Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It. Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system. What To Do: There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pains in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

WHY MARRIAGE IS A FAILURE?

Written for the News by a Lady Formerly of Chestertown, Now of Edesville. Marriage is something that should be thought about sometime before it occurs, should be looked at from all points and considered as a life compact. But instead it seems that marriage is the last thing that requires consideration. If a person wishes to purchase a house or horse or anything for that matter, they wish to know the antecedents and all connected with same, but in regards to choosing a partner for life, why, of course how absurd, they will get along all right, and should they not, there is always an alleviation, namely, a divorce. Goodness! How I hate to see or hear that word. How can people laugh and jest and think it fine for anyone to get a divorce? I think it is a sad thing to see our American people, who are foremost in everything, lack judgment as regards the marriage laws.

We should have the contract not harder to keep, but harder to be broken. The ones in authority are the ones to blame, and a law should be made to keep all ministers of the gospel from marrying divorced couples. Because if a minister will marry a couple and he knows that either of them are divorced heids them in sin, thereby committing one himself. If there were no such thing as divorce people would not rush so blindly into the matrimonial state. But as it is, they are so afraid they will be left entirely out that they have no idea what they are doing. Mothers are, in a measure, to blame for some disagreements, for instance, the mother that raises Mary up to entertain and play the piano instead of learning house-wifely cares and duties, and Mary in turn marries a clerk on F street, how is she to know the hundred and one arts that only women know of how to contrive to make ends meet? John comes home to an untidy house and an ill-cooked dinner. Poor Mary is not to blame, neither is John, but the mother is. The consequence is that John is very apt to be cross, especially over the dinner, for the old saying is: "The way to a man's heart is by his stomach." Again I fear there are too many mothers who allow their daughters too much freedom. A mother should enter her daughter's pursuits and pleasures and when a young man calls should not be afraid to go near the parlor. A young girl on the other hand should never receive a young man whom she does not want her mother to meet, for in her heart she knows he is not the proper person for her to associate with. Mothers should know how and where their daughters spend their time. Do not, oh! mothers, push your girls forward; at least, not to such an aim as that.

A girl must not cheapen herself. Nothing great is easily won; and a good pure, modest woman is the greatest of God's blessings, especially to mankind. Women, although the weaker sex, are looked up to and respected by men for that weakness and fitness. God made and intended it that man should be subservient to woman, and it will always be so; but a woman must know and keep her place. A man will always respect a woman as long as she demands his respect. But girls will not see it. A man flirts with a girl as a passing thing of the hour that is forgotten by the next one that comes along, but when a man wants a wife he wants one that he can trust, and there are few girls who flirt before marriage, but what carry it on to a certain degree after marriage. They cannot help it; it is almost a necessity to them. I should not have our American girls of today regular prudes, but be natural and enjoy life, live to be looked up to and respected.

Something surely should be done to protect the purity of our country, and the divorce laws are a menace to our country which is growing daily. Let every husband and wife that contemplates divorce try again to do their best. Think of the end of time. How will they answer then? When God himself hath said: "What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder." Chronic Constipation Cured. One who suffers from chronic constipation is in danger of many serious ailments. Foley's Orino Laxative cures chronic constipation as it aids digestion, and stimulates the liver and bowels, restoring the natural action of these organs. Comments taking it today and you will feel better at once. Foley's Orino Laxative does not nauseate or grip and is pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. For sale by all druggists.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Silk Coats of all Lengths; Black Satin Coats; New Footwear; Lingerie Dresses; Parasols in Plain and Flowered Silks; Foulards; Brown and Blue as Leaders.

Judging from the length of independent coats, the Eton seems (as yet) destined to be entirely ignored; and even the mention of it is received with frowns by the fashionable dressmaker. Be that as it may, many Eton suits left over from last Fall, are now worn, and will remain good during the coming season. Silk coats range from three-quarter length to those extending a little below the waist, and as a rule handsomely trimmed with fancy silk braid and large buttons. Some shapes are very loose, others snuggest, the latter generally cut away at the front.

The smartest coat of the season is of black satin, usually untrimmed except by cord and large buttons, nevertheless there are exceptions. An especially handsome style has the skirt slashed at the hips and laced across with cord and a button at each end of the cord. A similar slash is on the butterfly sleeves and sometimes a position back gives variety. Heavy satin coat laid in loops formed the trimming of an imported satin coat. Cloth is also used for jaunty coats, with the regulation trimming of braid and buttons. Lace coats in white, black or colors are very effective, and while termed "lace," are often made of silk braid with a picot edge.

These have lost neither beauty nor prestige. Long lines of tucks or other garnitures from the throat to the edge of the skirt preserve the Princess effect. Last season's materials are in full force supplemented by inserts of flit or Irish lace. Wearing collars beneath a white dress conveys the effect of several different dresses—a feminine subterfuge, but nevertheless a useful one. Blue, pink or heliotrope lingerie dresses suit a pale complexion better than white, and are therefore well patronized.

The above design is by the McCall Co. of New York. Publishers and Manufacturers of McCall Patterns.

Many shop windows are gay with bordered foulard silks the most desirable being thirty-four inches wide and showing beautiful designs in Persian and other Oriental colorings. Ordinary ring dot patterns with narrow borders will become very common, and a plain silk trimmed with lace is preferable. Brown and blue in all shades are the leading colors in foulards, the range of color however is wide.
