MILLINGTON MATTERS.

The Semi-Annual Convention of the Women's Home Missionery Society of the Easton District of the M.E.Church was held in Asbury M. E. Church last Tuesday. There were two sessions, one held at 10.30 A. M. and one at 1.30 P. M. Interesting reports of the work were read by the delegates representing the other branches. The members of Millington branch served luncheon in the basement of the church to guests present.

Rev. Edwin Gardner, pastor of Asbury and Massey M. E. Churches, was the recipient of a bountiful donation from the congregation of Massey church last week. Groceries and everything edible were presented, and the pastor feels very grateful to his people for the kindness to him. Mr. Gardner has been conducting a successful revival at Massey church for several weeks, and it was after one of the meetings the donation was presented at the church.

Washington Camp No. 42, P. O. S. of A. have moved the place of meeting from the home of Mr. F. L. Smith, where they have been meeting since the fire, to the hall over Hall & Gillespie's store, and will meet there every Tuesday night at 7.30 P. M.

Election day passed very quietly in our town. A great many people came to town to vote but went quietly away after casting their ballot, only a few remaining to hear the returns of the election from this and other counties.

Mr. L. Carroll Clark's fine sorrel mare and carriage was stolen from the hitching post in front of Mr. B. F. Vansant's hotel Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock. A little later Mr. Clark discovered his loss, and made a search for the team, but it was not in town. Mr. Carroll went to his farm about three miles north of town to get another team. He drove to Middletown, but the parties had taken another route, and about 10 o'clock the team was left in the lane of Mr. Slaughter, near town. His son, Mr. Jesse Slaughter, brought it to town and gave it to friends of Mr. Clark who cared for it. The horse had been driven very hard and was in a very bad condition when recovered. The perpetrators of such a daring act should be handled by the law.

Misses Annie Talbot and Addie Moore attended the Epworth League Convention in Clayton, Del., last week. They were sent as delegates from Asbury M. E. Church.

Miss Margaret L. Smith and Mr. James Wright, of Smyrna, Del., spent last Sunday with Miss Smith's brother, Mr. F. L. Smith.

Mrs. F. A. Walls and son, Master Carter, spent a few days this week with friends in Philadelphia.

Mr. Roy C. Stafford, of near town, is still in a very serious condition suffering from typhoid fever. His many friends are anxious for his recovery.

BETTERTON BRIEFS.

Many of our good Democrats were disappointed over the election. Of course they were glad that Kent went Democratic but sorry that the Amendment failed to be passed.

Gunners are making full use of the law, and numerous rabbits and ducks are being shot by the lovers of that sport.

Mr. Wm. Marcham and family intend moving to St. Mary's county this week.

Miss Carrie Jones, of Washington College, spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Lolla Crew, also Mr. Littleton Moore, of the same college, spent Saturday and Sunday at his parental home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, of New York, have been visiting Mr. Turner's parents.

STILL POND ITEMS.

Miss Florence P. Rasin the accomplished and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rasin, was married on Wednesday evening at half after six to Mr. Herbert Watson. The church was filled with friends and relatives of the couple to witness the cermony. The church was beautifully trimmed with evergreen and potted flowers. Promptly at the appointed hour to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Annie Dryden the bridal party entered the church and proceeded to the alter, were under a beautiful arch of white chrysanthemums and evergreens from which suspended a large wedding bell, the happy couple were pronounced man and wife. The bride and groom took the morning boat for Washington and other places. They will make their home in Wilmington. They were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents. We extend congratulations to them.
