Gifted Amateur (concluding pet card trick)—Now, ladies and gentlemen, you have seen the pack of cards burned before your eyes and the ashes placed inside the box, which mysteriously transformed itself into a rabbit, which in turn disappeared into space. I will now ask this gentleman to name the card he selected, when it will at once appear in my hand. Now, sir, what card did you select from the pack? Giles (who has been following the trick most intently)—Blessed if I recollect!—Punch

Wellington's Reprimand.

During the occupation of Paris by the allies in 1815 a French marshal shouldered an English colonel from the sidewalk into the street. Thereupon the Englishman, being forbidden by a general order of Wellington to give a challenge to or accept one from a French officer, did what he considered the only thing left him, knocked the Frenchman down and later refused him satisfaction in a duel. The latter then made a formal complaint to the duke, who to soothe the marshal's feelings sent a written reprimand to the colonel, but in it inclosed a cordial invitation to dinner.

A Friendly Tip.

Motorman—is it in a hurry ye are today, sor? Passenger (climbing on in front)—Yes, Pat, I am. Motorman—Then ye'd betther take th' car behind this. This 'un has a flat wheel an' is makin' poor time today, d'ye mind!—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It is well to learn caution by the misfortune of others.—Publius Syrus.

The Common Kind.

"Did you ever notice that almost all these misers reported in the papers are single men?" asked Mr. Watts.

"Yes," answered Mrs. Watts. "Married misers are too common to be worth mentioning."

Satisfying.

"Do I squint, Charlie?" asked the rich girl.

"A little, Maude," he said tenderly, "but who wouldn't with your eyes? If mine were as beautiful as yours I'd be trying to look into them myself."

Indicative.

When a girl acts as if she were tied to the end of a comet and tries to look as if she were only buttoning her gloves, most likely she is just become engaged.—New York Press.

Anxious Moments.

Brother—You can't think how nervous I was when I proposed. Sister—You can't think how nervous she was until you did.—Town and Country.

The original sin to which all human beings are liable is the sin of idleness. —Rev. S. Pearson.
