ROCK HALL

The Calendar Club of Salem M. E. Church met last Friday evening in the school auditorium. After the business meeting the new officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Lena Anderson; vice president, Miss Catherine Watson; secretary, Lee Barnes; treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Barnes. After which games were played by the young folks. Cake and cocoa were served for refreshments.

Mrs. William Barnes visited her daughter, Mrs. Clay Gilbert, of Baltimore, this week.

Miss Mildred Hoyle, of State Normal School, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Hoyle.

Miss Thelma Klein, of Baltimore, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Klein.

There will be a meeting of Fairlee Grange next Wednesday evening, March 14th at 7.30. Members come out and get the new pass word.

In the passing of Abram Casey, this community has lost one of its best citizens and long a benefactor to very many of us, and beloved by all who knew rom.

B. I. Ashley had quite a close call a few days ago from indulging too freely of edibles. He was seized with indigestion and it was so extreme that he turned almost black in the face, according to report.

J. M. Collison, who has been very ill for several weeks, died this week. Another splendid citizen gone to that bourne from which no traveler ever return. We hope to meet him on that Eternal Shore, where the ills of life are felt and feared no more.

People hereabout were considerably shocked on awakening from slumber on Tuesday morning to find the weatherman treating us to an "old field" snow storm. The snow rain and heavy sleet of Tuesday and Wednesday knocked all our calculations (as to our plans for spring work) to smithereens. "Such is life."

M. Alexander has treated the interior of his department store to a fresh coat of paint and otherwise trimmed up preparatory to laying in a complete stock of new spring goods.

H. W. Vickers' proposition for the State to confiscate the oyster shells is being agitated among our oystermen and business men. Most of them however, view the proposition as an entering wedge for tom fool, and injuring legislation to the oyster industry. Mr. Vickers undoubtedly has the very best possible motives in all his views on the oyster industry, but there is, as always the case for more than fifty years past, too much pessimism regarding the oyster bars. If the containing influences from the city and oil fuel steamers could be regulated and the oyster laws as they are, the oyster bars would care for themselves. Chester river, which years ago, was condemned to the shell pile by the alarmists of those days is now as prolific as it ever was, so also is the case in other oyster sections of the State from reports there from. Let the Conservation Commission seek to regulate the city, government proving grounds and other poluting sources, and see that the present laws are enforced. Oysters will grow and thrive long after alarmists are numbered with has beens.

Editor Russell, of the Enterprise, was among us last week and we all of us were sure glad to greet him. Come down often as in the days of other years.

N. M. Ryan, of Queen Anne's, was visiting here last Sunday.

J. M. Wood, from reports, remains little improved, if any. All hoping for the best.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, residing on Ringgold's Point farm, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Moffett are the proud parents of a bouncing baby girl who made her advent on Saturday.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear wife, Anna Walls, who departed this life February 16th, 1923. Anna was a good woman anl did not fear death, but always said that she was alright to the last.

She wore a crown of patience,
Through the years she labored on
And the hands that rest forever
Are the hands that made the home.
O, how hard we tried to save her,
But prayers and tears were all in vain;
Happy angels came anl took her
From this world of toil and pain.
She leaves a memory fair and sweet,
Its fragrance can never die,
Leaving a life not yet complete,
When God called her on high.

By her devoted husband,
Howard Walls.

We stood by your bedside dear mother
And saw your life depart,
And when we knew that you were dead
It almost broke our hearts.

By her loving sons,
Calvin and Erdman.

God has called her, oh, how sudden
And she listened to the call,
Hastened to her home in Heaven,
Though she had to leave us all.

By her loving sister, Lillian.

Be ye also ready for ye know not the day nor the hour when the Son of man cometh.

WRIGLEY'S GIFTS TO REPUBLICANS

Press wires spread the glad tidings that the Wm. Wrigley, Jr., Company of Chicago reports net profits of $6,146,635, after taxes, for the year ended December 31, 1922. This is an increase of $2,435,958 over the company's net profit in the previous year.

Among the taxes repealed by the Republican Congress in 1921 was that imposed on the manufacturers of chewing gum. This was one of the few taxes absorbed by the manufacturers. Official reports of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue show that manufacturers of chewing gum in Illinois paid an aggregate of $561,772.96 on their output in 1920. The Wrigley Company is by long odds the largest manufacturer of chewing gum in Illinois. It is estimated that its taxes in 1920 were about $500,000.

In the presidential campaign of 1920 William Wrigley, head of the Wrigley Company, placed its advertising agencies, bill boards, display signs, etc., at the disposal of the Republican National Committee and in addition made a large contribution to the Republican campaign fund. One year later the tax on chewing gum—a luxury—was repealed and a tariff was levied on food, clothing and necessaries.

Now comes this report of the company's prosperity—"after taxes."
