MRS. BUTLER'S ACHES AND PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

W. Philadelphia, Pa.—"When I cleaned house last April I must have overlifted, for after that I had pains and aches all the time and was so discouraged. I could hardly do my own housework, and I could not carry a basket of groceries from the store nor walk even four or five squares without getting terrible pains in my back and abdomen and lower limbs. I went to visit a friend in Mt. Holly, N. J., and she said, 'Mrs. Butler, why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My husband said that if it did her so much good for the same trouble, I should try it. So I have taken it and it is doing me good. Whenever I feel heavy or bad, it puts me right on my feet again. I am able to do my work with pleasure and am getting strong and stout. I still take the Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and am using Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash."—Mrs. CHARLES BUTLER, 1233 S. Hanson St., W. Phila., Pa.

DOGS! DOGS!

Get Your 1923 Licenses

All persons who have not secured 1923 dog tags by August 1st will be visited by a special constable as soon after that date as possible.

Those who then fail to comply with this law will be reported to the States Attorney for prosecution.

There was paid to Kent county stock owners for stock damaged in 1921 $1,754.95, in 1922 $2,287.

For above reason we hope the good thinking public will help in a full enforcement of the dog law.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Edith D. Seward vs. William G. Seward

In the Circuit Court for Kent County. In Equity. No. 2238.

The object of the Bill filed in the above entitled case is to procure a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii for the Plaintiff, a resident of Kent County, Maryland, from the Defendant.

The Bill states:

1. That on the 4th day of September, 1912, Edith D. Seward was married to her husband, the said William G. Seward, at Church Hill, Queen Anne's county, Maryland, with whom she resided at various places, Queen Anne's county, State of Maryland, Kent county, State of Maryland, and the State of Pennsylvania, until the said William G. Seward enlisted in the Army in the summer of 1918. That sometime during March, 1919, the said William G. Seward received his discharge from the Army.

2. That although the conduct of your Oratrix towards her husband, the said William G. Seward, has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said William G. Seward, has, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than three years, to-wit: since he received his discharge from the Army in March, 1919, and that said abandonment is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconcilation.

3. That your Oratrix and the said Defendant, William G. Seward, have two children born to them, namely: Wilbur Vernon Seward, ten years of age, and Olive Amelia Seward, six years of age, who reside with and have been supported by your Oratrix.

4. That in the year, 1920, your Oratrix caused a warrant to be sworn out against the said William G. Seward, charging him with desertion and failure to support his wife and two children and the said warrant resulted in the said William G. Seward being extradited from the State of Ohio and his conviction by the Circuit Court for Kent County, Maryland, April Term, 1920, after a previous indictment had been returned by the Grand Jury for said county.

5. That ever since their said marriage, your Oratrix has behaved herself as a faithful, chaste and affectionate wife towards the said William G. Seward.

6. That your Oratrix has been a resident of Kent county, State of Maryland, for more than two years last past, and is now temporarily employed in the City of Wilmington, State of Delaware.

7. That the said William G. Seward is not a resident of the State of Maryland, but was a resident of the State of Ohio the last time your Oratrix heard from him. But she is uncertain as to his present place of residence.

It is thereupon, this 14th day of July A. D. 1923, ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent County, in Equity, that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Kent county once in each of four successive weeks before the 20th day of August next, giving notice to the said William G. Seward, non-resident defendant, warning him to appear in this Court in person, or by Solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of September next, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

TALKS to MOTHERS about THEIR BABIES

By DR. J. H. MASON KNOX, JR.,

Chief, Bureau of Child Hygiene, Maryland State Department of Health.

THE SICK CHILD

Reprinted by permission of the Baltimore Sun.

IT is essential that the sick child should be under the care of a physician throughout its entire illness. There are so many possible complications that may arise that no one but a physician should properly assume the responsibility in illness. There are, however, certain general arrangements that should be made by the mother in the care of a sick child.

The Sickroom.

THE sickroom should be quiet and well ventilated. There should be a thermometer near the bed, and the temperature of the room should be kept at a point directed by the doctor. The sickroom should not be a gathering place for the family or neighbors. This practice is disturbing to the patient and helps to spread a communicable disease. The mother should accustom herself to the use of a clinical thermometer under the doctor's orders. A child who has a temperature of 99.5 degrees should be kept in bed, and in case the illness has been at all severe he should remain in bed several days after his temperature has become normal. This practice will prevent many dangerous consequences. Any child whose temperature is over 101 needs a doctor promptly.

Written Record.

IT is well for the mother to keep a written record of the patient, including the temperature taken two or three times a day, the regularity of the respirations, presence of cough, sleep, pain and the general appearance of the child. She should also record the amount of food and water taken, number and character of the stools, the amount of urine, presence of vomiting or any unusual symptom. A specimen of the stool and urine should be saved for inspection by the doctor.

If there is fever, a bath at about 90 degrees Fahrenheit may be given once or twice a day. If the hands and feet are cold, hot-water bottles may be used. In acute illness the food should be reduced. Water should be given freely, and the amount of urine voided recorded. In hot weather where there is vomiting and diarrhea all food should be withheld until the arrival of the doctor. The result of treatment of an ill baby depends more upon the nursing care and skillful handling than is the case in the care of sick adults.

A few general considerations may be in order concerning certain conditions which alarm parents and sometimes come on suddenly before a doctor can be reached.

Croup.

THIS is a spasmodic condition of the larynx which comes on usually in the night. The baby wakens with a harsh rasping cough and difficult breathing. Often a simple cold has preceded the night attack. The spasm is best relieved by making the baby vomit. This can be most easily done by a teaspoonful of syrup of ipecac. In mild attacks a smaller dose will produce sufficient relaxation without actual vomiting. Great relief is also obtained by having the baby breathe steam from a tea kettle. The effect is increased by having the steam introduced under a tent placed over the child. The important thing to remember is that attacks which begin so suddenly are rarely really dangerous, and are to be sharply distinguished from a diphtheritic condition.

Convulsions.

THE convulsion is another condition which terrifies mothers, but usually is not serious. Convulsions which appear in a child who has been previously healthy are usually due to undigested food in the intestine. They occur also in children frequently at the beginning of any acute disease with fever. Before the doctor comes, the child should be given a hot bath and a cold application placed on the baby's head. It should be kept as quiet as possible until the arrival of the doctor. If there is any reason to believe that the convulsion is due to indigestion, an enema may be given and a dose of castor oil.

Eruptive Diseases.

WHEN the baby or young child develops a skin eruption, it should be immediately separated from the rest of the family, and kept in a quiet, airy room until the arrival of the doctor. It is important that the doctor be summoned as soon as possible in order that he may determine the nature of the condition.

Colic.

SUDDEN abdominal pain (colic) is not infrequent in infants and young children, especially in those who are improperly fed or who have developed indigestion. The pain is usually due to pressure of gas in the bowels. Holding the baby over the shoulder with a warm hot-water bottle pressed against its abdomen or gentle massage of the abdomen will help him to remove the gas from the stomach. A little hot water and a pinch of baking soda may also assist. The gas lower down in the bowels is best removed by an injection of warm water. It is important that the baby should be kept warm.

Swallowing Foreign Bodies.

INFANTS and young children frequently put small objects in their mouth, and occasionally swallow them. Usually the article is passed through the intestine without causing any damage. Many times mothers fear that certain objects have been swallowed. They are often mistaken. In nearly all instances there is no reason for alarm, and the safest thing to do is simply watch the child to see that no symptoms develop. The movement should be examined for the appearance of the object swallowed. Of course, if it is feared that poison has been swallowed, the baby's stomach should be emptied by giving a teaspoonful of syrup of ipecac and an abundance of warm water. In any case, the doctor should be summoned at once.

Carefully balanced as an airplane propeller

The propeller, which applies the power produced by the motor, has to be as finely balanced as human skill can make it. And the gasoline which produces the power should be just as carefully balanced.

"Standard", the Balanced Gasoline, gives to your motor the smoothest, steadiest, and most generous flow of power that skilled refining has yet produced. Instant starting; quick, snappy pick-ups; power that lifts you over the hills; long economical mileage; and always that even flow of abundant power. That's what "Standard"—The Balanced Gasoline—gives you.

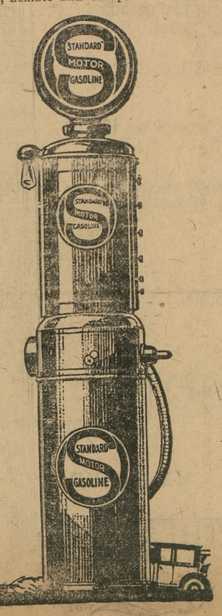

You can't appreciate the wonderful performance of a perfectly balanced car until you've driven one. And you can't know what balance in a gasoline means until you've used "Standard". At any pump bearing the red S. O. sign of quality.
