Cut Offs

If there is a "Cut Off" when a conversation is taking place over the telephone, THE PERSON WHO WAS CALLED SHOULD IMMEDIATELY HANG UP THE RECEIVER. The one who made the call should ask the operator to re-establish the connection, saying: "I was talking to _____ and was cut off."

If the person who was called does not hang up his receiver, his line may test "Busy" and be so reported to the party who is asking to have the connection re-established.

The "Cut Off" may be due to a number of things: an error of the operator; a temporary disarrangement of the signal apparatus; the replacing of the receiver on the hook by mistake by one of the persons talking, or for some other cause.

Realizing the annoyance "Cut Offs" cause our patrons, every possible precaution is taken to prevent them. It will help us to give you better service if, when a "Cut Off" does occur, you will follow the suggestion made above.

(Consult the information pages in the front of the telephone directory)

Facts About the Telephone

In 1832, Herbert Spencer wrote: "The telephone is scarcely used at all in London, and is unknown in the other English cities." That was forty years ago and there are today only about one million telephones in the British Isles as compared with more than fourteen million in the United States.

Of the 248,925 stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of record December 31, 1922, 236,241 held less than 100 shares each, and 198,028 held less than 25 shares each. Ten years ago the average number of shares to a subscriber was sixty-six. Today it is twenty-eight.

During 1922, there were added to the Bell System through new construction, 586,370 telephone stations and in addition to these, 14,279 stations were purchased from other companies. It is estimated that this record growth will be exceeded in 1923 by over 100,000 stations.

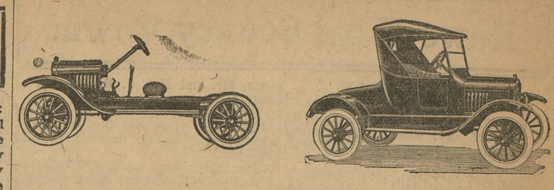

In foreign countries telephone service is confined principally to the cities. One-third of all the telephones in France are in Paris; London also has one-third of all the telephones in Great Britain. Except in the United States and Canada, rural telephone service is almost unknown.

Despite the fact that Germany has only 3.0 telephones per 100 population, it ranks ahead of Great Britain with 2.1 and France with 1.2. Italy has only 0.3 telephones for each 100 of its inhabitants, a figure which is equalled by Poland and exceeded by Czecho-Slovakia.

TELEPHONE OUSTS TOM-TOM AND TRIBE CRIER IN TONGA

No longer do the booming beat of the tom-tom or the musical tones of the tribal crier summon the swarthy sons and daughters of the famous South Sea Islands to their festive gathering, says the Brooklyn Citizen. The telephone has finally made its way into the great Pacific archipelago and has came to stay in the little Kingdom of Tonga. Already the natives of the three large islands and the 300 smaller ones which make up the Tonga group have become almost as accustomed to the mysteries of the "talking wire" as their more effete friends of the Occident.

The telephone system just installed in Tonga by the New Zealand representatives of the International Western Electric Company is one of the smallest in the world. It consists of a little less than a hundred subscriber lines, most of which are located on the main island of the group. Later, as the natives get more familiar with their new utility, it is probable that extensions in service will be made to most of the outlying settlements in the 300-odd square miles of scattered islands included in the kingdom.

1924 Models Are the Finest Big-Sizes Studebaker Ever Built

The enthusiasm with which the new 1924 model Studebaker cars have been received locally is an indication of the reception they have enjoyed throughout the country.

No wonder. They are emphatically the most compelling values Studebaker ever offered and the public knows that Studebaker has been a consistent leader, year after year, in the amount of intrinsic value per dollar invested.

The Big-Six Sedan and the Coupe are the finest cars that have ever borne the name Studebaker. They provide all the performance, all the comfort, and all the dependability that any car will give—at a price that smaller producers cannot approach.

Everything for which one can wish in motoring convenience, comfort and utility has been provided—even to the extra disc wheel with tire, tube and tire cover (two on Sedan); handsome nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear; large, roomy trunk; automatic gasoline signal, and many other features. There is nothing more to buy.

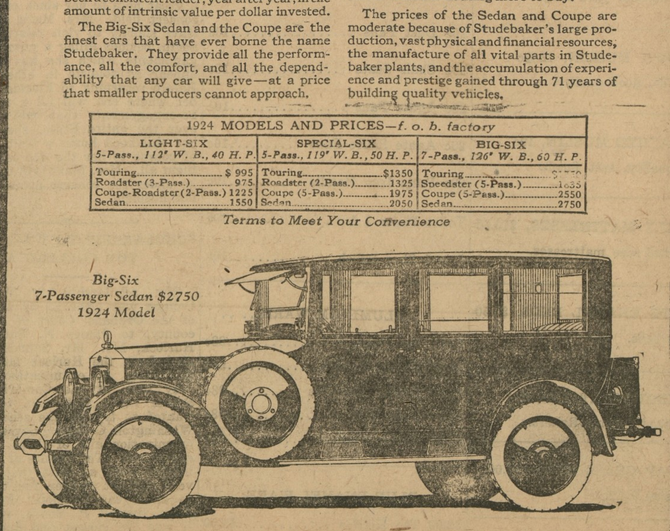

The prices of the Sedan and Coupe are moderate because of Studebaker's large production, vast physical and financial resources, the manufacture of all vital parts in Studebaker plants, and the accumulation of experience and prestige gained through 71 years of building quality vehicles.
