SPORTS VIEWED FROM MANY ANGLES

Now that horse shoe pitching is being revived in this section it may be interesting to note what follows. You may think you are some horse-shoe pitcher—and you may be. If you do, you should consider the record of G. E. Snyder, of Ithica, N. Y., recently. In three 50-point games he threw forty-six ringers and three eight double ringers. The Kent county man that can pitch like the above would attract considerable attention among the local horse-shoe enthusiasts. Spencer Peterson the other evening, in six twenty-five point games, threw 16 ringers, which, when you consider the fact that it was partnership game in which the other pitcher made a considerable number of the points, was not, after all, so far from the record mentioned above.

Major Wm. G. Smyth is said to be one of the Kent County champs at the somewhat rural game of horse shoe pitching. Flingers at the Bramble Poultry Farm links state, however, that they have been, to date, unable to get the Major in a game.

Wanted—An insurance company to take out insurance against serious damage from the iron heels delivered by Messrs. Louis J. Thibodeau and J. N .Wheatley. We admit it would be a "wild-cat" risk and a high rate on the policy, but when you consider the risk that a bystander is subjected to, we believe almost any any premium would be justifiable to spectator and to company.

President Thibodeau, of the horseshoe league, has fixed a penalty for killing or wounding with horse shoes the fine stock birds at the Bramble Poultry Farm: A Rhode Island Red Pullet, 100 marks; a White Leghorn Pullet, 75 marks; a Barred Plymouth Rock Pullet or Cockerel, 85 marks. Some recent performances have demonstrated who is likely to be the first to pay the penalty.

George Sisler, the St. Louis star, has batted back into the lead in the American League, displacing Ty Cobb, the pilot of the Detroit team. Hornsby still tops the National League.

Baseball seems to be the only sport in which left-handers flourish. There have been but few great left-handed boxers, tennis players or football stars, although Sam Felt and Malcolm McBride were good left-footed kickers. Thorpe, Brickley, Eckersall and Gipp were all right-footed. But baseball welcomes them home. Sisler, Cobb, Speaker, Ruth, Williams, Collins, Daubert and a host of others are all left-handed batters.

The first open season for game in this county is August 16, when Black-Breasted and Golden Plover can be killed. It is reported that these birds are more numerous along the coast than they have been for years past, due to the protection given them under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, enforced by the Federal Government. The beaches of Worcester and fresh water ponds along the Eastern Shore to which these birds migrate this season of the year in their flight between the north and south provide excellent shooting territory for this species of game.

The State Game Department has about 700 Deputy Game Wardens scattered throughout the state, who have been instructed to rigidly enforce the law this season regarding open seasons, bag limits, etc. Clerk of the Court Robert R. Ayres is now issuing hunting licenses in compliance with the law that allows him to so do.

Mr. Edward Blackway beat Dover, 6 to 2, pitching for Centreville last Saturday.

The baseball schedule for the Tri-County League next week is:

Today, Saturday, Aug. 12—Centreville at Chestertown; Oxford at Easton.

Tuesday, Aug. 15—Oxford at Chestertown; Centreville at Easton.

Thursday, Aug. 17—Chestertown at Centreville; Easton at Oxford.

Saturday, Aug. 19—Easton at Chestertown; Centreville at Oxford.

Wm. Frazier Russell, Esq., in a most appropriate speech the other evening, presented Mr. J. N. Wheatley with a miniature horseshoe, a gift from the Horseshoe Pitchers' Union. Mr. Wheatley accepted the tribute in a most fitting manner and with a speech which expressed how deeply he was touched.

Chestertown continued its winning streak Saturday by winning from Oxford at that town, 7 to 1. Chief Usilton was on the mound for Chestertown and held Oxford to four hits.

On the same day Centreville beat Easton 10 to 1.

Easton and Chestertown staged a 13-inning game at the former town Tuesday, which Easton won, 2 to 1. The game was the best exhibition of base ball seen in the Tri-County League since its organization. The contest was a real pitchers' battle between Robinson, of Chestertown, and Dillon, of Wilmington, and Mallonnee. Perry, at 3rd for Chestertown, accepted eight chances without an error, while Bartley's stop and peg to first of a hard hit ball, was one of the features of the game.

Centreville added another victory to the list Tuesday by defeating Oxford 15 to 3.

Standing of the Tri-County League:

	W.	L.
Chestertown	7	3
Centreville	6	4
Easton	5	5
Oxford	3	7

Chestertown horseshoe pitchers are out with a challenge to any in the county.

Chestertown and Oxford battled for 12 innings on Thursday at Oxford, the local team finally winning out, 5-4. Kennedy started on the mound for the Chestertown boys, but was relieved by Blackway, who held the Oxford team well in hand.

On the same day Centreville won from Easton.

Dr. J. Allen Jarman's team is way ahead in the horseshoe league. With the addition of Spencer Peterson to his team, the Ringers were easily the fastest combination in the league. In ten games Thursday evening the latter pitched 31 ringers.

Farming Notes

Kent County farmers are now busy threshing wheat, much of which has been damaged by rain.

One of the most notable features of the summer meeting of the Maryland State Horticultural Society on the Eastern Shore was the opportunity afforded to see the varied agricultural development which is taking place in this section of the state.

At this season of the year the farmer who has provided green feed for his hogs is in a position to rcognize the high value of good, green forage in the economical production of hogs for either market or breeding purposes.

News has recently been received of the appointment of J. A. Gamble, professor of dairy husbandry at the University of Maryland, and S. H. Harvey associate professor, as associate editors of the staff of the Journal of Dairy Science, the official publication of the American Dairy Science Association.

The International Grain and Hay Show at Chicago from December 2 to 9, probably will attract more than usual interest among Maryland farmers this year, due to the large number of places secured by seed growers of the state at last year's exhibition.

A hearing that will involve all charges now in effect by Baltimore livestock commission merchants, composing the Baltimore Livestock Exchange, for services rendered in the sale or livestock, has been ordered by Secretary of Agriculture H. C. Wallace for August 17.

Last Queen Anne's Confederate Dead

David L. Knight, the last surviving Confederate soldier in Queen Anne's county, was found dead at his home in Burrisville Saturday. He was 78 years of age and was a native of Florida. When only 17 years old he enlisted in the Confederate Army and during the last year of the war was captured by the Union Army, then operating in the state of Georgia, and removed to a prison camp at Camp Chase, Ohio. When the war closed he was kept a prisoner, and after 11 months of incarceration he was released. He was married to a Miss Sinnickson, of New Jersey, and with members of their family moved to Queen Anne's county, where they purchased a farm and had resided until his death.

Says Oil Did Not Kill Cattle

In a letter from Mr. Austin F. Shure, of August 8, the State Roads Engineer states that we were in error in our columns a few weeks ago when we published an item to the effect that some cattle had died from the road oil which had been applied to the surfacing of the state road near White House Farm, and which the heavy rains had washed from the surfacing into the nearby field, where the cattle were grazing. The matter was turned over to our local deputy State Health Officer for an investigation. Dr. Franklin, in turn, sent samples of the water to Dr. W. R. Randall, chief of the Bureau of the State Dept. of Health, who made tests of the same, and found that it contained nothing poisonous. He also stated that there was no presence of heavy metal derivations (which would include most mineral poisons), nor of the presence of tars or oils such as would be used in road construction. In conclusion he stated: "I am, therefore convinced that, with such evidence as we have before us, the cause of the death of these cattle is not to be found in the road washings."

CITIZENS OF MARYLAND!

Can Senator France Explain Satisfactorily to YOU His Reason For This?

(From Baltimore Sun, March 6, 1919)

"COST STATE $3,500,000

"Senator France's Filibuster Killed Maryland Appropriation.

"Washington, March 5, 1919.—In his filibustering activities during the last days of the session in Congress, Senator France talked to death over $3,500,000 of appropriations for Federal public works and the maintenance of Governmental institutions in Maryland. Practically $2,000,000 of this sum was to have been expended in the construction of permanent buildings at Baltimore, Annapolis, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Easton, Elkton, Ellicott City and Laurel, so that every section of the state is made to suffer, and the congressmen from every district had their efforts brought to naught by the efforts of Mr. France."

WILSON GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO DAVID J. LEWIS

Ex-President Says Maryland Would Be Fortunate In Such A Senator.

Washington, July 28.—Former President Woodrow Wilson has given what amounts to an indorsement of the candidacy of David J. Lewis for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, it was learned today.

In a letter to Mrs. Robert R. Henderson, of Cumberland, made public here today, Mr. Wilson speaks in the highest terms of Mr. Lewis, of his past public service and of his qualifications for Senator.

The letter of former President Wilson follows:

WASHINGTON, July 20, 1922.

My Dear Mrs. Henderson:

It gives me pleasure to reply to your letter of July 19 because it is always a pleasure to testify to the character and attainments of such a man as Mr. David J. Lewis. My observation of him and my association with him in public matters have led me to entertain a very high opinion of his integrity, his ability and his equipment to deal with public questions.

I have been very much interested to learn of his candidacy for the United States Senate and do not hesitate to say that I regard him as in every way qualified to fill the position of Senator. He is most conscientious in all his dealings with public questions and has, moreover, a legal insight into their merits and extraordinary industry in familiarizing himself with their details.

I was often glad to be guided by his knowledge and judgment in dealing with legislative matters and should deem the State of Maryland fortunate in having such a representative in the United States Senate.

Mrs. Wilson joins me in warm regard and most cordial good wishes and I am, as always, your sincere friend,

WOODROW WILSON.
