SKATING CARNIVAL.

Chestertown Lovers of the Art Enjoy Fine Sport on the River.

Chester river has been the scene this week of annimation and fine sport. Skating has not been finer in many years, and lovers of the sport have indulged their passion to their heart's content. A beautiful sheet of smooth ice, ten inches in thickness covered the river, and some of the skaters have ventured so far as Rolphs. Ice boats, those white winged flyers of winter sport, glide swiftly up and down the glassy way, making a scene of beauty and rare pleasure. Notwithstanding the extreme cold weather of the past three or four days the river has been crowded every afternoon with gay crowds, enjoying the fun. Capt. Jas. Dunbracco, Captain Percy Rawleigh and George Quelett afforded some interesting amusement with their "flying machines" and have given some very exciting exhibitions of racing on the ice. There are many fine skaters in Chestertown, especially among the ladies, but perhaps the most fantastic skater in town is Mr. Elwood Baker, who is an expert in the art of cutting intricate designs and graceful glides. Among the lady skaters Misses Mary Rogers, Anna Lambert, Jennie Copper, Mary Fleming, Margaret Plummer, Jennie Hines, Lottie Wickes, Janie Cooper, Mrs. T. W. Eliason, Mrs. Wilbur Eliason, Mrs. J. D. Urie, Mrs. George Brice, Mrs. Emory Wroth, Mrs. Thos. W. Perkins and Mrs. Wm. W. Beck are very graceful on their skates. Among the many seen on the ice were W. W. Hubbard, J. D. Lucas, nearly every boy in the college as well as the young lady students, Misses Jefferson, Lillian Stam, Lillie Fowler, Elizabeth Connelly, Helen Urie, Mary Knight, Betty Pattison, Carolene Hynson, Gladys Aldridge, Laura Lambert, Rebecca Aldridge, Miriam Hubbard, Messrs. Moore, David B. Ford, Newnam, Jefferson, Dr. Charles R. Twilley Eben F. Perkins, Thomas W. Perkins, Henry Deaver, Thomas Massey, H. P. Skipper, Prof. Burris, Jack Duyer, Joseph Burchinal, William Duyer, Harry Jefferson, Arlington Sparks, Harry Cannon, Scott Beck and many others.

NAVIGATION CLOSED.

Nearly all the Steamboat Lines Out of Baltimore Tied up by the Freeze.

Chesapeake Bay and tributaries are practically closed to all lines of steamboats. Baltimore barbor is ice-blocked, and if the freeze continues for several days, even the large steamers of the Old Bay Line and the Merchants and Miners may be compelled to discontinue trips. Conditions are worse now than at any other time during the winter. Not only are the rivers and lower bay tightly frozen, but the channel has a covering of ice ranging from 3 to 18 inches in thickness. The harbor, even in the vicinity of Light street, is frozen over in some places to a thickness of two and three inches despite the traffic of tugs. From Sparrow's Point down to Cove Point and even beyond it is stated that the ice is thick, and fast forming even 100 miles down the bay. The ice around Love Point Light is piled high on all sides and presents a scene of the most abject loneliness. The ice on Chester river is reported to be from 10 to 14 inches thick, and unless the weather moderates very considerably there will be no communication between river landings and Baltimore for some weeks.

At the appointed hour, 8 o'clock, by the march rendered by Mrs. John Broenining, a cousin of the bride, the elected bride and groom followed Miss Helen Stephens, maid of honor, to the parlor and were met by the Rev. F. H. Lewis, pastor of Mt. Royal M. P. Church, who performed the ceremony. The bridal party stood under a beautiful arch of evergreen, where the ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. J. M. Sheridan, pastor of St. James M. P. Church. A charming reception followed the ceremony at which many friends (about 75) of the happy couple were present. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler will make their future home on the Bacon farm, near Hanesville. They were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents.

SMITH—LEGAR.

Emory Smith, of Sudlersville, and Miss Mamie E. Legar, a popular school teacher of Queen Anne's county, and daughter of Mr. Richard Legar, of Crumpton. The couple marched up the aisle to the strains of Lohengrin's march, beautifully rendered by Mrs. Wm. A. Robinson, and were united in holy wedlock by Rev. W. O. Bennett, pastor of the church. Miss Lula D. Legar, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. The ushers were Messrs. John and Charles Smith, N. A. Wallen and Dell Fox. The bride was beautifully attired in white silk moussaeline peau de soie, trimmed with hand-embroidery, and carried carnations and lillies of the valley. The bridal veil was caught with lillies of the valley. The bridesmaid was dressed in white moussaeline voile with point lace collar. Farmers' Institute.

The attention of farmers and all others interested in the Farmer's Institute is called to the meetings to be held at the Court House, Chestertown, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. A full attendance is desired. The programme was published in the TRANSCRIPT last Saturday.

The institute will be addressed by Mr. W. F. Massey, of North Carolina. Mr. Massey was educated at Washington College, this town, and Dickinson College, Pa. In Kent county, Maryland he established a commercial florist enterprise, and was for years Secretary, Examiner and Treasurer of the Public Schools. Later took charge of the horticultural interests of the Ridgely estate in Baltimore county, Maryland, for over six years. Moving to Old Point Comfort, Va., he started a farm for the supplying of the Hygeia Hotel, which promised to be a great success, but was cut short by the sudden death of Mr. Phoebus, the owner of the Hygeia, who was interested in the enterprise. Just at this time the Trustees of the Miller School of Albemarle County, Va., a richly endowed institution for manual training, invited him to organize and conduct the Agricultural department of the school, and to improve the farm of 1200 acres connected therewith. Four years were spent there successfully. The Board of Trustees of the newly organized College of Agriculture of North Carolina, offered him the chair of Horticulture and the position of Horticulturist to the Experiment Station, which he accepted. Twelve years were spent in this College, when, having accepted the editorship of the Practical Farmer, he resigned the college chair and retained the position on the Station staff which he has held for the past fourteen years. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the National Geographic Society, and Farmers National Congress and the North Carolina Horticultural Society.
