The Organization! Fight for it!

This has been a week of mourning throughout the land. There has been but one note struck, and that a deep note of sorrow for the untimely death of our President. Words seem futile. The volumes already written upon the pages of the Nation's history, fail to compensate for the Nation's loss.

A NATION MOURNS!

The whole United States bows in grief at the death of our President.
He needs no grey-stone monument
Enough—a nation's sad lament
The flags half-mast
The world aghast,
A million hearts with sorrow rent,—
With love like this he'd be content.

OUR NEW PRESIDENT

Calvin Coolidge succeeds to the presidency of the United States. A bolt from the sky removed the chief executive of the republic, but in spite of the shock and the national sorrow the administrative processes of government are unimpaired.

The transition as provided for by the forefathers protects stability even better than it is protected by succession in monarchical form by the processes of cabinet government. The wisdom of the makers of the constitution, foreseeing the needs of a complex democracy, provided a simple, almost automatic succession which installs a new President with less confusion than would be caused by the death of a British prime minister.

His family has been in New England nearly 300 years. That goes down to the bedrock of American life. He was born in Vermont. He was educated at Amherst and he worked his way through college. That is different from finding a college education as a part of the formula of growing to manhood and accepting it carelessly, Coolidge wanted it enough to struggle for it.

He has been successful in politics in Massachusetts. He went about the same road in his state that Mr. Harding did in Ohio, through local offices into state administration. He was lieutenant governor in 1916, 1917 and 1918, and he was governor in 1919 when the Boston police were unionized and attempted to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor. Massachusetts is an industrial state. The commissioner of police denied the police the right to organize. They appealed to Coolidge. He sustained the commissioner. Three-fourths of the force went on a strike.

Coolidge said he would protect order with state troops and, if necessary, with federal tropps, and that no policeman who had been false to his duty and to public security would be taken back. That proved character, but in the election in which this issue was predominant he defeated his opponent by 125,000 votes. In the preceding election Coolidge had defeated the same opponent by 7,000.

He is now President, with the announcement that he will continue the administration of his predecessor with the same advisers, if they will consent to remain with him. That was Roosevelt's policy when he succeeded McKinley.

In about ten months the Republican national convention will be gathering for the nomination of a ticket. If Mr. Harding had lived there would have been little question of his renomination. There might have been opposition, but Mr. Harding was virtually conceded the indorsement of Republicans if he wanted it. From a practical certainly the greatest range of uncertainty has developed.

Only one Vice-President, succeeding to the presidency, has been nominated for a term of his own. That was Theodore Roosevelt, who had nearly all of McKinley's second term, whereas President Coolidge takes office at the beginning of a preconvention campaign. It is rather late for him to reorganize administration elements for himself. There is ample time for other candidates to develop.

Omar D. Crothers, Esq., of Elkton, filed his papers on Monday last with the Kent County Board Supervisors for Judge in this judicial circuit. He is the first candidate to file in Kent county.

The Organization Ticket is going ahead daily. It pays to play square with the people and with this as their motto they will win. Hypocrisy, pussy-footing and trying to ride two horses with one saddle cannot succeed for long.

JUDGE KEATING'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Formal announcement of the candidacy of Judge Thomas J. Keating, of Queen Anne's county, for the Democratic nomination for Associate Judge of the Second Judicial Circuit, is made this morning in newspapers throughout Cecil, Kent Queen Annes, Talbot and Caroline counties. In making the announcement, Judge Keating expresses the determination to observe the precedent established by judges throughout Maryland for the last century, in refraining from making an active political canvass while occupying the bench.

"The duties incident to my present position preclude me from making the usual personal and political campaign," Judge Keating states.

Elevated to the bench a year ago by the appointment of Governor Albert C. Ritchie, following the death of Judge P. B. Hopper, of Centreville, who for many years was loved and respected throughout the circuit, Judge Keating has established an enviable record of efficiency and has manifested decided judicial ability.

Insofar as political history is interwoven with judicial history in the Second Judicial Circuit, the records disclose the interesting fact that whenever a jurist has been appointed to fill out an unexpired term, he invariably has been elected in the subsequent battle of ballots. This is probably due to the fact that Governors are generally reticent about making appointments unless they are confident there is a well defined sentiment favorable to the appointee. And in this connection it will be remembered that Judge Keating went upon the bench with practically the unanimous endorsement of the bar in each of the five counties comprising the Second Judicial Circuit.

Judge Keating has practiced law in Centreville for nearly 30 years and four years ago was the unanimous choice of his party for Attorney General.
