

Great Clearance Sale.

Lots of Oxfords that we have too many of; lots of Oxfords that we have too few of—they form the basis for this Great Clearance Sale.

MANY OF THE OXFORDS WILL BE SOLD AT HALF PRICE.

These are Oxfords for Men, Women and Children—not stocks gathered for "a sale," but Oxfords taken from our good regular lines.

At first, it would seem that we are making too large a loss, but we must get through with this sale very soon—hence the important temptation of very low prices.

Then, again, in most of the lots, sizes are missing—it may take you an extra few minutes to be fitted. We cant's ask you to assume a bother unless we make it pay you.

Our Oxford business is a large one—the loss we make in these Clearance Sales average into a very tiny loss on our whole business.

SO WE CAN WELL AFFORD IT.

It will be necessary to go after these bargains at once—later they'll be gone.

Very truly yours,

W. AMBROSE CARROLL,
CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND.

There is no Guess Work About it.

TRADE MARK

Wilbur W. Hubbard's Fertilizers

MUST HAVE

Superior Quality and Absolute Uniformity and Purity. This Fall makes their sixtieth season in business, and their trade has increased each year in spite of competition; their sales for the past year having been larger than ever before. Can the sales of an inferior article constantly increase all these years? Our Fertilizers are not better than all others, but they have been, and we are willing for you to try them in competition with any goods on the market for Wheat and Grass. Two of our large buyers called and stated yesterday that the Wheat, and Grass, too, was better where our goods were used in competition with a goods costing several dollars more per ton.

WE PRESUME

You are now thinking about how many acres of Wheat you will sow, the quality of Fertilizer you will use, and of whom the same shall be bought. And just here, by way of advice, let us say, deal with your home manufacturers, if not with us, buy of our competitors. Keep the money in our county. Nevertheless, we solicit your trade with confident belief that you will find it to your interest to buy of us. We have always adhered to a high standard for our brands, as we are anxious that our goods shall have the reputation of being durable rather than cheap, and serve our customers so well that we shall gain their confidence and permanently retain their trade.

HENCE, WE OFFER YOU

Our A. A. Bone Super-Phosphate, which is a positive Animal Bone Fertilizer, the Potash being derived from high grade sulphate and muriate. No kainit used in its manufacture.

Our Imperial Compound Fertilizer, which has an Animal Bone Base. It, however, contains some S.C. Phosphate, but the Potash is derived from high grade sulphate. The ammonia from the animal matter on the animal bone, fine ground fish and little nitrate. This goods is a great Wheat and Clover producer, as it carries the Wheat through the winter splendidly, the nitrate starts it off in the fall, makes the roots take hold, and then the other combination feeds along just as needed, hence, the universal satisfaction it has given.

Our Victor Phosphate is a splendid goods. Is ammoniated with an excellent source of nitrogen, and runs high in Bone Phosphate. We have received already large orders for this brand. It has given excellent results.

WE HAVE
enlarged our factory, now have railroad and water facilities, and we ask you if a record of 30 years is not a sufficient guarantee to justify you in using the goods.

Very truly yours,

WILBUR W. HUBBARD,
CHESTERTOWN' MD.

TIGER HUNTING.

Luring the Fierce Animals by Imitating a Monkey.

To call a tiger the proceeding was as follows: The mikir, having first ascertained that a tiger was in the neighborhood, would climb into a well branched, leafy tree situated near where he supposed the tiger to be, and after hiding himself among the branches as best he could would commence to imitate the chattering of a monkey and break and drop twigs in the way that monkeys do.

Then he would let fall to the ground a bundle of rags weighted so that the thud when it struck the ground would sound as if a baby monkey had tumbled down from the tree, and at the same time would imitate the supposed baby monkey cries. This would be the supreme moment, for if a tiger were near it would often spring out in the hope of snapping up such a dainty morsel as a young monkey, and then a bullet from the gun of the hidden mikir might find its billet in the tiger's body. By this means the mikir was said to have killed a considerable number of tigers, and certainly the man's power of mimicry was wonderfully good.

The call for deer was of an entirely different nature, the sound imitated being the cry of a fawn, and as this cry sometimes attracted tigers, too, it had to be adopted with caution, because it was used only in open grass land, from which the caller would not have had much chance to escape were a tiger suddenly to put in an appearance.—London Field.

THE MAD DOG FALLACY.

With Some Suggestions on How to Treat a Bite.

In all my own experience with dogs I have not only never seen a "mad dog," but have never known a dog owner—and by that I mean a man who has had experience in keeping dogs—who has seen one. If, then, rabies is so exceedingly scarce, hydrophobia becomes really an impossibility, and the fear of it should be dismissed without a thought.

A person may get dog bitten; but, in the language of the New York tough, "Forget it." If it is a bad bite it may twitch later on, and you may begin worrying, so it is a good plan to get rid of the twitching or throbbing in order to forget. I have been bitten so often that I think no more of it than a mosquito bite, and this is what I do:

If it is on the hand I put it under the faucet and wash thoroughly, with the object of cleaning the wound and preventing inflammation from any dirt or foreign substance. While doing this some one is getting the bicarbonate of soda and some clean rags or lint. With water a cream paste of the soda is made sufficient to plaster the wound well; then, putting some on a rag, it is applied to the wound and bound up. If in the course of an hour or more the application seems to be drying, a little water is poured on the bandage to soak through to the soda or the hand dipped in water.—James Watson in Country Life In America.

ALTERING A PICTURE.

Why the Change Did Not Please the Original Artist.

An artist was talking about the noted German painter Adolf von Menzel.

"Von Menzel," he said, "painted the clearest and most distinct of pictures. Everything with him was worked out to the last hair. Nothing was ever suggested. With suggested, sketchy, impressionistic pictures he had no sympathy. He was called the Meissonier of Germany.

"In a discussion of a certain impressionist's vague, unintelligible work I once heard Von Menzel say:

"'This man Markheim sold to the Countess X. two years ago one of his landscapes. The countess after she had had the landscape a few weeks tired of it, and to another artist who dined with her one night she said:

"'"I think the new picture that Herr Markheim sold me lacks animation. It needs life in it. Would you be willing to paint for me a man or woman on that road that runs through the middle?"

"'"Why, surely, madam," said the second painter. And he took the picture home with him, made the addition and returned it the next morning.

"'Later, meeting Markheim, he said:

"'"I had the audacity to alter a landscape of yours the other day. It was the landscape you sold the Countess X. She wanted a figure in it, and to oblige her I painted an old peasant walking down the road."

"'Markheim frowned.

"'"The road?" he said. "The road? I don't remember any road in that picture."

"'"Oh, yes, there is a road," said the other.

"'"I can't recall it," said Markheim.

"'Finally, to settle the matter, they went to the house of the countess and stood before the picture.

"'"There," said Markheim's brother artist—"there is your road, and there is my old peasant walking down it."

"'"Fool," Markheim cried, "what have you done? That is not a road in the center of my work. It is a river."'"—San Francisco News-Letter.

Not for My Own Interest

ENTIRELY,

But for Yours, Too.

I am going to make a change in store-room and location. I have fully decided to move from the store I am now occupying to a much better store and location, and will add to the Jewelry business a very salable line of goods. In order to carry this out I am compelled to reduce my stock that I have on hand, and the only way to sell it is to sell it for what it will bring, and therefore I have decided to have regular sales on Saturday and Saturday nights. Will sell my entire line of Clocks, Silver-plated hollowware, Rogers' Tableware, Domestic Sewing Machines. Will also sell Watches and Jewelry, mostly for ladies, Spectacles and Eye Glasses, etc. The sale will begin next Saturday, July 8th.

Read this advertisement carefully and bear in your mind that opposition is the life of trade. I ask the patronage of the public. I remain with all my strength to serve the public.

Respectfully,

A. LEVINE
