Town Commissioners Make Good—The town commissioners of Centerville are heeding the wishes of the public in regards to safe guarding the lives of the people against the depredation of wolf. less dogs. Mr. J. Palmer Goldsborough, Centerville, has been appointed by the board the "Official Dog Killer," and now any dog roaming around without his tag about his neck is liable to come in contact with a load of shot from Mr. Goldsborough's hammerless breech-loading gun.

Lost His Fingers—A son of Rev. A. W. Mather, the Methodist Protestant minister stationed at Greenwood, Del., while at the basket factory at that place attempted to saw a piece of board which he had picked up on the floor, at a rapidly running circular saw, and in doing so cut off all the fingers on his left hand. The little fellow was very badly frightened as well as injured, and for a time it was impossible to get him quiet so that the wounds could be dressed.

State Bankers Association—Elaborate preparation is being made for the entertainment of the Maryland State Bankers Association, which is to be held in Baltimore on September 16, 17 and 18. The headquarters of the association will be at the hotel Belvedere. The business sessions will be held on September 17 and 18 and a banquet will be held at the Belvedere on the evening of the 18th. The Mayor will deliver an address of welcome to the visitors, and efforts are being made to secure the attendance of the Governor.

Promoted—The Board of the Directors of the Queen Anne's National Bank, at their meeting on Tuesday last, appointed Mr. J. Louis Evans teller, in the place of Mr. Alfred Tucker, Jr., who has severed his connection with that institution. Mr. Evans has been book-keeper in the bank for a number of years. Mr. William W. Rhodes, son of Mr. J. Louis Rhodes, of Queenstown, who has for some months been employed in the bank, was appointed to the position made vacant by the promotion of Mr. Evans.

PRINCESS IN WASHINGTON

Five Wagonloads Of Trunks And A Whole Zoo Of Pets.

Washington, June 20.—Princess Lwoff-Fartagly is here. Not only is the Princess here occupying nearly the entire fourth floor of the New Willard Hotel, but her first attache, her second attache, her third attache, her courier, her marshal, her chief and butler are here, not to overlook a large horned owl, two wolf cubs, a tank of alligators, two modest guinea pigs and a powder puff of a dog and the dog isn't muzzled either.

And the Princess' baggage—five wagon loads of trunks—all here, all decorated in the tinsel of Hungary, the Princess' fatherland.

This morning a private car carrying the Princess' retinue and zoolet rolled out of Hot Springs, Va. When the aggregation arrived at the Union Station here the fun began.

"No, her Highness could not use the carriage rent for her, that was for her maid. "No" again, a few minutes later, when the largest, reddest and noisiest automobile in town rolled up. The Princess would not ride in an automobile without a footman.

Back again went the big car and for a few minutes consternation reigned at the Willard. Then a bellboy was jerked hurriedly from his bench and "Buttons," transformed into a resemblance of an English funkey, climbed up at the back of the lowest of the lownecked carriages proceura and the procession to the Willard from the Union Station began. The Princess, who admits she is a famous artist, having won many medals in Europe by her palette and brush, is now as much to herself as though she were in her feudal castle in Hungary or in the palace of her divorced Russian Prince. Her chief and butler have taken charge of her suite, her pet animals occupy a room to their loneliness and quiet has settled down over the Willard.

The Princess is quite a character and has a weakness for collecting wild animals. A few days ago she shipped to Italy two bears and a lion and a tiger cub.

EVERY DAY 'LL BE SUNDAY ERE LONG

The love affairs of the Day and Sunday families, who live near Morocco keep gossiping in that city busy. There are five sons in the Sunday family and five daughters in the Day family. Three of the Sunday boys have already married Day girls. The two remaining boys are courting the two remaining Day girls, and the probability is that every Day will be Sunday by and by.

NEW WHEAT.

Receipts of new wheat, the first arrivals of which came to Baltimore the early part of last week, are increasing, and it is expected that within the next fortnight arrivals will be sufficient to attract exporters and the summer grain business will open. Baltimore grain men expect a big foreign trade this year. While there is not much demand from abroad now for grain from this country, foreigners want supplies, and their stocks are low. The Argentine Republic, the chief grain competitor of the United States, is being drained of supplies, and the world will then have to look to this country.

Reports as to the condition of crops are favorable, but high prices prevail on this side. The foreign buyer is holding off until the last minute to take advantage of any drop in prices.

The first new Southern wheat from Virginia came to Baltimore a few days ago. Week after next wheat from Virginia and Maryland will be coming in large quantities. Owing to the favorable weather during the early part of the season new wheat is coming two weeks earlier than usual, and the summer export trade will consequently open earlier. The indications are that the quality will be fine, the receipts thus far bear this out.

Just what the Maryland crop of wheat will be a question. Those who watch the situation closely say that they expect about three-quarters of a crop. The average crop for Maryland is between 12,000,000 and 14,000,000 bushels. Last year Maryland had a bumper crop, amounting to about 14,000,000 bushels.

There has appeared in some Maryland fields this year a disease known as the "scab." When wheat has the "scab" the heads of the growing stalk do not fill out with grain. Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Talbot, St. Mary's, Baltimore, Harford and Frederick counties, as well as some parts of Delaware, have been affected. Reports from other sections of this State say that there is a good crop and that the grain is of fine quality.

BEST PEACH CROP IN LAST TEN YEARS.

The biggest peach crop of the last ten years is the forecast made by those interested in Maryland and Delaware orchards. From present indications the peach crop of this section will be extremely large, and unless some unforeseen danger appears, this year's crop will be the largest since the yellows and San Jose scale created so much damage on the peninsula of Maryland.

It is reasonably certain, canned goods, may say, that the crop will be big, notwithstanding that the June drop is not yet over. In fact, it is now about at the height of the season for the June drop. The large number of peaches remaining on the trees and the healthy appearance of the fruit, however, are pointed out as an indication that peaches will be plentiful.

New Orchards Bearing.

Maryland depends mostly upon the peaches from the Peninsula of this State, Western Maryland and Delaware. About six years ago the crops of the peninsula were ruined by the San Jose scale, which is a destroying insect, and by the yellows, a disease from which the leaves on the trees turn yellow and the trees will not bear. Since that time the Maryland crops, particularly, have been small, while, for one cause or another, the crops of Delaware have also been smaller than usual. The orchards of the peninsula even at present, are not nearly so extensive as formerly, but the new orchards are now beginning to bear, while the fruit has been aided by favorable weather.

The peaches being sold now are not of the luscious Maryland variety, but come from Florida and Georgia. There were large crops of peaches in both of the latter States, and peaches at present are selling at an unusually low price for this season of the year. Thus the indications are that 1908 will prove a big peach year from all parts of the country where the fruit is raised.

"That a big crop of peaches is expected," said Thomas J. Meehan, of the canned-goods firm of Thomas J. Meehan & Co., "is shown by the big demand for future canned peaches from all parts of the country. Orders have been coming in in large quantities, and in fact some of the packers have deemed it advisable to stop taking orders for future-canned peaches. The pea pack has just about ended, and is only about 50 per cent. of the average one in Maryland. This fact is having its effect in other markets, where prices are beginning to grow stronger."

SENATOR SMITH A ROYAL GUEST.

A dispatch from London says that Senator and Mrs. John Walter Smith and Mrs. Arthur D. Foster, of Maryland, were among the 9000 guests Friday at Windsor, the famous castle of King Edward and Queen Alexander. The occasion was the great garden party on the grounds of the castle, with which of recent years the King and Queen have brought to a close the social functions of the week of racing at Ascot.

John J. Mahon, John E. George, Chas. L. Dodd and other figures of note in Maryland, especially Walter R. Townsend, will no doubt feel somewhat envious when they hear that Senator Smith has been hobnobbing with royalty while they are sweating mentally under the weight of ideas incidental to capturing for William Jennings Bryan Maryland's electoral vote in the coming campaign.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment; it adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry-bark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchitis, and hyaline tracheitis and chronic sore throat with parseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine: "In its preparation it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon indolent, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach), it is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of prostatic (Gleet) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."
