sport are already evident on the Hill. "Larruphin Lou" Goldstein is pleasurably anticipating the fast approaching time when he'll crowd his feet into size 11 baseball spikes and snag ties in the left field garden. Coach Kibler is casting an appraising and furtive eye toward the too soft ball diamond and Manager "Al" Gardiner is beginning to think in terms of broken bats and lost basebats.

Potential Glen Cummings' and Frank Wycoffs' are daily running on the indoor track and getting in shape for the spring track meets. The return of the track sport is hailed by many enthusiasts as a definite improvement in our athletic program.

The Varsity Club, composed of those men who have earned their letter for athletic endeavor, has taken a new lease on life. At a buffet supper held last week President Ellery Ward outlined a plan of activity, which, when put into operation, will gain for the club the position of prominence and respect on the Hill that is rightly due it.

One of the first and most interesting aspects of the plan is the sponsoring of a campus night—this will include boxing bouts, a basketball game, and several other features. The club plans to initiate new members at a near date—this initiation is usually very pleasant diversion for the initiates.

March 8 has been announced as

Seeks Money Throne

NEW YORK—Henry L. "Lou" Gehrig (above), ace slugger of the N. Y. Yanks, is now getting the attention of fans as reports indicate he will not sign without a big increase in salary, having waited years for Ruth to vacate the money throne.

The opening date for the presentation of "Hamlet," the Shakespeare Club's vehicle for 1935. Tickets are now on sale and I'd advise you to buy your seats now for all predictions point to a sell out.

Those of you who are interested in questions on International Peace had better plan to attend the Y. M. C. A. Peace Conference to be held soon. The Y. M. C. A. has been working hard to arrange and plan for the conference and replies are being received daily which indicate the success of the conference. This student convention marks the definite entrance of the Y. M. C. A. into intercollegiate activities.

The campus was quite deserted over the last week-end, many of us took advantage of the short holiday and enjoyed a short vacation. "Doc" Huffman headed a delegation of mountaineers over the hills to Cumberland, many went to Baltimore and Eastern Shore homes. If you will tear off the tops of six new Chevrolts and mail them to the Enterprise office you will be sent a detailed account of your author's trip to New York, autographed by the author. This offer is not good after February 29th.

What is your guess as to what the cellar in Gill's will finally turn out to be. Workmen have been working down there for over a month and many speculations have been made. Take your choice, dance floor, cocktail lounge, bar-room, dining room, game-room, cafeteria, or swimming pool.

LOYOLA FIVE HERE FOR TILT FRIDAY NIGHT

Old Rivals Of Shoremen In Return Game

Locals Play Delaware At Newark Saturday

With only two games remaining on its schedule the Washington College basketball team is nearing the end of its season. Friday night the Shoremen play hosts to their old rivals, Loyola, in what should be the feature game of the home season. On Saturday Tom Kibler will take his charges to Delaware for the second of two games with the Blue Hens.

Barring a tie in the Maryland Collegiate Basketball League the game with Delaware will bring to an end the 1934-35 campaign.

Last night Washington faced Western Maryland at Westminster in what for the Shoremen was the crucial game of the year. A victory would mean a good chance to tie for the league title as Kibler is confident his charges can take Loyola on Friday.

As Washington battles Western Maryland, Loyola will be facing St. John's in just the same sort of predicament that occupies the Shoremen. Loyola must beat St. John's and then Washington to tie with Mt. St. Mary's for the league title.

Arthur Malloy's charges finished the cage loop season with a burst of speed and today rest at the top of the heap, assured of at least a tie and with a good chance of having the other team eliminate each other. The Mounts won seven and lost three games during the league campaign.

Alwyn Coleman Named Assistant Postmaster Here

Postmaster William B. Usilton received word from the Postmaster General's office Friday of the appointment of Alwyn Coleman as assistant postmaster of the Chestertown office, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Fred S. Russell.

It has been the policy of the post-office department to abolish the post of assistant whenever a vacancy has occurred, but officials were shown that the Chestertown office's receipts warrants such an office. Much credit for Mr. Coleman's appointment goes to T. Alan Goldsborough, Congressional Representative from this district, who presented the facts of the situation here to the postoffice department and personally argued the recreation of this office. Mr. Coleman has long been a member of the staff of the Chestertown office and his appointment brings a substantial salary increase.

World's Fastest Miler

COLLEGIANS HOLD LEAD IN TOWN CAGE LEAGUE

With four victories in as many starts the Collegians continue to lead the Chestertown Basketball League. Last Thursday they added the Crescents to their list of victims by a score of 34 to 18.

The Ascots still hold second place despite the fact that they have been pushed hard in their last two encounters. They tripped the Medicos last Thursday, 13-10.

This week's games, at the Chestertown Armory tomorrow night, bring together the Collegians and Medicos and the Ascots and Crescents.

The standing of the teams:

Team	W	L	Pc.
Collegians	4	0	1.000
Ascots	3	1	.750
Crescents	1	3	.250

WASHINGTON FIVE SCORES OVER ST. JOHN'S

Washington College came from behind to beat St. John's in Annapolis last Thursday evening putting on a killing pace midway of the second half. The final score was 34 to 19. Poor Decisions Mar Boxing Card At Centreville

Cosden Gets Decision Over Gonzales

Poor decisions in the three bouts which weren't ended by knockouts spoiled what otherwise would have been the best boxing card of the season at Centreville last Friday night. In the opinions of a large percentage of the ring-side customers the judges and the referee failed to call the turn correctly in each of the bouts that went the limit.

The officials got off to a bad start by calling the Chick Chafey-Kid Ewing bout a draw when the former won the last three of the four rounds in a walk.

Tex Nichols prevented any lumb decisions in the second bout by spreading Jimmy Rhodes on the canvas.

Jerry Beadenkopf and Jose Obregon fought what might have been a draw if Beadenkopf hadn't had a slight edge. But the decision went to Obregon. Beadenkopf took the first four rounds easily and then back-pedaled for the remaining two. Obregon's willingness might have earned him a draw in the minds of some but certainly to call him the victory was stretching it a bit too far.

Reddy Shreeves socked Jack Stanley for a loop in the semi-windup, looking to be the class of the program as he did so. Stanley showed plenty of gameness.

The final, featuring Henry Gonzales and Bob Cosden, was a bloody affair with most fans giving the Kent boy the edge. Quite a number called the bout a draw in their own minds as they awaited the decision and all, even Cosden, were surprised when he got the nod.

Gonzales took the first couple of rounds and Cosden the third and fourth. The fifth and sixth were fairly even. The seventh was all Gonzales and the Kent boy had somewhat of an edge in the last round. The fights were all good. The drooping of the wrestling bouts pleased most of the fans. But the decisions sent many a fan home dissatisfied.

The German government has set aside about $28,800,000 to be lent for remodeling or reconditioning homes.
