STATE SCHOOL LAW.

Summary of Its Features By Supt. M. Bates Stephens.

To the members of the County School Boards of the State of Maryland,

GENTLEMEN:—In view of the fact that a bill known as the "General Educational Bill" passed by the legislature and is now a law, I have thought it is proper to give a summary of the features of the present laws wherein they differ from those of the old school law. I deem this all the more necessary because the revised school laws have not been published:

1. The office of the State Board of Education and State Superintendent of Education will be transferred from Baltimore to Annapolis. You will be notified when this transfer is made.

2. The State Board of Education is now composed of eight members consisting of six to be appointed by the Governor and the Governor and the State Superintendent of Education. The terms of the members of the State Board correspond to those of the county School Commisioners and minority representation is provided.

3. The State Superintendent of Public Education is secretary of the State Board of Education.

4. The official title of the Secretary of the County School Board is "Secretary, Treasurer and County Superintendent." The name "Examiner" does not occur in the new law.

5. The Secretary, Treasurer, and County School Superintendent is appointed in the month of May when the Board is organized but does not enter upon his new duties until the beginning of the scholastic year, August first.

6. Trustees must be appointed first day of May or first meeting thereafter which must be held in month of May.

7. Principal teacher is appointed by the Board of Trustees and becomes the secretary of the Board of District Trustees.

8. All assistant teachers are appointed by the County School Boards.

9. County School Boards are given authority to consolidate schools when desirable and practicable and to pay charges of transportation.

10. The Normal School at Frostburg, the Normal Department of Washington College, the Maryland State Normal School and the Baltimore Colored Normal School are under the supervision of the State Board of Education.

11. The free book fund is $150,000, and the expenditures of same are limited to text book and supplementary reading books and maps of Maryland. All text books are to be adopted and purchased by the County School Boards.

12. Diplomas of State Normal Schools from other states may be endorsed by the State Superintendent of Education.

13. The minimum County School tax rate is now fifteen cents.

14. The State School tax rate is fifteen cents instead of ten and one half as heretofore.

15. Teachers of white schools where the average annual attendance of pupils is fifteen or more shall receive as salary for the year not less than three hundred dollars and such schools shall remain open not less than nine months. Schools where the average is less than 15 are in the control of the county School Board who determine the school year and the amount of salary to be paid the teacher.

16. Where the School Board fails to provide a school year of nine months and the minimum salary of $300 to white teachers whose school averages fifteen, the Comptroller will withhold the March installment of the school tax.

17. There is no seperate fund for colored schools. All matters pertaining to colored schools are left with the County School Board.

18. The State School tax is now apportioned on the basis of children (colored and white) between the ages of 5 and 20 as disclosed by the census.

19. The Academic and free school funds are not affected by the new law.

20. The new law went into effect from the date of its passage. All state taxes for the coming fiscal year will be collected on the new rate of 22½ cents.

21. In counties containing more than eighty five schools the School Board may employ a clerk. Where the number of teachers exceeds 175 they may also employ an assistant County Superintendent.

22. The Pension fund for teachers was increased to $25,000 annually.

These are the main provisions which I trust will meet your needs until you can obtain a printed pamphlet containing the laws as revised.

Yours very truly,
M. BATES STEPHENS.

An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S.C., News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea and so severe were the pains that we called a physician who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents we were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, editor. This remedy is for sale by M. A. Toulson, druggist.

Our Peerless Gretchen Corsets.

Some women stop at no expense in the selection of material and trimmings for a new gown, but hesitate to pay the prices that have to be given for corsets of the very best sort. Yet the success of a new gown depends very largely upon the shapeliness of the corset over which it is fitted.

We do not hesitate to say that the corset which most nearly approaches perfection, not only in its lines but in the workmanship, is our own peerless Gretchen; and it is a fact that many of the best modistes in Baltimore and elsewhere are now unwilling to fit a fine costume over any other corset. The remarkable success of the Gretchen—and it has easily won first place among corsets—is based entirely on its merit.

Our Gretchen is the corset that "feels as though one had no corset on." Comfort is combined with the utmost grace. Yet the Gretchen brings out the better lines of one's figure most beautifully.

No woman who has once worn a Gretchen is ever quite satisfied with any other make: and our spring stock contains a model for every figure.

Gretchen Corsets are priced from $2.50 to $7.50.

Run Over By a Train—Unhurt.

Two boys, aged twelve and thirteen, respectively, sons of Robert Meads, a colored farmer living near Greenwood, Del., came near losing their lives on Sunday last but they were not at all concerned about it; in fact they didn't know it until danger had passed. They were watching some stock grazing near the Queen Anne's Railroad track, and sitting in the warm sunshine near the ends of railroad ties they, watch worn and weary, fell asleep, as was there want under such circumstances. They had not heard of the Sunday train coming that way. The engineer saw the little ebony objects just a little way ahead, whistled shrilly repeatedly, in vain. They slept on, and the express, which could not be stopped on such short notice, flew by, coming to a stand still a short distance beyond the spot where the train men thought a horrible accident had occurred. Looking back the train men saw that one of the little pickaninnies was on his feet and he was shouting at his brother to wake up! He had received a very slight wound on one finger which had rested on the track while he slept. The other showed a small bump on his little woolly head, which had lain only an inch or two from the iron rail. The on-running locomotive had hardly touched them, but the force of the wind had evidently pushed them out of the way, for they had rolled some distance down the bank, one of them without waking until his brother called. "Beat's the worl, how dem boys 'scaped," said Bob, who was in Denton Tuesday, " and I'm powe'ful glad dey rolled away from the kyars and not under 'em. Couldn't get along 'thout de boys."
