

Horse Drops Dead.—Mr. George W. McWhorter had a horse to drop dead opposite Stam's Hall, Chestertown, on July 4th, while being led by his hostler. The animal had been sick all day and being treated by a skilled veterinarian.

Hay Burned.—Mr. Thomas W. Trew of near Lankford, lost about twenty-five loads of fine mixed hay one day last week. His men were getting up hay and just before going to dinner they set fire to an old straw rick and let it burn while at the noon meal; upon returning to the field they discovered the hay on fire and before the flames could be quenched a full rick and several cocks were destroyed.

Capt. Conway Drowned.—Edward Conway, captain of the schooner Ella, was drowned near Tolchester Beach at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. The Ella is owned by his brother, Capt. Harvey Conway, of Cambridge. In going about he was caught in the main sheet and swept overboard. The mate was asleep below and only a colored hand on deck. Before the former could be aroused the boat was far away. Captain Conway leaves a widow and several children. Capt. Harvey Conway offers a liberal reward for the recovery of the body.

BETTERTON ITEMS

The crowd which visited Betterton on the Fourth clearly demonstrated the popularity of Kent's resort. Perhaps never before have so many people been seen here. Every boat came in crowded and many of the hotels and cottages could not accommodate all who applied for board. Many yachts were anchored in the harbor and presented a beautiful picture. The Chestertown Cornet Band, engaged by the Ladies' Improvement Association, rendered music at intervals during the day and evening. In the morning there was a game of ball between the Kennedyville and Betterton clubs, which resulted in a victory for the home team, 8-0 to 1. Bathing was enjoyed by a large number in the afternoon and dancing in the evening.

ROCK HALL ITEMS.

Rev. J. T. Richardson on Sunday morning preached a good sermon on the subject of Patriotism from the text "Whoso ever therefore resisteth the power resisteth the ordinance of God." By illustrations of recent events the reverend minister proved that there is much less patriotism today than in the days of old, but he also showed by illustrations of today among which was the sick legislator's vote, that won the anti-race track fight in New York; that patriotism was in the ascending and continue more and more until patriotism would exceed that of the past. An average congregation enjoyed the discourse.

Rev. John M. Arters was here on Sunday evening in the interests of the Anti-Saloon League and gave an interesting talk on the progress of the cause. He paid a glowing tribute to the members of the last Legislature who nobly stood for the League's efforts to suppress the liquor evil, but unlike Chairman Anderson he had the kindest comments for those of the opposition. The congregation was very favorably impressed with Mr. Arters' discourse.

Capt. Thomas Colyer, while on a trip to Chestertown last week in his gasoline canoe, found it necessary to lay in a fresh supply of gasoline for the return home. The merchants in town found the fuel was purchased sold an inferior article, as a consequence the crew were unable to reach Quaker Neck because the stuff would not drive the boat. They made out to reach Quaker Neck wharf where they tied up and part of the crew put their feet in the water and stood to their homes, reaching here about 6 A. M. Saturday, when they secured another boat and going up the day, returned at Chestertown. The portion of the crew staying in the disabled craft were in a pitiable condition when they reached the wharf for food and water. Not a particle of either had they from the time they left Chestertown Friday evening. The most interesting display of the crew had used copious draughts of river water and of course this aggravated their plight.

Of course Tolchester was the mecca for many of our people on the 4th. Those staying at home observed the day with a variety of amusements. The day was at Whaland's Resort where there was a variety of amusements and a variety of amusements. The day was at Whaland's Resort where there was a variety of amusements and a variety of amusements.

STRAW BOARD CO. PLANTS TO RESUME

$1,000,000 Raised To Guarantee Debts And Four Factories Will Begin Work.

Chicago, July 6.—Plans for reopening and operating a number of plants of the United Straw Board Company, now closed by injunctions, or on account of inability to operate at a profit, were completed yesterday by Sydney Mitchell, president and ex-receiver of the Company.

Mr. Mitchell left New York last night to push the work of making changes in the mills, which will be necessary before they can resume operations.

Among the plants to be re-opened are those at Tiffin and Swanton, Ohio, and Kokomo and Anderson, Ind. Others may be reopened after the new plan of operation is given a trial.

In reopening the plants, the use of straw as raw material may be abandoned in most plants and chip board and news board will be substituted for straw board as a product.

With the $1,000,000 which officers of the Company declare is pledged there will be sufficient money to pay the debts and enough left to rehabilitate the mills.

Accidents.—Mr. George Boone was severely injured last week at the big printing plant of Friedenwald & Co., of Baltimore. The boiler head blew out and hit him breaking a limb and giving him other injuries. He is in the hospital and suffering severely.
