Wm. B. USILTON, JR. PUBLISHERS AND EDITORS.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 8, 1908.

One day last week the Baltimore American had a cartoon showing the prosperous condition of the workingmen of the country, full dinner pail, etc. Next day the B. & O. Railroad closed the Mr. Clark Sallops, throwing 2500 men out of work. Those pails were evidently filled with hot-air.

DR. CHARLES H. MEDDERS sued the Western Maryland Railroad Company in the Superior Court of Baltimore Monday, by Harry K. Brooks, attorney, to recover $5,000 alleged to be due for professional services in operating upon and treating persons injured in the wreck on the road at Patapsco on June 17, 1902. Two operations, at $1,000 each are named in the bill. One of the operations was the amputation of both legs of a patient. A claim of $150 is also made in the bill for damage to clothing and instruments.

EVAN Philadelphia with its tremendous Republican majority has a big daily newspaper that is supporting Bryan, but poor old Baltimore, with its Democratic majority and Southern leanings, hasn't a single newspaper that is even willing to treat the Democratic candidate half-fairly. And yet Baltimore merchants are surprised that Southern trade is slipping away from them. What else can they expect when the town and its newspapers joins hands with the enemies of the South?

He's Got 'Em.—A Stroud farmer on Route 1, has taken out a patent on an electrical motor fastened on a cow's back, the electricity being generated by a dynamo attached to the cow's tail, says the Stroud inventor. It strains the milk and hangs up the pail and strainer; a small phonograph accompanies the outfit which yells "So!" when the cow kicks a hinged arm catches the milk can and slams her over the head with it.

ANOTHER CONVERT.

The News' Example Followed by Another Influential Journal.

FOR years the KENT-NEWS columns have been free of liquor advertisements although many times sought by liquor houses to insert their ads. It is therefore with pleasure we note the following from the Star-Democrat of Easton, giving reasons for adopting the same rule: "The Star-Democrat has not blated the fact, and perhaps most of our subscribers have not noticed that whiskey ads, have been eliminated from its columns. And possibly those who have missed them think it is simply because none have been offered us. Far from it! There is scarcely a mail that does not bring letters from liquor dealers either ordering an ad, or asking rates on same. In fact, there would be no trouble in filling a full page of The Star-Democrat every week with this class of business, and at rates much better than received for other commercial business. The Star-Democrat has not been converted to prohibition, nor probably will it ever be, but we are strong believers in temperance. Every newspaper has a high mission to perform—much higher than the mere making of dollars and cents—and it was because we did not longer care to put temptation right in the pathway of our constantly increasing army of readers week after week, that we concluded on January 1st last to eliminate from our columns all whiskey ads. It means a great financial loss to any newspaper to take this stand—in our case we know it runs up into the hundreds of dollars annually—but if the loss of this amount will save one soul from a drunkard's grave, we feel that we have been amply repaid. That many persons use whiskey for medicinal purposes and drink it without injury to themselves or anyone else we do not question, but it is its temperate use that is causing the present wave against it to sweep over our cherished land."

BEAUTY FROM SMEARCASE.

There is an interesting article I read in one of our popular magazines, which I thought worthy of mention:

In Switzerland some of the oldest and most healthy of the smaller towns attribute their health and vigorous old age to the continued use of the old-fashioned dish of cottage cheese or, as we know it, curd or smearcase. They claim that it not only promotes health, but at the same time produces a beautiful, clear complexion, which would be worth its weight in gold to any of our American ladies.

Good Pear Tree.—William Tomlinson, of Queen street, Dover, has a fortune in a pear tree. His is a Seckel pear and, as it is said that pear trees are planted not only for one's own profit, but for one's heirs, this one is a treasure. Mr. Tomlinson has not quite finished this year's harvest from this one tree, but has cleared $53.75 from it this far.

MCGINNES ITEMS.

Those of our more fortunate neighbors enjoyed a rare musical treat while Prof. Jones, a musician of repute from Boston was in the neighborhood. The professor came incognito from Chestertown for a brief stay with Mr. J. T. McGinnes, and while there his identity was disclosed.

Mr. T. U. Smith made a short business trip to Baltimore this week, and while there had several of his corn cutters re-shipped to various towns on the Eastern Shore for exhibition. The machines are being made in York, Pa., and are superior to most cutters in that they will cut the corn, though fallen down.

Mrs. L. D. Bowers and little daughter, Marguerite, are sojourning in Wicomico for a week with parents and other relatives.

Misses Ida and Bertha Wallen are on a trip to the Monumental City. Miss Bertha will take in the sights of Washington and vicinity before her return.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Robinson entertained last week, Mrs. J. Frank Diggs and daughter, Gladys, of North East.

Miss Maud Anderson, of near Crumpton, is visiting Miss Viola Toulson.

Our mail carrier, Mr. N. A. Wallen, is off on his vacation, and substitute, Mr. Fred Numbers, brings us the news.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cosden have been enjoying the company of their children, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cosden and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Webb, of Wyoming, Del.

Miss Lottie Peacock, a teacher of Chester, Pa., is a guest of her sister, Mrs. R. W. Robinson. Miss Lottie has been enjoying the first part of her vacation at the seashore.

Miss Clara McGinnes and Mary Vantant have returned from their trip to Pennsylvania.

Misses Margaret Fisher and Cecelia Fernandez, of Wilmington, are guests of Miss Mamie Walmsley.

Mr. L. C. Robinson is spending a month at Pleasanton last week.

A PHENOMINAL FISH CATCH.

Ten Dozen and Two Caught on One Hook by Ed Pleasanton Last Week.

Fishing's Landing, Aug. 1.—The most phenomenal fish catch known to the annals of history was made last week by Earle, the youngest son of our genial host and storekeeper, Wm. Pleasanton. Earle finding time hanging heavy on his hands, found an old fishing line with one hook that hadn't seen duty for at least two seasons. Walking out upon the bridge he cast his line in the briny deep of our glorious and beautiful Smyrna River. The hook had hardly touched the water when there was a pull on the line and Earle started hauling in what he supposed was one big fish, for the head was nearly to the bridge and the tail, as he supposed it to be, hadn't left the water. He became so excited he called for help, two of his brothers, Oransby and Clarence, who were working in their father's store near by. Thinking the boy had fallen in, hurried to his assistance, but upon arriving at the scene they both stood aghast at the sight. What Earle supposed to be one big fish was nothing more or less than one string of perch, for as fast as one would leave the water another one would grab it by the tail thereby forming one continuous string of fish and thereby hangs the tale, for when they were all landed on the bridge flopping and floundering the pile counted up to ten dozen and two.

J. F. RUTTER KILLS HIMSELF

He Is Supposed To Have Brooded Over Financial Matters.

James F. Rutter, 60 years old, a well-known merchant and carriage manufacturer of the Seaside near Woodlawn in the seventh Election district of Cecil county, committed suicide last Friday.

Rutter had been despondent for some time and his suicide is believed to have resulted from financial trouble. He went to Wilmington Wednesday and returned Thursday feeling in bad shape. This morning he had lost $125 and he would leave the water another one would grab it by the tail thereby forming one continuous string of fish and thereby hangs the tale, for when they were all landed on the bridge flopping and floundering the pile counted up to ten dozen and two.

He found it in a bureau drawer, put the muzzle to his temple and blew out his brains. He died two hours afterward. A widow and one daughter survive him.

Will of the Late Willard S. Dill.—The will of the late Willard S. Dill was filed in the Orphan's Court on Wednesday evening. After making allowance for the widow's dower, it divides the residue of the estate into three equal parts, the portion allotted to Mrs. Geo. Perkins, being left in trust. Harrison W. Vickers, Jr., Esq., is the executor. The estate is valued at about $5,000.

Lineman Made Jump.—John McGreger, a lineman in the employ of the Diamond State Telephone Company, leaped from the top of a pole to a shed thirty-five feet below, last week when a heavy shower of rain began to drop in and scatter over him the molten metal from his lead pot. The hot lead flew in every direction and burned McGreger and his associate so badly that McGreger took long chances. McGreger who evidently thought the hot lead was a charge of electricity resulting from lightning, broke his fall by a rope and escaped with no further injuries.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor. It makes weak men strong and articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no "hocus-pocus" humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for women's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening medicine it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want a "cure" for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the best pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when ones tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equaled.
