RED

Red is the color of danger, whether on the semaphore or on the skin. When the face is reddened by eruptions, when boils break out on the body, or the angry red of sores and ulcers is displayed in the flesh, it is nature's danger signal. The blood is obstructed and tainted by impurities, and there can be no safety until the blood is made pure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood, and removes the effete matter which clogs and corrupts it. It cures pimples, boils, eczema, scrofula, sores, ulcers and other consequences of impure blood.

"I feel greatly thankful for what your medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. Chas. Hood, of Kalkaska, Mich. "I suffered with scrofula of the head for twelve years. Tried every kind of medicine that I heard of but found no cure. Every one that looked at my head said they never saw anything like it. The last doctor I doctored with before applying to you I got worse every day. Was so miserable that I was unable to do any work at all. After taking two or three bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and using the local treatment you prescribed for me, I was cured and my head was entirely free from scrofula."

Accept no substitute for Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. There is no other medicine which is "just as good" for diseases of the blood and the eruptions which are caused by the blood's impurity.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send twenty-one one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or thirty-one stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DETECTIVE INSTINCT.

Civilians Frequently Are Better Sleuths Than Professionals.

"The detective instinct is inborn in some people," observed an old detective, "and it is a rather curious thing when you think about it. I have known good detectives, naturally so, who were never connected in any manner with the service. They possess all the mental qualities of a sleuth—quickness to grasp a situation, keen perception, rapidity of thought, strongly developed power of deduction and extreme nervous activity. While it is true all great detectives have acquired distinction through hard work and unflagging application, it is also true that many men have the detective impulse so firmly welded into their natures that it will crop out in spite of themselves.

"And I may say in passing it is useful to them in many ways, for not only operatives, but business men of every description, frequently need those peculiar faculties which go to make up a criminal chaser. I once knew a man who had the instinct so strongly developed that he thought of nothing else than the unraveling of mysteries and chasing clews. He found something of interest in the slightest case of theft and would amuse himself by working it out. It became a mania with him, and he was a source of much amusement to the officers. There was never a murder day or night that he was not among the first on the scene, and his peculiar talents frequently enabled him to lend valuable assistance to the regular force."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Rufus Choate Was Beaten.

As one of the very few occasions when the wit of Rufus Choate was foiled an incident is recalled when that brilliant lawyer was examining one Dick Barton, chief mate of the ship Challenge. Choate had cross examined him for over an hour, hurling questions with the speed of a rapid fire gun.

"Was there a moon that night?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you see it?"

"No, sir."

"Then how did you know there was a moon?"

"The 'Nautical Almanac' said so, and I'll believe that sooner than any lawyer in the world."

"Be civil, sir. And now tell me in what latitude and longitude you crossed the equator."

"Ah, you are joking."

"No, sir. I am in earnest, and I desire an answer."

"That's more than I can give."

"Indeed. You a chief mate and unable to answer so simple a question!"

"Yes, the simplest question I ever was asked. I thought even a fool of a lawyer knew there's no latitude at the equator."—Success.

Snake Killing Cats of Cairo.

A native woman living in old Cairo was entering her house when, to her great terror, she perceived a snake of formidable dimensions, which had taken possession of the hearth during the woman's absence. The woman fled, leaving the door open. Her cat then appeared on the scene, entered, saw the cobra, put up its back and tail, spat and otherwise manifested its hostility and in turn went out. A few minutes afterward it returned in company with a second cat. After a similar exhibition both went out and returned with a third, and similarly went away, returning finally with a fourth. Considering that sufficient force had been recruited to kill the snake, the four at once fell on the reptile, and after a short but fierce struggle the latter was literally torn to pieces.—Egyptian Gazette.

Embarrassing to the Guest.

A tourist in the Welsh mountains who had been caught in a storm and who after much difficulty had succeeded in making his way to a solitary cottage congratulated himself on his good fortune when he was asked to stay for the night. After donning a suit of his host's clothes, so that his own might be dried, he proceeded downstairs and on his way met the mistress with a big Bible in her hand. In the fading light she mistook the stranger for her husband and gave him a thump on the head with it, remarking, "That's for asking the man to stay all night."

A Woman's Wish.

Mrs. Housekeep—My husband has been complaining a good deal of late because his dinner has not been served on time.

Mrs. Clubb—Gracious! I wish mine would.

Mrs. Housekeep—You do?

Mrs. Clubb—Yes; because he'd have to come home earlier to do it.—Philadelphia Press.

Lack of Judgment.

"Was you really plannin' to run away with the hired girl?" asked the old farmer disgustedly.

"That's what I was thinkin' of doin'," admitted his son.

"Ain't you got any sense at all?" demanded the old man. "Don't you know that hired girls is harder to get than daughters-in-law?"—Chicago Post.

A Bright Thought.

"Yes, ma'am," said the obsequious grocery clerk to Mrs. Bridey, who was ordering her first bill of supplies, "I've put down parlor matches. What next?"

"Well—er—I suppose I ought to have some kitchen matches, too, oughtn't I?"—Detroit Free Press.

"He's what I call a good fellow."

"At home or at the club?"—Exchange.

RICHARD D. HYNSON, Attorney.

Order of Publication.

Richard D. Hynson vs
J. Charles Armstrong and Jennie C. Armstrong his wife, John E. Armstrong and Eva Armstrong his wife, William P. Armstrong and Lillian Armstrong his wife, Annie P. Gears and Cyrus Gears her husband, Eva St. Clair Armstrong and J. Charles Armstrong administrator of John Armstrong, deceased.

In the Circuit Court for Kent county, in Equity.

No. 1505.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain property in Kent County, Maryland, which was owned by John Armstrong in his lifetime.

The Bill states that the said John Armstrong was in his lifetime indebted unto Richard D. Hynson in the full sum of twelve hundred dollars on his certain promissory note, bearing date the fourth day of October in the year nineteen hundred and one, payable four months after date thereof, which said note was assigned by the said Richard D. Hynson to the Chestertown National Bank of Maryland, for value received, and that said Bank, for value received reassigned said note to the said Richard D. Hynson.

That the said John Armstrong was, also in his lifetime indebted unto the said Richard D. Hynson in the full sum of one hundred dollars on his certain promissory note dated thirtieth day of May in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, payable with interest thirty days after date thereof.

That the said John Armstrong being so indebted as aforesaid unto the said Richard D. Hynson and also unto divers other persons and having Real Estate of great value and with little personal estate, departed this life on or about the month of April in the year nineteen hundred and two, leaving a last will and testament, unmarried, but leaving the following nephews and nieces surviving him and who are his only heirs at law: J Charles Armstrong, whose wife is Jennie C. Armstrong, who resides in the city of Philadelphia and State of Pennsylvania, John E. Armstrong, whose wife is Eva Armstrong, who reside in Kent county and State of Maryland, William Pryor Armstrong whose wife is Lillie Armstrong, who reside in the city of Washington, District of Columbia; Annie P. Gears formerly Annie P. Armstsoug, and who intermarried with Cyrus Gears, who reside in Kent county in the State of Delaware, and Eva St. Clair Armstrong, (unmarried), who resides in Queen Annes county and State of Maryland.

That letters of administration on the small personal estate of the said John Armstrong have been granted by the Orphans' Court for Cecil county State of Maryland, to the said J. Charles Armstrong, of the city of Philadelphia and State of Pennsylvania.

That said John Armstrong's personal estate is insufficient to discharge all his just debts owing at the time of his death, and any deficiency in said personal estate ought to be supplied by a sale of all, or so much thereof as may be necessary of the Real Estate of the aforesaid debtor.

That the said J. Charles Armstrong, as administrator of the personal estate of the said John Armstrong, deceased, has wholly refused to pay any part of the aforesaid claims or to render unto them any account of the personal estate of the said John Armstrong, if any he has in hand.

It is, thereupon, this 7th day of December, 1903, ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent County, in equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper printed and published in Kent county aforesaid, once in each of three successive weeks before the 11th day of January, 1904, gives notice to the said absent defendants of the object and substance of this Bill warning them to appear in this court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 27th day of January next, to show cause if any they have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.
