Important News for Anyone

The time has come that every person should know how to take care of their eyes and not to buy glasses from peddlers or so-called traveling Opticians who have no right to ruin people's eyes.

To prevent this I will advise you not to wait until some peddler will come around to sell you a pair of glasses. You will do justice to your eyes by coming to Chestertown to have your EYES TESTED and GLASSES fitted to the eyes and not the eyes to the glasses.

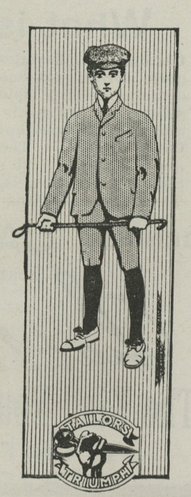

Respectfully,
A. LEVINE.

NOTICE TO HOLDERS OF BURIAL LOTS IN CHESTER CEMETERY.

The Chester Cemetery Company by recent action of its Board is now prepared to enter into a contract with its lot owners to keep their lots in first-class order perpetually. This guarantees the owner that his lot will be taken care of, not only after his death but even after the death of all the family.

There is no sadder sight in a cemetery than to see the lot of a one time prosperous owner in weeds, briars, overgrowth, bushes, &c., and for reason that the family have either all died, removed or else forgotten their duty to the remains of their ancestor.

Those who secure a contract as above will have no apprehensions of this fate to their lots. For terms apply to JOHN H. SIMPERS,
Treasurer Chester Cemetery Co.,

MILLINGTON IN ASHES

Entire Business Section of the Pretty Little Town Wiped Out.

MANY FAMILIES HOMELESS.

POSTOFFICE, BANK, P. E. CHURCH, HOTELS AND EVERY STORE IN THE TOWN GONE.

Loss Between $100,000 and $150,000, With Little Insurance.

What was only a few days ago a prosperous and beautiful North Kent town, with well-kept streets and beautiful homes, is now scarcely more than a charred and desolate mass of ruins, for Millington, the pride of the people of Northern Kent, was visited on Tuesday by a conflagration that has wiped out of existence the entire business section of the town.

The fire caught about 4 o'clock in the afternoon from a spark in the flue of Wm. H. Loper's blacksmith shop in the centre of the town and in ten minutes after it had started three buildings were in flames, and as a strong wind was blowing from the south, the flames spread so rapidly that it was realized that the entire town was doomed to destruction unless assistance could be procured immediately. President of the Board of Town Commissioners, John P. Ahern, telegraphed to Wilmington for a part of that city's fire department at 5 o'clock. Meanwhile the entire population of the town, men, women and children, fought like beavers to check the progress of the flames, but having no apparatus save buckets, they were unable to do any effective work. The fire raged strongly towards the western section of the town where the cozy residences are situated until the approach of a thunder storm shifted the wind from the south to the northwest, and, blown with terrible force, the sparks and burning ember soon ignited the business section of the town, and before a portion of the Wilmington fire department, consisting of two engines, 200 men and 6000 feet of hose, arrived, the entire heart of the town was a mass of smouldering ruins. Men, whose accumulations of years lay in the path of the fell destroyer, were compelled to stand helpless and see it all dashed from them in almost a twinkling. But in the midst of the appalling disaster the brave people of the once beautiful little town worked like beavers to save their own property, or that of their neighbors. Assistance from Wilmington reached the town at 8 o'clock, too late to do anything else than extinguish the smouldering ruins. The firemen, with the assistance of the residents of the town, were not long in getting the fire under controll and by eleven o'clock the flames were out. To add to the horror of the night, a drenching rain fell from eleven o'clock till early morning, and those who removed their furniture and beds to nearby lots for safety found them next morning ruined by the rain. The editors of the TRANSCRIPT were at the scene of the fire at a quarter to nine in the evening and remained in the town until the following morning. The town presented a deplorable condition. Here and there stood groups of homeless people, bereft of all their belongings, some of them not having a change of clothing, and their means of livelihood cut off; but with all they were brave and viewed the calamity calmly. All over the town were families without shelter or food, but through the energy of the church authorities and Town Commissioners ample sleeping room was found. The two Methodist churches were not destroyed and these were converted into temporary dormitories where the firemen and those residents who had lost their homes found shelter for the night. The supply of provisions was cut off by the burning of every store, and it was with much difficulty that the firemen and destitute families were fed. President of the Board of Town Commissioners John P. Ahern was seen and made the following statement; "A terrible calamity has befallen our beautiful town, and it will be a long time before Millington recovers from the almost wholesale distruction that we have suffered. But I believe the energy and push of the people is such that they will use every effort to rehabilitate their town. In the absence of the proper fire apparatus the people of the town worked valiantly to save their property from destruction. The Wilmington fire department deserves especial mention for the promptness of their work and for their manner of handling a large fire. As far as I can estimate the damage, I would say that the loss will amount to between $150,000 and $200,000, with insurance of about $100,000." Telegrams offering assistance came from Supt. Holliday, of the P. B. & W. R. R and others, to all of which Commissioner Ahern replied that many were homeless and the entire stock of provisions in the town was destroyed. Among the buildings destroyed are the Town Hall, postoffice, two hotels, Millington Bank, (which had been in operation only two months), the P. E. church, and the P. B. & W. railroad office and warehouse. The fireproof vault of the bank remains intract, and the merchants of the town as well as the Building and Loan association succeeded in carrying all their books and valuable papers to places of safety. The rails of the P. B. & W. railroad were warped badly and passengers for Centreville and way stations were delayed until midnight.

The burned area covers ten acres, and the entire town is destroyed north and south of Cypress St. in an easterly direction from the residence of Dr. Jacobs on the north side and Dr. Comegy's on the south side of that street.

The residence of Mrs. A. E. Crane, one of the historic homes of the town, was destroyed.

The residence occupied by Mrs. Sue Lambert Vansant was saved after an heroic effort on the part of the inhabitants, although the fire burnt its way to within a few feet of the building. The residences of Drs. Jacobs and Comegys escaped destruction only through the most daring efforts on the part of the young men of the town and neighborhood. Among the individual losses are the following:

C. M. Hurtt, general merchandise, $6,000.
J. B. Hurlock, general merchandise, $1,500.
J. T. Manning, general merchandise, $800
E. A. Walls, $1,000.
H. H. Benneman, general merchandise, $8,000.
F. C. Numbers, music store, $1,500.
F. S. Bottomly, provisions, $1,500.
G. M. Hazel, boots and shoes, $1,200.
J. T. Power, drug store, $1,200.
L. A. Fallowfield, groceries, $1,500.
W. H. Loper, blacksmith, $1,000.
Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, $2,500.
T. A. Vansant, general merchandise, $600.
Feddeman & Collins, general merchandise, $3,500.
Millington Bank, $1,000.
Queen Annes and Kent Railroad Company, station and warehouse, $5,000.

In many instances the merchants did not own the buildings.

The losses on dwellings were as follows:
Sassafras street—Mrs. Mary Bottomly, $2,500.
E. W. Spear, $4,000.
E. Dasewski, $1,500.
T. M. Brinton, $1,500.
F. C. Numbers, $1,200.
Miss Fannie Hurtt, $2,000.
T. A. Vansant, $4,000.
M. E. Roser, $600.
L. H. Ross, $200.
Mrs. M. Spear, $700.
T. H. Harding, $1,500.
Mrs. George Davis, $200.
Mrs. M. Smith, $800.
J. T. Powers, $3,000.
Olin Duling, $1,000.
Cypress street—Mrs. A. Cramer, $3,000.
Mrs. M. Cale, $3,000.
Miss Vista Power, $2,000.
H. Tonkin, $2,000.
George Harrington, $1,000.
Richard Parr, $800.
Mrs. Manning, $1,500.
Mrs. Lewis Price, $1,500.
Mrs. Wittington, $500.
Mrs. S. Wilson, $700.
N. H. Clark, $700.
C. H. Harris, $700.
John G. Moore, $4,000.
Mrs. Jones, $1,500.
William Kelley, $500.
W. J. Porter, $1,200.
F. A. Emory, $2,500.
M. B. Hilyard, $3,000.
W. J. Tolson, $500.
John G. Moore, $4,000.
Thomas Harris, $300.
Robert Wilson, $1,000.

Most of the insurance is carried in the following companies:

The Kent Mutual of Kent county, between $12,000 and $15,000; The German American, represented by Mr. R. E. Feddeman, $5,000, and the Kent County Mutual, of Dover, Del., $15,000. Companies represented by Joseph N. Wheatley & Co. $1,500, James G. Beck's companies $3,000.

No plans have as yet been made for rebuilding the town, and nothing definite will be done until the insurance is adjusted. Temporary structures have been erected in which to transact business.

INCIDENTS OF THE FIRE.

During the progress of the fire the entire town seemed to be under perfect dicipline, for which the authorities are to be congratulated.

Emmanuel P. E. Church was the only one of the sacred edifices of the town to be destroyed. Many of the members seemed to mourn the loss of their church more than they did their store and household goods.

Telegraphic communication with the outside world was quickly established by station master Ahern, who, having saved his instruments, improvised a temporary office a few yards from the burned station.

One of the most pathetic sights that met our gaze was that of a woman early Wednesday morning walking along the street with a half burned sofa cushion and a little white flour sack filled with everything that she had saved from the wreck of her home. She seemed to be walking along aimlessly and her little boy, who was with her, said: "Mama, where are you going?" she replied, "Oh, my darling, I have no idea." She disappeared from sight.

An old colored woman who viewed the ruins next morning, said: "It might a been sent by de Lord, but it is cur'us."

Miss Clara Bryan, whose home is only a few yards from where the fire stopped on Cypress street, was in Chestertown, when the fire broke out. She hired a team and left Chestertown, driven by Mr. Robert McWhorter, in a blinding rain storm for Millington, where her mother was entirely alone. Miss Bryan was very much overjoyed to find her mother and home safe.

A number of thieves are said to have come down from Wilmington, Del., on the relief train with firemen, and much looting is reported. Sheriff Keyser and a posse of capable deputies are guarding what property is left.

Relief from nearby cities and towns is being offered, and it is being sent in so rapidly that there is no danger of starvation or extreme suffering.

Gov. Warfield ordered 40 tents sent to the stricken town and these arrived on Wednesday evening. Superintendent Holliday, at Clayton, ordered three large apartment cars to be sent to Millington and these having arrived, many of the homeless ones have been provided with temporary shelter.

Messrs. F. S. Bottomley and T. A. Vansant, although having lost all of their store goods, displayed commendable energy by going to Philadelphia on Wendnesday morning and laying in a stock of goods while their friends in the town erected for them temporary store buildings.

Relief Committees composed of the Town Commissioners and representative citizens of the town have been organized for distributing systematically the provisions and money sent by interested sympathizers.

The Town Commissioners are exerting every effort to bring quiet out of the terrible chaos and much is being done to provide for the needs of those most seriously affected by the fire.

TRANSCRIPT STARTS RELIEF FUND.

Citizens of Chestertown Respond Nobly With Money, Provisions and Clothing for the Fire Sufferers.

Having been on the scene of the terrible conflagration during the whole of Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning, and noting the evidences of great suffering among those least able to stand calamity, the editors of the TRANSCRIPT, upon their return to Chestertown, started a movement for a relief fund by placing a petition in the hands of Master Thomas Dixon, who did a splendid work in securing a large subscription. More than $400 had been subscribed at the time of gcing to press, and large boxes of provisions and clothing had been forwarded by Mrs. Carolene Hynson, Hope H. Barroll, Esq., C. S. Smith, Clifton L. Jarrell, D. A. Bacchus Thos. H. Topping, W. C. T. U., Mercy and Help Department of the Epworth League of the M. E. Church.

Chief Judge James Alfred Pearce and several of the prominent citizens of the town were consulted and became active participants in the movement for immediate relief.

The petition and list of contributors is as follows:

We, the undersigned citizens of Chestertown, do hereby subscribe the following amounts to the sufferers of the Millington fire:

The following letter speaks for itself:

Baltimore, Md., July 14th, 1904.

THE CHESTERTOWN TRANSCRIPT.—Gentlemen:—We see by the papers that one of your neighboring towns, Millington, has suffered severely by fire. We inclose our check for ten dollars, which please have put to the best use in releiving the suffering. Call on us for more if necessary.

Yours truly,
DOBLER & MUDGE.

A public meeting was called for yesterday evening to arrange systematic plans for collecting money, provisions and clothes. The meeting was addressed by Judge Pearce, and representatives from the various charitable societies of the churches were present. Arrangements were made for sending to Millington a large supply of provisions and clothes.

SCHOOL MATTERS.

County Superintendent, Jos. Peterson, has been conducting teachers examinations during the week. About 15 teachers and applicants took the examinations.

The School Board passed an order for thorough repairs to the school buildings at Kennedyville and Turner's Creek.

The old school building at Golt's has been sold for $25.

Prof. John W. Sutton, for the past two years principal of the Catt's Corner (Worton) School, has been appointed vice-principal of the Washington High School, Princess Anne, at a salary of $700 per year. Prof. Sutton is a graduate of Washington College, and a teacher of splendid executive ability. He is a young man of splendid habits and will be a marked success in his new position.
