TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Profitable Week for the Teachers—Able Instructors—Fine Lectures in Stam's Hall—Supt. Melvin's Excellent Programme.

This has been institute week in Chestertown, and it has been a most profitable week for teachers as well as for those who have attended the various sessions. The programme as arranged by County Superintendent Milton Melvin was one of the best that has ever been prepared for the instruction and entertainment of the teachers and public, and reflects great credit upon those who had charge of the arrangement. Space will not allow us to specialize upon any particular part of the programme, but it is sufficient to say that every subject discussed, every recitation given and every paper read was handled in a most instructive manner, and proved a great profit to the teachers present.

Among the visiting instructors were Prof. Herbert Austin, of the State Normal School, Baltimore, who discussed ably the Methods of Recitation, and gave entertaining lectures on the teaching of history and geography according to McMurry's method; Miss Belle Upshur, of the Normal School, who lectured on primary reading and literature proved of much profit. Prof. Garrison, principal of the preparatory school at Western Maryland College, made a most favorable impression by his lectures on Elementary Psychology and kindred subjects. Dr. Boyer, vice-principal of the State Normal School at Kutztown, Pa., was also present and delivered some wholesome advice on the subject of the Teaching Profession. Dr. Royer also delivered a splendid lecture in Stam's Hall on Monday evening upon his recent tour of Europe to a large audience. Dr. Thomas H. Lewis, president of Western Maryland College, was the speaker of the evening on Tuesday in Stam's Hall, and although the boat which brought the doctor to Chestertown was late, the large audience awaited his coming with patience, because they expected a rare intellectual treat. In this they were not disappointed, as Dr. Lewis for one hour held the closest attention of his audience while he delivered one of the most masterly lectures ever heard in Chestertown. His subject was "The Ethics of Expression" and it was one of the finest pleas for the teaching and use of correct English we have ever heard. Dr. Lewis is a scholar, and he never fails to give his audience golden intellectual nuggets whenever he appears. During the period of waiting the audience was highly entertained by a splendid recitation by Prof. J. L. Smyth entitled "Socrates Snookes," two fine baritone solos by Mr. George White, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mabel Toulson, and a fine violin solo by Mr. Kemp Bordley, accompanied by Master James Bacchus.

On Thursday evening Dr. Edward Brush, of the Maryland Tuberculosis Commission, delivered an entertaining lecture in Stam's Hall on the subject of tuberculosis. The lecture was a revelation to his large audience of the successful methods of treatment of this dread disease, and the impressions which Dr. Brush made upon his audience will prove of lasting benefit to all his hearers.

Among the county teachers who took part in the institute work were: Prof. Taylor, Misses Boston, Thomas and Anderson and Prof. Smyth. All of them handled their subjects exceedingly well, and they gave the teachers some practical advice in the teaching of the various subjects discussed. Prof. Blades' lessons in drawing were also very instructive. Miss Sarah Hessey gave a very pretty and well-rendered recitation in Stam's Hall, and an instrumental quartette discoursed sweet music on Monday evening. Miss Melvin's recitation in the Assembly Hall of the school was also much enjoyed.

The institute closed on Friday with a half-day session. Dr. M. B. Stephens, State Superintendent of Education, was present and delivered a practical and thoughtful address. Prof. Rowland Watts, who has recently accepted a chair in the Polytechnic Institute, Baltimore, closed the exercises with a strong address on "The Teacher a Conservator of Law."

Prof. Melvin is to be congratulated upon the success of the institute, and the teachers will go forth to their respective fields of labor with new ideas and much enthusiasm for the coming year's work.

EVENING SESSION, 7.30.

Music.
Devotional Service.
Music, Still Pond.
Music.
Address, Rev. Anna H. Shaw.
Singing and Offering.
Awarding of Banner.
Singing and Benediction.

The feature of the day's session was the address in the evening of Rev. Anna H. Shaw, a gifted speaker and an ardent advocate of the temperance cause. Her address was replete with telling points upon the temperance question, and many phases of this great subject were discussed by the speaker in a new and highly entertaining manner. The music during the day was especially pleasing, and every one enjoyed the occasion. The afternoon session was especially enjoyable as all the subjects discussed provoked interesting speeches from the audience. Nearly every minister in the county was present, and their presence as well as that of a great number of the county people attested the growing interest in the good work of temperance. The convention will undoubtedly be for good, as much was done and said there which will result in the moral and spiritual uplift of those who were present and be for great good generally. A sumptuous supper was served in charge of the ladies in the evening.

Mr. Jefferson's Opening.

The formal opening of Mr. Harry F. Jefferson's large department store proved to be an event of much importance in the mercantile history of the town last Saturday. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a large crowd of friends and patrons from both Kent and Queen Anne's attended the opening and all were much impressed with the fine arrangement of the store and the large and splendid display of goods. Mr. Jefferson undoubtedly has one of the best equipped and most conveniently arranged stores on the peninsular, and the spirit of progress which he has displayed in the equipment of the store is most commendable. The store is a new brick building, 25x85 feet, two stories, with modern full glass front and skylight, heated throughout by hot water radiators, lighted by private gas plant and electricity and with latest toilet and sanitary conveniences. Such a building and its splendid appointments are a credit to the town, as well as to Mr. Jefferson. The stock of goods, excellent in quality, is very tastefully arranged and displayed in a most pleasing manner, and the verdict of all as they passed through the spacious apartments was "How pretty!" The proprietor is ably assisted by an efficient corps of clerks as follows: Mr. A. W. Carmine, head salesman; Mrs. Dr. J. Lane Finley, supt. notions department; Miss Kate Wheatley, supt. millinery department, and Miss Emma Knight, cashier. Mr. Jefferson contemplates the establishment of an up-to-date dressmaking department in the near future in charge of competent seamstresses, and altogether it is a store of which the community in general may well feel proud. Mr. Jefferson's many friends congratulated him on Saturday and wished him much success.

Colored Woman Drops Dead.—Anna Maria Mays, wife of Henry Mays, colored, dropped dead in the railroad station last Tuesday afternoon just as she was about to pay for a ticket for a trip to Philadelphia on the afternoon train. Mr. Milby, the assistant station agent, was about to hand her the ricket and asked her if she had any baggage to check, when she dropped to the floor dead. Dr. Hines, the company's surgeon, was summoned, and after making an examination, pronounced death due to heart failure. The body was removed to Mays' home on Cannon street.

CHURCH NOTES.

The Bishop of Delaware will, D. V., lay the corner stone of the new Episcopal Church in Millington, on Tuesday afternoon next, 12th inst., at 5.30 o' clock. Every body is cordially invited.

Kennedyville M. P. Church, Rev. R. S. Rowe, pastor. There will be no preaching service in this Church on Sunday, as the pastor will be out of the county that day; he will (D. V.) occupy the pulpit on Surday 17th.

Christ Meth Prot. Church.—The pastor, Rev. D. L. Greenfield will preach at 10.30 A.M. and 7.30 P. M. Testimony Meeting at 9.30 A. M. Sunday School at 2.30 P. M. At the evening service the famous "Glory Song" will be sung.

The County W. C. T. U. Executive Committee will meet at the M. E. parsonage on Wednesday at 2.30 P.M. Convention matters to be adjusted. All members are urged to be present.

CALL OF COUNTY PRESIDENT.

SIMPERS WILL HANG.

Time Limit For Filing Bill of Exceptions Has Expired.

His Counsel having failed to file the bill of exceptions on which to base an appeal, owing to the failure of his friends to provide for the cost of the same (about $300) it looks as if the case of John M. Simpers, the convicted and confessed murderer of the late Albert Constable, were closed. The Baltimore Sun says Simpers repeatedly importuned all whom he could to come to his help and spends his time sleeping, seemingly indifferent to his fate. The records of the case have gone to the Governor, and he will likely name an early day for the execution as Simpers has already had five months delay.

On Monday Simpers was given a letter from his sister, in which she told him she had given up all hope of obtaining the money needed for his appeal for a new trial. He received the news as quietly as he has all previous communications from his sister. He has uniformly declared hitherto that he would not be hanged, but as he now knows that there is to be no appeal he must realize that the end has come.

With Our Advertisers.

Clifton L. Jarrell is having a special September sale of queensware, glassware, toilet sets, gents furnishings, etc. Tuesdays and Saturdays are bargain days at the popular store, you had better read his adv. in this morning's paper. It will be decidedly to your advantage to do so.

School days are very near at hand and Mr. Wm. A. Carroll, the shoe man, has a splendid assortment of children's and Misses, as well as boys' school shoes the kind that you can kick a football with, or a hole in the ground, or jump rope, and the shoes wont wear out. That's enough. Go to see Mr. Carroll. He'll tell you the rest.

Barlow & Wilson's big minstrel company will be at the opera house Saturday, September 9th. This company this season comprises forty of the leading stars of minstreldom, headed by the pioneers of minstrels, Barlow & Wilson. A superb band and orchestra accompanies these clever minstrels, and a grand street parade will be given at noon. The costumes used in the first part are conceded by all competitors to be the finest ever used by a traveling organization. A special baggage car is needed to transport the scenic effects in this grand first part setting.

Wedding Bells.

CANTER—MALOY.

Miss Edna Hokpins Maloy was married on Saturday last at noon at the home of her parents, 1020 McCulloh street, Baltimore, to Dr. Howard Vernon Canter, of Virginia. The bridal procession consisted of the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, two maids of honor, four ribbon-bearers, a ring-bearer and a flower girl. The bride's gown was white Liberty satin heavily trimmed in chiffon passemetrie with veil, and she carried bride roses. She is a niece of Rev. J. Earle Maloy, a prominent minister of the Methodist Protestant Conference and very well-known in Chestertown. They will reside in Columbia, Mo., where the groom holds the chair of Latin in the University of Missouri.

OBITUARY.

EDNA M. JONES.

Edna M., the 18 months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jones, of Galena, died on Tuesday of a complication of diseases and was buried in Galena cemetery on Wednesday afternoon. Undertaker Hicks had charge of the funeral arrangements.

To Build Opera House.—Contractors W. S. & A. M. Culp have received the contract to erect a handsome $15,000 opera house in the town of Centreville. The contract was signed on Tuesday of this week, and work will be commenced on the building on Monday. The building will be of brick with handsome ornamental trimmings, and besides a hall proper there will be an assembly hall and kitchen which will be used by the churches and other organizations for the purpose of holding festivals, etc.

*†*Undertaker J. E. Ferguson has purchased a handsome black mare 6 years old, from a prominent gentleman in Worton, and will use her as a match for his stylish black horse. He sold his reliable black horse "John" to Mr. Richard Leaverton, near Pomona, last week.
