SATURDAY, JULY 18, 1908.

WHEAT has taken a big jump in price which comes at an opportune time as many farmers in Kent are holding their grain. Local buyers were paying 91c, 92 cents yesterday.

WE are sorry to learn of the removals noted in another column. They are good citizens and Kent can't afford to lose those kind. The NEWS wishes them abundant success in new fields.

THE present drought has now become a serious matter. It will be five weeks next Monday since this section had rain. Corn and grass is suffering terrible, while fruit is dwarfted and vegetables injured. Lower Kent and Tolchester had a fine rain Tuesday as noted elsewhere.

WHO would believe that Chestertown is ahead of New York in fire fighting? And yet it is a fact that New York has just caught up with us in the matter of using high pressure hydrants in the place of engines for fire fighting purposes. A dispatch says: "In the first test of the high-pressure hydrants made recently the doom of the New York fire engines is believed to have been sounded. Members of the New York Fire Department confidently predict that pumping stations will soon take the place of the methods now employed in that city."

THE Maryland Commission to the Jamestown Exposition have sold the Maryland Building as it stands for $2,000. The cost of constructing it was $27,930. What a reckless waste of money! And this was not all. If Maryland would spend on the suffering poor the amount thrown away at Expositions and shows there would be less suffering and crime.
