EASTERN SHORE PRODUCE EXCHANGE

BY L. J. HYSLUP.

For several years preceding the formation of the Exchange, farm products sold so very low that many of the farmers were not meeting expenses and consequently real estate depreciated very much in value. These depressions caused us to realize that something had to be done to improve conditions if possible. Consequently a few gentlemen met at Onley, Va., Sept. 16, 1899, to discuss various plans and finally a committee of twelve representative gentlemen from Accomac and Northampton Counties were appointed to draft and outline a working plan for an Exchange. This committee met several times and finally drafted the general plans under which the Exchange has been so successfully operated.

A charter was secured from the Legislature of Virginia on January 6, 1900, and the work was commenced in June of that year.

The first year about 400,000 bbls. of potatoes were handled by the Exchange which netted about $500,000. The second year showed a large increase in business and also that the idea of the formation of an Exchange for the mutual benefit of the growers was practical.

There has been a steady gain each year in the quantity of business handled and a like gain in the amount of money realized from the crops until the present year 1907 shows that the Exchange handled over 492,000 bbls. of Irish potatoes and about a like quantity of sweet potatoes, also about 150,000 packages of strawberries, peas and other highly perishable truck, making the total number of all packages handled for the year over 1,122,000 which brought in round numbers about $2,075,000.

The business is conducted from the general office at Onley where all sales are made and all daily sales sent out and also all collections and disbursement are made from the general office. The telegraph and telephone expenses to handle this business for the last several years runs from about $10,000 to $12,000 annually.

At first quite a large percentage of the business had to be placed on the large markets on a consigning basis but we gradually introduced our brands of goods until the last few years an average of 90 per cent. of all of the goods have been sold f. o. b. loading points. The small percentage of goods which has been consigned on the large markets were off grade goods which were not worthy of our trade brand. The trade all over the country has become thoroughly conversant with our methods of doing business and they have learned to rely upon our brand of goods until we now sell from Tampa, Fla., to Canada and from Maine to California.

The Exchange operate at forty shipping points where it maintains local agents and inspection, branding and loading of the products. These local inspectors are supervised by one General Inspection and a assistant with the idea of keeping the brands of goods at all points as near uniform as possible. We realize that proper packing and grading and improved packages have been a great feature in the success of the Exchange. Our best grade of potatoes is sold under the Red Star Brand, our trade mark which is duly registered in Washington. The capital stock of the Exchange at the par value of $5.00 each now amounts to ever $39,000.

The general organization is composed of 33 local organizations and each local is made up of one or more shipping points in accordance with the volume of business that is done at the shipping point. The local divisions meet annually and elect in addition to their local officers one general director so that the Board of General Directors is composed of as many directors as there are local divisions. All of the various local divisions are in close touch with the general office by private telephone lines so that we are at all times in a position at the general office to instruct our local agents and when a farmer brings his goods to the station they are first turned over to the local inspector who examines them carefully and brands them according to their merits. The agent then makes a manifest of all shipments for the day furnishing us with each grower's mark and number of packages that he has and they are loaded into cars under the various glades. The agent reports each morning and along through the day about how many car loads of each grade that he will have and as soon as the goods are sold by wire shipping instructions are at once given to the agent.

AVOID EXTREME FATIGUE.

Exercise that brings into action every muscle of the body is absolutely necessary in the attainment of health and perfect physical development.

Tired brain workers especially need exercise to renew the supply of blood in the brain, for new blood will give clear thought and new ideas.

To avoid that "all in" feeling after any violent or unusual exercise, Sloan's Liniment should be used as a rub-down.

Mr. Harry K. Gilman, instructor of athletics, 417 Warren Street, Roxbury, Mass., writes: "During my connection with athletics and athletes, will say that I have used Sloan's Liniment in extreme cases of fatigue after physical exertion where an ordiuary rub would not prove beneficial, with splendid success. I have also used it in massaging elderly men afflicted with rheumatism.

"We always keep a bottle around the house for any household emergency, and I always carry one in my grip, and will in the future."

PLANS BIG BRIDGE OVER CHESAPEAKE.

M. & M. Association Committee Is Preparing Prospectus Of Scheme. Would Give Baltimore Much Better Connection With Counties Of The Eastern Shore.

Is the building of a bridge across the Chesapeake bay feasible? This is a matter now being considered by the executive committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association. Tentative plans for a projected bridge across the bay have been mapped out and a prospectus drawn up. Copies of the prospectus have been sent to the members of the committee. Should the scheme seem practicable, the project will probably receive the indorsement of the Association. At any rate, it is probable that the question of the bridge will be brought up at the next meeting of the executive committee and the advantages of such a structure to the city of Baltimore will be fully discussed. It will, of course, be some time yet before any definite action will be taken.

M. & M. Association Interested.

The Merchants and Manufacturers' Association has been interested in the project for spanning the Chesapeake for several weeks. In the March number of the Monthly Bulletin issued by the Association there appeared a short article on the project, which said, in part:

"Upon first sight this statement may sound very much like a dream. Many sensible men believe in some dreams. Many men have witnessed the realization of alleged dreams. There has been submitted to the Association what seems to be a feasible project to do this very thing at a location in the upper bay and to run a trolley line over it between Baltimore and the Eastern Shore. The plan has been submitted to leading engineers, whose opinions point out its practicability. If a complete survey demonstrates this fact, we are told it can be financed. This Association hat pledged itself to adequate transportation facilities into the Eastern Shore and the Western Shore of the Chesapeake, for that matter. No opportunity to bring this about shall be neglected. The accomplishment of this potent purpose is in the hands of the people of Baltimore. We will be glad to give all the information we have in regard to the bridging of the Chesapeake. We mean to reach our neighbors in some way, some day.

Mr. Boggs Thinks Scheme Feasible.

"The Chesapeake bay can be bridged beyond doubt," said Secretary Thomas G. Boggs. "I believe that it can be done, and will be done, some time. Why, look at the bridges built by Flagler on the Florida Keys! There is a bridge on the Norfolk and Western railroad and one on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, both of which are longer than the one required to bridge the Chesapeake at the point mentioned. The project is simply in its infancy. What is needed is an engineer's report showing the cost and that the bridge can be built at the projected point and the capital will be forthcoming. The latter details have not been worked out, however.

"The benefits to be derived by Baltimore from such a bridge would be unlimited. Eventually the Easterm Shore will be honey-combed with trolley lines. Just think what it would mean to Baltimore to have a trolley between the city and that fertile country! Again, what a convenience it would be to reach Crumpton or Chestertown in two hours at any time of day. The bridge, if ever constructed, will be the making of Baltimore's Eastern Shore trade, and we would be in a position to regain all we have lost, and more too."
