WHY SHOULD NOT the teachers of Kent county be given the advantage of a summer school the week immediately succeeding the closing of schools in June? This is a question that should appeal not only to our teachers, but to the school board and county superintendent as well. The advantages to be derived from a summer school course such as could be arranged at very little expense to the school board or teachers would materially increase the value of the teaching force of the county, and would place Kent in line with the other counties of the Shore whose summer schools have become of great educational value. Both Talbot and Caroline counties conduct these schools immediately succeeding the closing of their schools for the summer, and they are conducted by the leading teachers and principals of the county, with the assistance of a normal school teacher or college professor. Kent is splendidly situated for a summer school, and we are sure that many of our young teachers would be glad to avail themselves of the advantages of such an innovation. Prof. Melvin is proving himself to be a superintendent full of modern methods, and the school board is anxious to improve the efficiency of its teachers as economically as possible, but yet for the advancement of the school course. The summer school is the very thing for Kent this year. Let's have it.

Grass Carpets.

The popularity of these goods is founded upon a Substantial Basis, for they exclusively supply a very important demand for something between a Matting and a Carpet, they are both, yet, strictly speaking, neither. Their use is in no wise restricted to the warmer weather—they're serviceable and desirable alike for summer and winter. These splendid goods are made of specially selected Tough and WIRY Northwestern PRAIRIE GRASS, woven with a sturdy cotton chain warp, they are clean, cool and attractive, thoroughly sanitary and very durable. In addition to Mattings these goods are also made in RUGS, from 18-inch to 9x12-foot carpet sizes. Because of our large purchases and advantageous arrangements, we can actually supply these goods in small quantities at lower prices than you would pay were you to buy direct from the makers.
