SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1908.

THE Baltimore Sun has "flopped."

A CALL for a Bryan, Kern and Covington Club is made in another column of the NEWS. If you are for the Democratic ticket give this call your attention.

THE next State meeting of the P. O. S. of A. will be held in Chestertown. We guarantee that the Eastern Shore Eden will give the patriotic order a cordial welcome.

BETTERTON has more young men among its guests in comparison to the number of ladies than any other resort on the coast!

DID you expect anything more from the Sun? In 1896 the Sun fought Bryan and he polled a big vote, in 1900 the same paper supported him with wonderful vigor and the State went for the Republicans, and now it is against Bryan!

THE Baltimore Sun has a wide influence and its declaration for Taft on Thursday is to be deplored by all lovers of Democracy, but its position is explained in the following poetic lines, which occur in the Bentztown Bard's column alongside of the declaration against Bryan. It is certainly pointed whether it was intended so or not. The poem is entitled "Don't Turn Turtle."

Don't turn turtle, whatever may come;
Keep right side up and in step to the drum;
They falter who flounder and turn up their toes;
They conquer who smile when the hurricane blows!

Don't turn turtle; the tempests are sore,
And the hail's in the wind and the wild torrents pour;
But stand by the tiller and keep her dead straight
For the wide open seas where the red sunsets wait!

Don't turn turtle and roll on your side.
But keep on the top when the waves override;
A face to the battle, a fist to the foe,
And a smile when the hurricanes rattle and blow!

THE automobile has come into use on the Western deserts and time and space have been saved by the mining prospectors, who have dashed here and there through what was once considered an impassable section of the country. Last week, however, a young man started in an automobile from Yuma and the next day he died as the result of the terrible exposure to the sun's rays. The desert has been conquered to a marked extent, but even the automobile does not seem able to mitigate the awful heat. Yet so long as gold and silver are to be found there just that long will men go in search of it, and in spite of the dangers that maintain.

GOV CROTHERS ON BRYAN'S SPEECH

Gov. Crothers, like the true blue Democrat that he is, has gone to work for the Democratic ticket and of Bryan's speech of acceptance says:

"There is not a thing in the Democratic platform that threatens in the slightest degree to interfere with the legitimate industries of the country. It recognizes the great benefits of corporations and their necessity in developing the great industries in the country, but it does raise its voice against stock gambling and trust magnates, who ask at all times that they may not be interferred with in their selfish and dishonest career of stock-watering and other dishonest acts, against the interests of the people."

DEATH'S DOINGS.

J. GILBERT NEWTON.

J. Gilbert Newton, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Newton, died Saturday evening last of St. Vitus' dance superinduced by rheumatism and aggravated by a fear of hydrophobia. About a year ago the unfortunate young man was bitten by a rabid dog. He was sent to the Pasteur institute for treatment and was discharged as cured. He had brooded constantly over the possibility of rabies until he had become so hysterically nervous that the most efficacious remedies were applied in vain. He was an industrious and well disposed youth and his death is a sad blow to his parents. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon conducted by Rev. W. L. White; the bearers were Romie Patrick, Clifton Cooper, Alfred Boone, Frank Lambert, Harvey Blyman, Richard Herman; interment in Chester cemetery. Undertaker J. E. Ferguson had charge of arrangements.

JOSEPH STOOPS.

Mr. Joseph Stoops, son of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Stoops, of Lankford, died last Sunday morning of consumption, aged 27 years. The deceased was a young man of good character and well thought of by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the home of his parents, conducted by Rev. W. L. White interment in Chester cemetery. The pall bearers were Oliver, Price, Howard and Rolph Stoops, Beverly Hyland and Grover Hadaway. Undertaker Charles L. Dodd had charge of funeral arrangements.

MRS. VIRGINIA COAHRAN.

Mrs. Virginia Coahran, wife of Mr. A. Coahran, of Church Hill, died Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock after about a year's illness of tuberculosis, with which she had been confined to her bed for the past three months. Mrs. Coahran was 73 years of age and is survived by a daughter and a son, viz: Miss Mary Coahran, of Church Hill, and Mr. W. J. Evans, of Baltimore, being twice married.

THE orchard of Mr. B. F. Rash presented a beautiful sight this week. He has 300 Elberta trees, full of finely colored fruit and good size.

W. J. BRYAN ACCEPTS.

William J. Bryan, in accepting the nomination for the presidency, aroused wild enthusiasm by his arraignment of the methods of conducting the nation's business by the Senate and House of Representatives.

This is believed to mark the beginning of an anti-Cannon campaign.

He declared that if elected he would call a special session of Congress and would bring before it the question of the popular election of Senators.

"Shall the people rule?" he said, "is declared by our platform to be the overshadowing question, for whether we consider any of the numerous problems which press for solution we shall find that the real question involved in each is whether the Government shall remain a mere business asset of favor-seeking corporations or be an instrument in the hands of the people for the advancement of the common weal."

He declared that the Democratic party aims at reformation and not revolution, and for the rest his address was largely a denunciation of the Republican party.

Lincoln was wild with enthusiasm and many thousands came from outside the town for the notification ceremony.

The affair was nonpartisan in that the Republican Governor and other State officials participated.

GOVERNOR CROTHERS will not take a vacation this year, but within the next three weeks he plans to take a trip of inspection down the bay on one of the State oyster boats to study the working of the new Oyster Culture law. The Governor announced his intention and said he wished more than anything else to familiarize himself with the law and all its workings before the next Legislature, so as to be able to pass upon the merits of any bills relating to the subject which may be placed before him. The Governor will probably spend four or five days on the trip. The members of the Shell Fish Commission will be his hosts.

PROFITABLE FARMER'S MEETING.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Rich Neck Farmer's Club was held at the home of Judge Chas. H. Jefferson Thursday, August 6th, afternoon session being held in yard under the beautiful shade trees, the ladies occupying porches.

"Growing tomatoes for profit," was discussed by Mr. Clifton L. Jarrell and Mr. H. H. Klinefelter, other members participating. Result—It pays to grow tomatoes. After luncheon of the finest order, the subject "Should Peach Culture be Encouraged?" was taken up and disposed of with an emphatic No from a large majority of members.

Question for September meeting: "Wheat Culture and Saving Corn Blades versus Shredding Whole Fodder."

The following persons were present:

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Klinefelter, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Skipper, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Crossley, Mr. and Mrs. Will Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Story, Mr. and Mrs James Newnam, Mr. and Mrs. Budd Potts, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Green, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jefferson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. White, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Hurlock, Rev. L. Janney and son, Mrs. W. C. Jester, Mrs. H. M. Howard, Mrs. B. KITTY KNIGHT IN A CRASH

Men In Small Craft Were On Their Way To Schooner When Accident Occured Off Chase's Wharves.

One man drowned and three injured and the almost total destruction of a gasoline launch were the results of a collision about 4.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon between the launch and the steamer Kitty Knight, Capt. John Welsh, on her trip to Sassafras river landings.

Capt. William H. Haskell, of the Boston schooner Mertie B. Crowley, with Charles Johnson and Nils Gaber, two seamen, were on their way down the harbor bound to the schooner, which was at Port Covington coal piers loading for Providence. The launch was owned and in charge of George Nada. On board also were the stores purchased by Captain Haskell for the use of his vessel on the trip. At the time of the accident the steamer and launch, both bound out, were off Chase's wharves, foot of Caroline street.

The Knight and the launch came together on the port side of the launch, which filled with water. Her house was crushed like paper, and the position of the four men inside was made serious by this being carried away and upon them. All sprang into the water when released and made desperate efforts to save themselves. Captain Haskell said he was held up by catching a box that floated from the stores, and narrowly escaped being struck by the paddlewheel. Nada and Seaman Johnson held themselves afloat until rescued by Wever's tug Baltimore, which was close by attending a dredge of the Maryland Dredging Company, working in the channel. The tug also rescued Capt. Haskell. Gaber kept up until nearly safe, but was making his third descent when grabbed at by Johnson, who missed him. He then disappeared among watermelons, cantaloupes and ship stores that floated in the vicinity.

The accident was seen from the deck of of the revenue cutter Apache, lying at Chase's wharves, and it was not three minutes before a fully manned cutter was at work ready for assistance. Its crew saved the launch and towed it to Gill's wharves. The Sunbeam brought Johnson to the city and turned him over to Mr. Foley, agent of the Union Seamen's Association, through which he and Gaber had shipped on the Crowley.

The Knight stopped a few minutes after the accident, but, not being able to assist, proceeded on her way to the Sassafras.

Capt. Haskell was taken to his vessel by a tug. He was badly injured on the left side, as an examination showed after he went on board. Seaman Johnson was badly cut about the legs. The drowned sailor was a Swede, 33 years old, and made his home in Baltimore with John Sherling, 725 South Broadway.

The accident will be investigated by the United States Steamboat Inspectors, to whom the master of the steamer must make his report.
