Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalence of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease.

While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a simple bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free.

JULY STYLES AT NEWPORT

The Extreme In Skirts—Exclusive Styles in Yachting Suits—Colored And White Linens At The Tennis Court—Colored Silk Coats—New Neck Buffs—Parasols.

The fashionable season at this wonderful sojourn, is of longer duration than that of any other resort in America. New styles are exploited here before they are shown in New York, as many wealthy residents come direct from Paris or London laden with sartorial treasures, which they are only too happy to display. Thus it comes about that the new Directoire skirt makes its American debut at Newport. The extreme partially adopted in Paris is too risqué to meet with favor in America, and conservative dress-makers show a very narrow, long skirt called the "sheath skirt" and await developments regarding the genuine Directoire.

INDIVIDUALITY IN DRESS. The smart dressers take infinite pains to guard against the possibility of a suit or gown being duplicated and especially is this the case in respect to yachting suits. White serge or white flannelette is most in vogue, but in trimming or cut it must be individual. Much may be effected in facings, braid and buttons, and embroidery on waist or sleeves gives scope for varied effects. Colored silk coats with white or striped skirts are new for yachting, and red (as it is used on water) is quite in favor for coats, trimmed in peculiar style to suit the wearers. Jumper suits of striped flannel have also been seen worn over white flannel waists, with very elaborate shoulder straps. Blue flannel suits trimmed with large brass buttons are worn by visitors to Newport, but not by "the elect".

THE TENNIS COURT. Here linen suits range from the absolutely plain styles to those adorned by heavy lace, which shows to especial advantage on green, pink, blue or lavender colored linen. A beautiful white linen costume worn by one of Newport's most exclusive dressers, was of white handkerchief linen, the coat in an "all over" design of eyellet embroidery, shaped by narrow bands of heavy Venise lace. The edge of the coat was also finished by the same lace, and the three-quarter sleeve had a box cuff, with a deep ruffle of eyellet embroidery. Another linen suit had a plain skirt and medium length coat slashed high at each side, the edges bordered with a wide hem, and above, an insertion of Venise lace.

COLORED SILK COATS. These are in great vogue again, and are certainly very charming with lingerie dresses, plain or striped skirts, and may be opened or closed, oftentimes finished by a full lace ruffle down the front, and trimmed with braid. Cretonne vests and sleeve bands are used with these coats, if the wearer be disposed to patronize eccentricities, a white waist however is all that is necessary.

PARASOLS. Every variety is exhibited here, from the plain silk parasol to that of point or duchesse lace. White silk with a gaily-colored floral border is a favorite, or white silk with lace inserts. Beautiful white chiffon parasols are used for afternoon drives, the prettiest of which have full chiffon ruffles on each rib, with embroidery between. Cretonne parasols are in brilliant colorings, but these are simply a passing fancy.

NECK BUFFS. These are also in vogue, and are made of various materials, including silk, linen, and cotton. They are worn with suits and dresses, and are a useful and fashionable accessory.

YACHTING SUITS. These are made of light-weight materials, such as white serge or flannelette, and are designed for comfort and practicality. They often feature wide collars and long sleeves.

SKIRTS. The Directoire skirt, mentioned earlier, is a notable example of the fashion. It is characterized by its extreme length and narrow cut. Other styles include the "sheath skirt" and skirts with wide hems.

COATS. Colored silk coats are a popular choice, often paired with white or striped skirts. They may be worn open or closed, and some feature intricate embroidery.

VESTS. Cretonne vests and sleeve bands are used with various coat styles. They add a touch of elegance and practicality to the ensemble.

WAISTS. White waists are a staple in the wardrobe of those attending Newport. They are often worn with patterned or colored skirts.

SHOES. While not explicitly detailed, the text implies that fashionable footwear is worn, consistent with the overall theme of the article.

ACCESSORIES. Neck buffs and parasols are highlighted as essential accessories for the Newport season.

THE INFLUENCE OF HOME LIFE

(Written for the KENT NEWS.) The cannon ball passing through a four-foot bore receives its direction for the whole range. So the soul in childhood receives its direction for eternity. Could anything be more true? Think of your own early training. Will it not remain with you until you are no more? Even if you have wandered for awhile you never forget the influence centered around your childhood home.

If parents would only pause for a while and think how the lives they lead will reflect on their children, I am sure that many would change their mode of living. How their children look up to them, trust in them, and think if only father or mother said so it must necessarily be right. How careful then ought they to be. Children trust their parents instinctively more than parents trust God. Do children ever think from one day to another where they will get the necessities of life? No indeed, father and mother will attend to all that. A little child's mind is easily trained and their after-life shaped by the example set before them at home. We do not gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles.

How then can we expect to raise gentlemen and ladies of today if the father comes home intoxicated and every other word is an oath, while the mother lives on gossip, dime novels and chewing gum? It is impossible. Train a child up in a way it should go. What way is that? It can hardly be the way of a gambler, drunkard or loafer. No; our children are lent to us for a little time to rear up honorable men and women, that the earth may be populated by people of strength and goodness. It does not take any one long in the society of another person to tell what home-raising they have had, and a discourteous, disrespectful young man, or woman will never make either a good husband or wife.

Some parents say their children derive their faults from some one else. That may be possible but that one fault especially if it is a despicable one, should be looked after and try to be overcome. When they reach a sensitive age, appeal to them and show them their faults and tell them how much they will have to regret in after life, should they not heed your warning. Mothers are the ones to do this. How many of our great and eminent men who owe all their greatness to the influence of their home life and a mother's love. Well that it has been said, "No love like a mother's." Mother who helps and comforts in times of trial and sorrow and who rejoices in your joy. Nothing on earth can compete with a mother's love for her children.

How then ought children to love and obey their parents in all things. Some parents sin long before them and some come after them in the influence they wield among their children. And then they don't know how long they may live themselves, and if their children are thrown on the world's mercy, ill-bred, untruthful and unmanageable in general what will that child's life be in the future. A mother folding her babe to her heart knows it is innocent of any sin, then try, oh parents, to keep that same babe like the One in whose image we are all created; remembering the promise to all those "that honor father and mother."

DOES THIS HIT YOU?

Some people are "natural born kickers." They never want what they've got and they never will be happy. Even in Heaven they will want to run things, if they are so fortunate to get there. We want to see "our folks" all get together, and instead of talking each other down, to take the other tack, and always have something to say that is good of their neighbors. Life is too short to take it up with fault-finding. This reminds us of a young lawyer, who was practicing in Kent twenty years ago, and the story he told us of a visit to a neighboring town to ascertain the financial standing of one of the citizens of that town. He said he never found a man in the town who had anything but good words to say about his debtor. People in the same line of trade spoke in the highest terms of him, and said he was all right. It is this case with the people of Chestertown, Millington, Rock Hall, Galena and Still Pond? We know that it is the reverse, and we also know that we ought to stop the mean habit of talking about our neighbors simply because they are not of the same political faction, or church, or what-not. Now, everybody make up your mind to speak well of the other fellow, and see how good it will make you feel.

MARYLAND BISCUIT RECEIPT.

CLAYTON, DEL., April 1, 1908. WM. B. USHON'S SONS: Sira.—Saw in the KENT NEWS March 21 asking for a receipt for making Maryland biscuit as I was formerly from Maryland and thought that I would send my receipt as we think it is fine. Receipt for Maryland Biscuit is as follows: 8 teaspoonfuls of flour, 1 teaspoonful of yeast powder. Enough of cold water to make a stiff dough. Beat until dough blisters. Bake in a quick oven.

Isn't It Awful?

You surely know by this time that a cream separator may even double your dairy profits, and make the work easier, too. Then why not have one?

Just take one good look at these pictures—and then a good look at your wife. The upper picture shows the simple bowl of the Dairy Tubular Separator—washed clean in one to three minutes.

The other picture shows the actual insides of one of the many styles of complicated bowls used in all other separators. Which are you going to ask your wife to wash? We'll be pleased to take a Tubular apart for you. Bring your wife to see it.
