How About Shoes?

Have you an extra pair to give relief to your feet by changing? Our prices for SHOES are so low that you can be the possessor of many pairs—not of shop worn or out-of-date foot wear, but of stylish, well-made, handsome Shoes.

MY LINE OF

WINTER Footwear

is now very complete, consisting of Men's, Ladies' and Children's Shoes and in all the new shapes and kinds of stock—Russia Calf, Pat. Leather, Vici Kid, and an inspection of them will convince you that you can do as well to buy your Shoes of me as in the city, both as to quality and price, and in doing so you will encourage home industry. We sell nothing but standard makes—no auction goods sold from this store, but good goods at a small margin of profit is our motto. Come in and take a look before you buy, and be convinced. What we want is a large volume of business with small profits rather than a small business with large profits. The is the way we have done the business in the past, and hope to do it in the future.

Men's Shoes and Oxford Ties from $1.00 to $5.00.
Ladies' " " " " .50 to $3.50.
Children's Shoes and Oxford Ties from .25 to $2.50.

The largest assortment to select from on the Eastern Shore, so the drummers say. One price to all.

TORTURING PAIN.

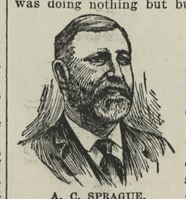

Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

Thousands of grateful people are telling every day how Doan's Kidney Pills cured them of distressing and dangerous kidney and bladder troubles.

Yet other thousands are suffering every day from these same ills. Why? They are either very negligent or very skeptical. Neglect of kidney disorders leads to dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease and other fatal diseases.

Sincere, honest testimony like the following should convince every skeptic.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as I did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

A. C. SPRAGUE.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Sprague will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

There is no honor among thieves.

Honor is easier retained than found after once being lost.

Those who work hardest to get something to eat are the ones who most enjoy eating.

It has been said that the great poets are all dead—and the others are having a hard time making a living.

Not all the funny sayings attributed to children have their origin with the funny papers. A Lincoln little girl sat down to the breakfast table the other morning and plaintively remarked: "Oh, mamma, I'm getting so tired of these milkweed cakes."

For the Baby.

The bag-night-gown is very useful, as it prevents the baby kicking off the covers and thus exposing its little limbs to the cold, while it in no wise hampers the action of the restless feet. This gown is simply a plain little gown, made of flannel or flannellette, with comfortable bishop sleeves and high neck, cut wide at the bottom of a rather long skirt, in the hem of which a tape is run by which it can be drawn up and tied like a bag.

A pretty little bloomer creeping apron is also shown made of good wearing material, and its use saves the little dresses both from wear and from the laundry. The apron is made full both before and behind, buttoning up the back; the lower part which must be cut very full and long, is fashioned like blommers, and each leg part is gathered into a band at the bottom, through which a piece of elastic may be run to hold it closely about the ankles.

Gross Typographical Blunders

Illegible copy has caused innumerable amusing and not a few serious blunders in print. A speaker quoted these lines:

O come thy goddess fair and free,
In Heaven yclept Euphrosyne:

They were printed as written:

O come, thou goddess fair and free,
In heaven she crept and froze her knee.

The reporter was following sound. Here is another illustration:

Those lovely eyes bedimmed,
Those lovely eyes bedamned.

A Congressman advocated grants of public lands to "actual settlers." It got in the paper as "cattle stealers." A reporter tried to write that "the jury disagreed and were discharged," but the compositer set it up "the jury disappeared and were disgraced." The last words in a poorly written sentence.

"Alone and insolated, man would become impotent and perish," were set up as "Impatient and peevish."—New York Press.

How to Win Souls For Christ.

Andrew teaches Christians still the first lesson in soul-winning: Go for your own brother. That is, try to bring to Christ those whom you love; those nearest to you. It makes no difference whether the nearest is of blood or sympathy. You will succeed where you love.

Christianity is to win the world by this process alone—neighbor influencing neighbor, friend influencing friend. It is like heaven. One part of yeast will permeate two thousands parts of dough, but only by changing the parts next to it, and so working its way through the mass.

Comparative Statistics.

Representative Gooch, of Kentucky, according to the Philadelphia Public Ledger, says that several years ago a young lawyer was admitted to the bar in his state, and one of his first cases was where the right of property to a lot of hogs was involved. It was a case of replevin, and the blundering lawyer addressed the jury in this way:

"There were just twenty-four hogs in that drove, gentlemen of the jury—just twenty-four, gentlemen—exactly twice as many as there are in that jury box."

The case was decided against the young lawyer's client.

"You in 'plain sight,' Miss Gringo?" he exclaimed. "Not on your platinum print! If you were standing there, you were a dazzlingly beautiful sight!"

Did she forgive him? Well!

"LET ME DOWN EASY!"

A Negro Ventriloquist Breaks up a Negro Funeral in Caroline County.

One of our reporters, whose veracity has never been questioned, called Tuesday, the first time since the big snow; and in the course of human events which he had observed since being able to get around was, that one, Sam Johnson, a negro who hails from Centreville, and is known by the "coons" of that burg as a hoodoo, got into all sorts of trouble while on a visit in Caroline county, a few weeks since.

The account of Sam's trobles as furnished by our reporter, started when Sam was invited to attend a funeral of a popular colored individual as he was thought to be some sort of "locust" preacher, for he sports a stove-pipe hat and a Prince Albert coat. Sam accepted the invitation and everything was running along as smooth as a new pack of cards, while the parson had started to read a special psalm prepared for the occasion, and the pall-bearers had stared to lower the body into is final resting place, whilst the mourners with heads bent low, were listening attentively to the ministers words, and no doubt thinking of the time when they would join their departed comrade; when Sam—who is noted as a ventriloquist—without warning, said: "Let me down easy, boys!" In less time than it took Sam to get out the words the cemetery was minus mourners and preachers, and the way they hit the pike furnised plenty of fun for Sam. After a lengthy caucus several of the mourners decided to give the corpse air to keep him from smothering, went and bursted in the coffin lids. After several hours delay the corpse was finally buried.

Sam was arrested and, after given a hearing before a magistrate was consigned to the care of the sheriff at Denton. Sam, after remaining in the jail a few hours, got thirsty and wanted water—his capacity is about four gallons—and asked the sheriff to allow him to go out to a small pool near the jail and get a drink. The sheriff consented and Sam got down on his knees and took in about three gallons, while the sheriff looked on in amazement. After Sam had finished and went back to the jail, the sheriff wanted to know what kind of a coon he was? Sam asked the sheriff to pull his ear, which the sheriff did and Sam discharged his cargo of water and the sheriff told him to get out as he was kin to the devil. Sam, after being released, returned to his home in Centreville.—Queenstown News.

Making Washington Beautiful.

Washington is beautiful already, but when the improvements that have been planned are completed it will be a city more beautiful and better laid out than Paris, which is to-day the city par excellence of the architect and the land scape gardner. There will be nothing around the Capitol and the White House except public buildings. The strip of ground from the Capitol to the Washington Monument will be one great Mall, almost park-like in its vast spaciousness, resembling indeed the great Champs Elysees; and on either side of it will rise magnificient public buildings. The bluff on which the monument now towers will be a park connecting with the grounds of the Executive Masion. Many of the old structures, such as the postoffice, the land-office, the treasury and state buildings, will fall into the new scheme. The departments which have outgrown their present quarters will be provided with new ones. To begin with the most practical, and the one which is not governmental, there will be a Union station, up to date, commodious and convenient. On the long Mall will rise a new and more beautiful National Museum, to replace the old Smithsonian, and opposite this will be a line of magnificent structures devoted to the agricultural and kindred departments. The blue Potomac in its great sweep around the city will be spanned by the Lincoln Memorial bridge costing five million dollars, while on the Washington common and playground it is proposed to erect a theatre, baths, gymnasium and athletic buildings, all arranged for the public interest and comfort.

These improvements are now to be seen only on paper. They will require years to perfect; they will require hundreds of millions of dollars to bring them to a conclusion.—Feb. Woman's Home Companion.

Perfect Confidence.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlin's Cough Remedy in the treatment ofthat disease. Mrs. M. I. Basford, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it has always given him prompt relief. For sale by M. A. Toulson.

THOMAS A. EDISON, the inventor, in mapping out the problems of the future, gives first place to the necessity of fighting the bacteria which give us our diseases. Next to the actual bacteria of disease, the mosquitos and flies are the most dangerous enemies of man. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria, yellow fever, and other fatal troubles. The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid, cholera and other plagues of the human race.

Dr. Pierce, the eminent physician of Buffalo, N. Y., says, "If each person will consider his system as an army of men which he controls as a general, and will see to its proper provisioning and that it has plenty of ammunition in the shape of good red blood, he will be able to overcome the enemy in these germs of disease." Every healthy man has five million red blood corpuscles to every square millimeter of blood. The best tonic for increasing the red blood corpuscles and building up healthy tissue is no doubt Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine has been on the market for over a third of a century and numbers its cures by the thousand.

Many popular patent medicines or tonics are made up largely of alcohol and will shrink the corpuscles of the blood and make them weaker for resistance. What is needed is an alterative extract, like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, made of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, that will assist the stomach in assimilating or taking from the food such elements as are required for the blood, also an alterative that will assist the activity of the liver and cause it to throw off the poisons in the blood. When we have accomplished this we have put the system in a fortified condition so strong that it can repel the germs of disease which we find everywhere—in the street-cars, the shops, the factories, the bedrooms, wherever many people congregate, or where sunlight and good air do not penetrate.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Neglected constipation means headache, heart-burn, sour stomach, foul taste in the mouth, biliousness, pimples, and palpitation of the heart. Constipation is promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One for mild cases, otherwise two.
