Important News for Anyone.

The time has come that every person should know how to take care of their eyes and not to buy glasses from peddlers or so-called traveling Opticians who have no right to ruin people's eyes.

To prevent this I will advise you not to wait until some peddler will come around to sell you a pair of glasses. You will do justice to your eyes by coming to Chestertown to have your EYES TESTED and GLASSES fitted to the eyes and not the eyes to the glasses.

Respectfully,
A. LEVINE.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE.

OPENING OF WASHINGTON COLLEGE.

123rd Session to Begin on Wednesday With Prospects for the Largest Enrollment in the History of the College.

The 123rd session of old historic Washington College will begin on Wednesday morning next at nine o'clock, and the prospects are for one of the largest enrollments in the history of this honored institution. During the past year, under the able administration of President James W. Cain, LL. D., the institution has made marked advancement, not only in the character and standard of its students, but also in those conveniences and advantages which best fit an institution of learning for the work it is designed to do. Many modern ideas were introduced into the life of the institution with the coming of Dr. Cain, and with the assistance and hearty co-operation of the able faculty which the college has, there seems to be no doubt that the college is entering upon a new era of usefulness and progress. The opening of the college will reveal many changes for the better accommodation of the students than they enjoyed last year. In the first place the faculty has been so enlarged as to better equip the various departments of the college for the work of training the student. A perceptress has been employed and the normal department has been made a distinct feature of the institution, and placed under the supervision of the State Board of Education. This places the normal department of the college upon the same plane with the State Normal Schools of Baltimore and at Frostburg, and offers to its students as good if not better facilities for acquiring a certificate to teach anywhere in the State without an examination. Then, too, the comfort of the students has been considered and more dormitory room has been provided and more and larger recitation rooms have been arranged. Contractor Walter T. Pippin has improved the interior of the West building so as to give ample dormitory space and convenient study halls for the students who will use that building. The middle building has been somewhat rearranged so as to provide more recitation rooms, and other improvements are in progress which will afford the students as comfortable and as convenient accommodations as can be found in any college in the State. A new heating plant is being installed with the central force located in the middle building. Mr. Frank M. Miller has the contract for the work, and the plant is designed to heat the dormitories and recitation rooms of the entire college. This will be one of the greatest improvements as well as most needed conveniences at the college. Heretofore the rooms of the dormitories and recitation rooms have been heated by stoves, and no one knows better than the students and janitor what an inconvenience this has been. The heating plant will cost about $3300 and it is expected that the contractors will have the plant ready for service by the time cold weather sets in. Possibly the greatest improvement, certainly the most expensive one, will be the erection of a handsome administration building, to occupy a conspicuous place on the college campus. Plans for the building are being considered by the Board of Visitors and Governors and Dr. Cain, and as soon as a suitable design has been selected work will be commenced.

All of these improvements and enlarged facilities for educating the youth of the land indicate the influence of the introduction of modern ideas and tendencies, and are also an evidence that the Board of Visitors and Governors of this venerable institution of learning are alive to the needs of the times. The future prospects of the college are therefore very bright. Dr. Cain is not a man to sit idly by and take his ease while his competitors in education are making progress. He is a man skilled in his work, determined to succeed in his undertakings and anxious to put his institution in the front ranks of the great educational institutions of the country. With such co-operation as he is receiving from the Board of Visitors and Governors, and with the co-operation of his earnest and hardworking faculty he will yet make Washington College the peer of any instiution of its kind in the country. The prospects for a very large attendance this year are very flattering. Nearly all of last year's students will return and we are informed that the college will be taxed to its utmost to accommodate all those who have applied for entrance. Among the new students to enter college from Chestertown are the following: Misses Ethel Bacchus and Nellie Nicholson, and Mr. Oswald Saunders, of last year's class at the Chestertown public school, and Misses Rose Duyer and Nettie Sutton. The following is the faculty:

President, James W. Cain, LL. D.

Vice-President, James Roy Micou, Ph. D., Latin. Graduate of University of Virginia.

A. Sager Hall, Ph. D., Natural Science. Graduate of University of Michigan.

J. S. William Jones, A. M., Mathematics. Graduate of Washiugton College.

Edward J. Clarke, A. M., English and Elocution. Graduate of St. John's College.

John D. Epes, Prof. of English.

Robert Clark, Prof. of Pedagogy.

Mary C. Burchinal, A. M., German, French and Drawing. Graduate of Washington College.

Idel Baker, Preceptress of Normal Hall.

Nannie Dixon, Instrumental music.

Alva B. Burris, Director of Gymnasium.

Prof. E. J. Clarke, secretary.

LEAVING SUMMER RESORTS.

Hundreds of Summer Boarders are Heeding Signs of Fall and Return to the City.

Hundreds of summer boarders have returned to the cities from the various summer resorts in Kent during the last and present weeks. Tolchester has already closed, and while the hotels at Betterton are not yet closed, still nearly all the summer guests have departed, and the resort is fast assuming its accustomed fall appearance. The season has been one of the most profitable since the Eastern Shore became so popular as a resort about ten years ago. July was scarcely up to the average, but August was a big month, and every home along Kent's beautiful bay shore, where a boarder could find a cot and three meals a day, or a spot whereon to pitch a tent and cook his own meals, was full to overflowing. Said a Kent county summer boarding house keeper the other day, "Kent county summer boarding house keepers have had a harvest. The farmers' wives along the water front no longer depend upon chickens, butter and eggs to supply the luxuries of life, such as were unknown to them twenty years ago. The plump breasted leghorns, fresh eggs and alderney butter now go to the summer boarders at a far handsomer profit than was ever paid by any town or cross-roads merchant. What do I estimate is spent in Kent county each summer by boarders from Baltimore? It is variously put at from $15,000 to $20,000. Our local banks have long ago appreciated that a pretty sum finds its way on deposit out of the pockets of the summer guests."

A number of Light street wharves were piled high with trunks, satchels and every conceivable kind of baggage on Saturday last belonging to some of the thousands who spent the heated term on Eastern Shore farms and in villages along the water courses.

it's good-bye to the summer girl; oh! we miss her more
Than any other guest that comes to Eastern Shore,
But never mind dear laddie, she will come again,
And she'll be just as charming as ever she has been.

*†*Capt. Robert S. Emory is among the Maryland farmers who responded to the call of Mr. Orlando Harrison, of the Maryland Commission to the World's Fair at St. Louis, for exhibition of fruits. Capt. Emory's exhibit consists of a sample of fine pears, and with the knowledge that Capt. Emory has of growing fruit and the skillful and scientific manner in which he handles his fruit, we are quite sure that his exhibit will attract very favorable attention.

EXCURSION STEAMERS RACED DOWN RIVER.

Impromptu Contest Between Susquehanna and the Cambridge a Draw.

Passengers on the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad Company's steamer Cambridge and on the Tolchester Company's steamer Susquehanna on Friday afternoon became greatly interested and excited over a race that began between the two boats at the Lazaretto Lighthouse and continued to the mouth of the Patapsco, where the two steamers had to part to go in different directions. Both steamers left their respective wharves at 3.30 o'clock, the Susquehanna getting out of the basin several hundred yards ahead of the Cambridge.

Within the limits of the harbor the steamers had to move at reduced speed, but off the Lazaretto the captains of the Susquehanna and the Cambridge jingled a merry peal on the speed bells in their respective engine-rooms and each vessel pushed up a wall of foam as their pilots held them straight down channel. Gradually hauling up on her competitor, the Cambridge's bow first caught a line opposite the stern of the Susquehanna and then crawled up to her quarter, and finally was abreast of her. The steamers were so close to each other that a potato could easily have been thrown from the deck of one to the other, and as the boats fairly darted through the water the passengers on the rival decks shouted such expressions as "Why don't you come on!" and "Thow us a towline and we'll take you with us!" The colored deckhands on the forward decks of the two racers also shouted expressions which, if less conventional, were equally expressive. Craft coming up the river observed the race and gave the two steamers plenty of sea room. The United States revenue-cutter Windom came driving up the river and made a wide sweep to port in response to the signaling of the Cambridge and Susquehanna to give them plenty of room in the channel.

At the river mouth the race had to end, for the Susquehanna was bound north and the Cambridge south. Neither boat had gained an appreciable advantage, and the contest was decided a draw. With a good natured three-blast salute of her whistle the Susquehanna pointed her bow up the bay and the Cambridge answered her with three sonorous "hoots," while the passengers waved handkerchief and hat salutations from their respective boats.

Boy Shoots Himself.

Ernest Sparks, the 15-year-old son of Mr. Samuel Sparks, living in Double Creek, Queen Anne's county, met with a serious accident on Saturday last while gunning for squirrels. The lad, in company with several boys, was in Klinefelter's woods, about two miles from his home, when the accident occurred. Young Sparks was using a double barrel gun, and had fired one load at a squirrel, which took effect. He was standing on a log, and had started to pick up the squirrel when the trigger of the loaded barrel was caught and the gun discharged. The load tore its way through the boy's right breast tearing the flesh badly and splintering his right collar bone. It also tore away a portion of the flesh under his right jaw. The injured boy was taken to his home by his comrades and Dr. F. N. Sheppard, of Crumpton, was summoned. He found the boy's condition so serious that he called Dr. H. G. Simpers, of Chestertown, into consultation, and the two physicians dressed the wounds. At the latest reports young Sparks is expected to recover and his condition is now very favorable. It was a very narrow escape from instant death, for had not the boy's face been turned away from the barrel of the gun the load would have blown away a part of his head.

*†*A man by the name of Emmet Horton has invented an automatic machine that will make from 16 to 24 peach baskets per minute. The new machine will undoubtly have great effect upon the culture and marketing of fruits and vegetables. It is estimated that three hundred million quarts of strawberries rotted on the vines because the growers in the south could not get baskets at any price to ship them in. In Georgia ten million baskets of peaches were never marketed for the same reason.
