Moslems Seal Graves.

A Moslem grave in Turkey, once it has been filled in, is never reopened on any account. With a view to removing the faintest chance of its being thus defiled the Moslems plant a cypress tree on every grave immediately after the burial.

Ancient Culinary Ideas.

Some of the early ideas of delicacies would not appeal to the modern taste, nor would such methods as some Roman cooks applied to the red mullet, which was cooked while alive in a glass vessel on the table.

Wild Cinnamon.

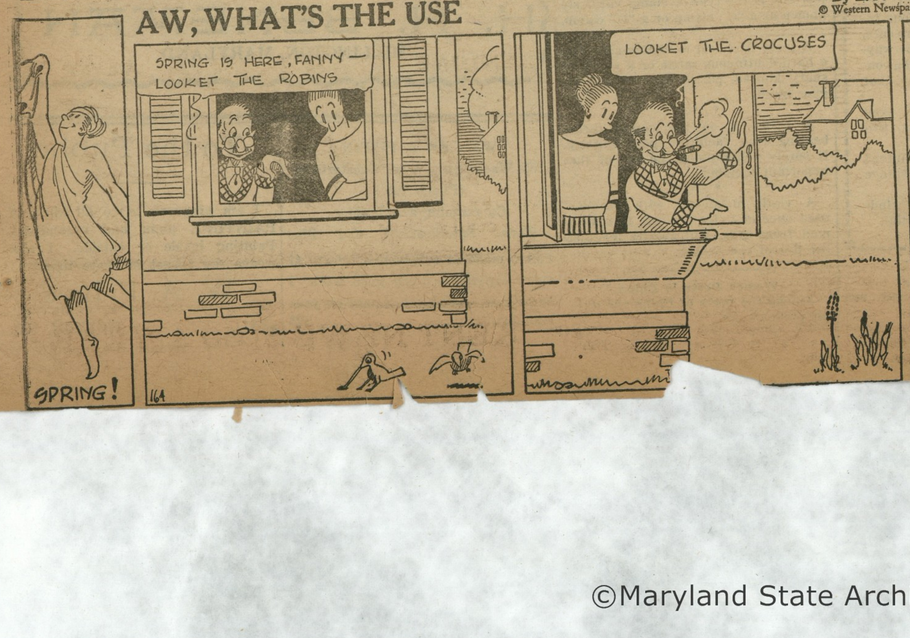

Although the cultivation of cinnamon in Indo-China is increasing, most of the product comes from the wild shrub. When a native discovers a cinnamon tree he must make a declaration before the local administration.

City Driving.

In an alley some small boys were taking turns riding a pony. Above the clatter of hoofs on the pavement, a shrill juvenile voice was heard shrieking. "Open him up, Eddie, open him up. Aw gee—he ain't half open."

Prayer.

More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice rise like a fountain for me night and day. For what are men better than sheep or goats that nourish a blind life within the brain, if, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer both for themselves and those who call them friend? For so the whole round earth is every way bound by gold chains about the feet of God. —Alfred Tennyson.

"Yuletide."

The etymology of "Yule" conclusively proves the pagan origin of this pleasant old Christmas custom of the Yule festival. The feast of the sun god Thor—always celebrated in Saxon days at the winter solstice—was termed Giul, the signification of which was ale; and of this word Yule is a corruption.
