ONE LUNG

May be gone and yet the remaining lung will be amply sufficient to sustain a vigorous vitality. As a general thing few people make more use of both lungs than is equivalent to a healthy use of one lung.

These facts are all in the favor of the man or woman with weak lungs, even when disease has a strong grip on them.

Many a person living in health to-day has the lungs marked by the healed scars of disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding lungs and other conditions, which, if neglected or unskilfully treated, find a fatal termination in consumption.

"I had been troubled with lung disease and pleurisy for a number of years and the trouble had almost become chronic," writes A. S. Elam, of Howe, Ia. "Had several kinds of medicine from different physicians without much benefit. At last wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce and got his advice, and began using his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have used twenty-five bottles. When I commenced taking it I had no appetite, my system was completely run-down, had no ambition to do anything. Now I feel better than I did before I got sick. Have a good appetite and am able to do my work. I sincerely recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to all who are afflicted as I was."

Those who suffer from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

THE OUTLOOK.

Present indications point to early activity among the farmers and mechanics, notwithstanding the long severe winter through which we have just passed. Already there are signs of restlessness on the farm and in the shop—tokens of renewed confidence in the reward of honest toil. At the beginning of Spring, farmers, mechanics and housewives will need new implements and new appliances in the prosecution of their work. Farmers will need the Breed Your Best Brood Sows.

So long as the farmer sells the best because they bring the highest prices, whether in hogs, cattle or horses, he will never make any improvement in the breed of his stock. The quality of the cattle stock of the country depreciated very rapidly during the hard times in the 90's because the buyer would buy only the best, and if the farmer must sell he sold the best and it will take some time yet to recover that lost ground, says Wallace's Farmer. The same was true with horses during the same period, and to a certain extent with hogs also.

The greatest trouble with the hogs of the corn belt is that they are too short, too much disposed to put on fat, and too good lookers. We would send every gilt of this character to the fattening pen without a moment's hesitation, and prefer the long deep and broad gilt, one of a large litter, well nourished, from a dam that had both good sense and was a good suckler.

The milking qualities of the brood sow can be improved quite as much as those of the dairy cow. We cannot, of course, submit the milk of the brood sow to the Babcock test and find out its per cent. of fat, but we can determine by the growth of the pigs whether it serves the chief end and purpose of sow's milk; therefore, it is much easier to select a profitable milker among the brood sows than among the cows in the dairy.

Selection, however, is not all. These young gilts must be properly fed. Do not, we beg of you, put them on an all-corn diet. Do not treat them as you do the barrow or the culled gilts intended for the fattening pen. Do not let them get their exclusive feed from the droppings of corn fed cattle. Give them a flesh forming and bone forming diet—clover, hay, oats—as at least part of their ration. Do not feed these gilts for fat. Feed enough for growth and development for vitality. Mate properly, and you will have no reason to complain of results next year.

Gems of Thought.

To cultivate kindness is a valuable part of the business of life.—Johnson.

Great effort from great motives is the best definition of a happy life.—Channing.

We can hardly learn humility and tenderness enough except by suffering.—George Eliot.

Skeptics are generally ready to believe anything, provided it is only sufficiently improbable; it is at matters of fact that such people stumble.—Von Knebel.

The best time to give up a bad habit is before you begin it, and the next best time is when you have discovered that it is a bad habit.—United Presbyterian.

No man can pass into eternity for he is already in it. The dull brute globe moves through its ether and knows it not; even so our souls are bathed in eternity, and we are never conscious of it.—F. W. Farrar.

The humblest man or woman can live splendidly! That is the royal truth that we need to believe, you and I who have no "mission," no great sphere to move in. The universe is not quite complete without my work well done.—W. C. Gannett.

"What does it signify whether I go to the bottom or not, so long as I didn't skulk?—or, rather," and here the old man took off his hat and looked up, "so long as the Great Captain has His way and things is done to His mind ?"—George Macdonald.

If you wish to know whether you are a Christian inquire of yourself whether, in and for the love of god, you seek to make happy those about you by smiles and pleasant sayings. Are you a comfortable person to live with? Are pou pleasant to have about ?—Gail Hamilton.

Breeds on Dairy Farms.

The production of milk and butter is not only profitable to those who engage in such industries, but furnishes an available method of disposing of other productions of the farm by converting them into ready-selling and desirable articles. It is creditable to the dairymen that they have succeeded as well as they have, but a large majority of them need more education and judgment in the selection and management of dairy stock. The yards and dairies of dairymen disclose the fact that some of them are deficient in knowledge regarding the qualtities of the several breeds. In most cases all kinds of cows—large, small, of no particular breeding—and of every color, are found. These are bred from animals that possess no merit, pedigree or power to transmit desirable quality to young stock. It is true there are good cows in every barnyard, cows of no particular strain, but every dairyman has it in his power to possess a herd of cows uniform in color, qualities and production. A cow intended as a milker is fitted for nothing else if she is up to the standard. Her duty is to convert food into milk and not beef. She should possess no points that indicate a tendency to fatten or produce beef. She is a machine for a specific purpose—the conversion of food into milk. If she is intended to produce butter the milk must be very rich in fat. As a butter producing cow she is not then expected to fill the pail, but to give rich milk. She is a butter-producer, not a great milker, nor a beef-producer.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Hard for any woman to do housework—to attend to daily duties with a constantly aching back. Every woman should learn the cause of backache and the cure.

Doan's Kidney Pills

relieve a bad back and cure it—cure every kidney and bladder disorder, from backache to complicated cases.

Mrs. Sarah Walmer, widow of the late Jacob Walmer, the wagon maker of Union Deposit, who spent thirty-one years of her life in that corporation, but is now living with relatives at the corner of North Sixth and Peffer streets, Harrisburg, Pa., says: "From a fall I received on a wet boardwalk in my yard about sixteen years ago, when I injured my back, I had any amount of trouble with my kidneys, having severe backache very near all the time. It hurt me to stoop or lift anything of ordinary weight. Many times at night I could not turn in bed on account of sharp pains. Medicine did very little to relieve, and I had about given up taking any when I saw such glowing accounts of Doan's Kidney Pills. I concluded to try just once again, and I got a box of them at Forney & Knouse's drug store, on Market street. They did me a wonderful amount of good and relieved my aching back."
