SATURDAY, DEC. 16, 1905.

THE COURT OF APPEALS of New York State has decided the mayoralty contested election case against Wm. R. Hearst.

THE MARYLAND LEGISLATURE, it's organization and work, is the all absorbing topic in political circles now. The Assembly will convene on Jan. 3.

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH a great deal of the time of the coming Legislature will be taken up with election contests. There will be one busy committee in the Assembly, at least.

JUDGE JAMES ALFRED PEARCE made a splendid response to a toast at the Alumni Banquet at the Rennert last Friday evening. We wish it could be published for the benefit of all those interested in the college but who were not present at the banquet, which was a great success in every respect.

THE promotion of Mr. Harry J. Hopkins to the chief clerkship in the State Comptroller's office is a deservedly popular one. Mr. Hopkins' long service in this office makes him an exceedingly valuable man to the State and his thorough business ability is the best recommendation of his fitness for his new duties.

GOV. EDWIN WARFIELD, in response to his toast at the Washington College alumni banquet at the Hotel Rennert, Baltimore, last Friday evening, expressed a desire to visit the Eastern Shore and Chestertown in the future. We are sure the people of Kent will give the Governor a royal welcome whenever he can arrange to come here and it is hoped that if he cannot come sooner he may be induced to be present at the commencement exercises of the college in June.

PROF. GEORGE W. MILTENBERGER, the nestor of the medical profession in Baltimore, and one of the greatest physicians of the country, died at his home in that city late Monday afternoon after a long and useful career, aged 87. Dr. Miltenberger's name had become a household word in every home in the State, and his great knowledge of surgery and medicine was of untold benefit to thousands of patients. He made as high as 100 visits a day and enjoyed an immense practice. He will be a great loss to the medical profession.

THE DECISION in the case of Midshipman Meriwether, which has attracted so much attention in naval circles recently, is much milder than was expected. It seems hard that the Midshipman should be punished for what was purely and simply a defense of his own honor. The code has been in existence at the naval academy for years, and if men are to be punished for defending their honor, how can they be expected to be brave in the defense of their country? It would be better to institute a rigid investigation of the conduct of the naval academy, whose discipline seems to be lax in many respects. Give Middy Meriwether a chance, and he will be a man every inch of him in the defense of his country. At the same time we would not encourage such practices at the Naval Academy. Abolish the code. It is vicious.

Fewer Gallon; Wears Long.
Letter to John S. Vandegrift.

Chestertown, Md.

Dear Sir: You'd strike it rich if you could find a way to shave your customers in less time, for less cost, and make the shave last twice or three times as long.

You wouldn't shave the same person so many times, or get so much of his money; but the whole town would be talking about you and everybody would come to you for a shave.

Devoe lead-and-zinc is exactly that in paints. It takes fewer gallons, and it wears longer. Costs less for the job, and you don't have to do it again for years and years—six years at least.

"Fewer gallons; wears longer." Takes fewer gallons to paint a house with Devoe lead-and-zinc than with mixed paint; and it wears longer than mixed paints or lead-and-oil.

Yours truly
F. W. DEVOE & CO
