Its all right to save for a rainy day, but don't go spend it all the first drizzle that comes.

An edict has been passed by Gov. Ritchie against the importation of Chrstmas trees from Maine and other States because of the Gypsy Moth. There is said to be enough trees in this State to supply the local demand.

FARM CONGRESS PRESIDENT MAKES RECOMMENDATION

Marketing of America's annual surplus wheat by the government to insure better prices for the producer was urged Wednesday by W. K. James, president, in his opening address to the International Farm Congress, in session in Kansas City.

James' plan would involve turning over by the farmer of his surplus or exportable wheat each year to the United States Grain Corporation and its sale by this agency in the world markets.

The plan also includes price fixing by the government for the bulk of the crop on the basis of home consumption. Thus under this scheme the wheat raiser would be given two markets for his crop and according to James would receive American prices for from 75 to 90 per cent of his product and a world price for the remainder.

"At present the farmer sells one hundred per cent of his product at the low level of world prices and produces his product and supports his fmaily under the artificially stimulated American price levels," James said.

The Secretary of Agriculture under James' plan, would estimate the percentage of the wheat crop to be held for home consumption and the amount to be taken over for export.

When the farmer delivers his wheat to the warehouse, he would receive cash for the home consumed product and a negotiable receipt for the exportable surplus.

This method of marketing would automatically restrict wheat production to the amount required for home consumption and encourage diversified farming, James pointed out.

A telegram to the Congress from President Coolidge said:

"An international consideration of agricultural problems is particularly appropriate now, for the agricultural crisis is, in truth, of international as well as domestic character."

A GOOD EXAMPLE FOR CHESTERTOWN

News dispatch from Salisbury says:

A campaign to "clean up" Salisbury and abolish all gambling machines and devices has been started by the combined churches of the city. The opening gun was fired this week against the slot machines and punch boards which, it is charged, are permitted to be operated in public places.

The adult Bible classes of the seven largest churches in the city, numbering more than 600 men and women members, have unanimously passed resolutions protesting gambling conditions.

There is an indication in the resolutions that, after the present campaign has accomplished its purpose, a drive will be made to obliterate other evils in the city. The resolutions assert that there is gambling in 13 establishments.

The Board of Managers of Chestertown Public Library have arranged for a series of Current Event Talks to be given during winter and spring months. Tickets for the course can be purchased at Harry F. Jefferson's at $2.50. See adv. next week.

The National series of baseball games are now on in New York. Over 100,000 persons attended the first two games expending over $300,000. Each team has won a game. Radio at the Lyceum and at Granberry's gave out reports of the game. Stengel was the hero in Wednesday's game and Ruth in Thursday's game.

Sherman's march to the sea cost Georgia no more than the loss that state is suffering from the migration of her Negro population, according to the Georgia Bankers' Association. The state is threatened with a loss of wealth amounting to $27,000,000 this year. It has 46,674 vacant farm houses, 55,524 idle plows, and a labor shortage of 70,843 persons.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH BACKS LAW ENFORCEMENT

The following Joint Letter signed by all bishops of the Episcopal Church was sent to every rector:

"November, 1922.

"Reverend and Dear Sir:

"The legalized liquor traffic is no more, but the illegal liquor tra c is still with us, backed by those whose ill-gotten gains have been taken away by the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Year by year the Government is proving stronger than the lawless and disobedient. In spite of enemies within and foes without, and slackers in office, and rich and poor whose appetites cause them to defy the law, the final triumph of law and order is near at hand.

"Men and women are seeing more clearly than ever the disasters that must follow when loyalty to the Constitution and obedience to law are derided and defied.

"The Church must speak with no undecided voice to bring all men to see the danger we are in in this restless day. I, therefore, ask you, for the sake of law and order, for the betterment of the home and state, for the upbuilding of the kingdom of righteousness and peace, to use Temperance Sunday — the Sunday next before Advent, as an opportunity to preach to your people the gospel of loyalty to law and obedience to the Constitution."

MINUTE TALKS

IN THE INTEREST OF
BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION OF CHESTERTOWN

By Wm. R. Moody

The following is from the Baltimore Sun of October 8th: "The business men's association of Chestertown conducts minute talks with the people in the columns of the local papers each week, in which they dwell upon matters of vital interest to community progress."

The autumn campaign for membership has started. We have sent out letters and advertising material to 500 prospects. Each present member of the Association has been assigned a list of names and will be asked to approach those on his list with a view to securing them as new members. Our membership list is increasing gradually but surely day by day in every way. During this campaign we want to increase it rapidly and we sincerely trust that everyone who is asked will join at once so that we may print his name on our letterhead, as explained in our circular letters. We will wait a reasonable length of time before putting the final membership list on the press. Let your name be one of that number!

The Business Men's Association, together with several other business organizations on the Shore, recently submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission the matter of the proposed increase class rates from certain points in Delaware, Maryland and Virginia to Buffalo, N. Y., and the proposed increased and reduced class rates from Baltimore to certain points in Maryland and Delaware. As a result the Commission has ordered the proposed schedules cancelled and the proceeding discontinued. Whereas carriers has proposed to put into effect the following class rates to and from the Buffalo—Pittsburgh territory:

First Second Third Fourth Fifth Sixth
106.5 93 70 48 40 33.5

as a result of the united efforts of the aforesaid organization the respective towns will be benefitted by the following rates:

First Second Third Fourth Fifth Sixth
99 85.5 67.5 46.5 39 32.5

It only remains for the formation of a Peninsula Traffic Bureau in order that the Peninsula as a whole may go before the carriers with a united effort and adjust a great many of our present transportation difficulties and thereby develop the entire Peninsula.

There is now pending another case on iron and steel articles to and from the same aforesaid territory. If we are able to win this case it will establish a precedent and no doubt will mean a revision of our entire rate structure to and from the Buffalo-Pittsburgh territory. It will, if the case be won, mean a considerable reduction in the present rates. This decision will also cover a reduction in the second, third, and fourth classes on rail rates from Baltimore to Chestertown, which rates carriers had attempted to advance.

The following letter has been received by the Association from the Eastern Shore Society of Baltimore:

On behalf of the members of the Eastern Shore Society, who had the good fortune to be on the recent trip to Chestertown, it gives me pleasure indeed to thank you and the people of Chestertown for their hearty reception. We have never attempted such a trip before and though we realized that it would be a matter of pleasure to us, yet the results in every way far exceeded our hopes and expectations. For all of this we are deeply indebted to you for the delightful start which you gave to our journey.

(Signed) George L. Radcliffe,
President.

CORN REACHES NEW HIGH PEAK FOR THE YEAR 1923

For the first time since October, 1920, cash corn sold above $1 a bushel Wednesday in Chicago. All futures turned strong and closed sharply higher.

The October quotation was 93½ cents. Cash wheat is but 10 cents a bushel over cash corn. The high price of the latter was $1.01½.

Corn is now 25 to 30 cents a bushel over the price the farmer obtained a year ago.

Frost in the Middle West last month injured the new crop and there has been considerable impairment in quality. As a result many farmers in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, where damage was more severe, are believed to be saving some of their old corn for next year's seed.

Poultry Culling Demonstrations

On October 22nd Mr. W. H. Rice, Poultry Specialist of the University Extension Service, will visit Kent County. Mr. Rice will conduct three poultry culling demonstrations at the following points specified below. In the demonstrations, Mr. Rice will cull three farm flocks of over a hundred birds each. Each demonstrator will pen the birds and feed a prescribed ration for three months. By this method anyone interested in feeding for laying eggs will have a chance to observe these flocks and see results. All farm people who are interested in better farm flocks should see these demonstrations. From all indications, poultry raising will be one of the main problems to be solved by the Farmers through the rural organizations this year. Poultry raising is a subject that should interest the whole family. Plan to attend one of the following meetings:

Monday, October 22nd, 10:00 A. M. —Mr. Harold Baker, Quaker Neck.
Monday, October 22nd, 1:30 P. M. —Mr. Harry Williams, Worton.
Monday, October 22nd, 3:30 P. M. —Mr. Howard Rees, Fairlee.
