KENT FARM LAND BRINGS $1,000 AN ACRE

More Than 100 Building Lots Sold By John Gale Usilton Off His Farm Near Chestertown—Bel Air Real Estate Men Conduct Sale—An Automobile And Cash Prizes Given Away.

It was a great occasion in Chestertown Monday when S. E. Dameron & Company, real estate dealers of Bel Air, put on an auction sale of more than 100 building lots. These lots were a part of the J. Gale Usilton farm and were located on High St., College St., Cannon St. and two newly made avenues named Poplar St. and Cannon St. extended.

The plan used by the expert dealers was fair and open and won the confidence of the hundreds who attended the sale. Before a lot was sold Mr. Dameron made known the terms of sale which included an agreement that no building to cost less than $2,000 was to be erected and no colored person was to be allowed possession of any of the lots. An auctioneer's fee of $5 was exacted on each lot.

Tickets containing name were put into a box. These were given to every one without any other stipulation than that you must be present when your name was called. This ticket when drawn called for a dollar or the big prize—a Ford touring car. The first dollar was given Mrs. Ella Thomas, of Rock Hall, and the second to Harry Ryckman, of Chestertown. These gifts assured the crowd that the auctioneer meant what he said. From this moment there was no trouble to hold the crowd. About $30 was given away during the day. Many were called but had left for a short time, and of course did not get the $1. Walter Bennett, Bryan Newton, Mrs. H. B. Nicholson, Max Blakeney, Mrs. E. M. Sellick, Allie Blyman, Miss Elizabeth Burke, Romie Patrick and others were given a dollar.

The lots had various frontage, from 20 to 25 feet and with a depth of 75 to 150 feet. Price ranged from 65 to $260 per lot. Among the purchasers were:

The Thompson Electric Garage Co., Wm. H. Kirby, Wm. Blackway, R. G. Nicholson, W. H. Thawley, Joseph Downey, Leonard Pennington, Chas. Spry, Charles L. Dodd, H. Stockton Startt, J. P. Decorse, Edgar Clarke, W. M. Maslin, W. H. Lambert, and many others. The lots comprised about 11 acres and aggregated nearly $11,000.

The automobile was given away at close of sale to Aleck Hershberg, Jr., a nine-year-old living Corner of High and College streets, his name having been drawn from the box.

The Chestertown Band, Prof. Kelley, leader, furnished excellent music.

KENT COUNTY LEADS STATE IN TOMATOES

Some weeks ago the News published the fact that Norman Lee on the France farm would likely lead the county and possibly the State in yield of tomatoes. His yield up to that time was published. The final report has been received and his crop amounts to 91 tons and 11 baskets off 6 acres. This is over 15 tons per acre. This was thought to take the prize in State, but he has a rival. This means $375 per acre at 25 cents per basket.

William Brooks grew an average of 11 tons off 4½ acres on the Collins-Westcott farm.

Roy Walbert on the Crossley farm grew between 9 and 10 tons per acre.

Wm. Slagle, had charge of 109 acres in tomatoes shipped from Quaker Neck Wharf and the yield was 30,000 baskets, or about 5 tons to the acre, of which Mr. Lee grew one-sixth.

Capt. Wm. H. Cooper, of Buck Neck, says there were 425 acres contracted for at that shipping point and the yield was 7 tons per acre.

Capt. Lum Ashley carried 35,319 baskets of tomatoes from 75 acres at Long Cove. Miller Strong grew 11,400 baskets of this lot.

Harry H. Legg, Flatland, is without question the champion tomato grower of Kent and likely of the State. From four acres and one drill row over a 20-acre field he picked not quite 65 tons and delivered them at the Chestertown cannery.

REV. G. M. CLAYTON UPSET

While enroute to Chestertown in a Ford sedan Tuesday night Rev. G. M. Clayton, of Centreville, had a head on collision with another machine and both autos were upset. The accident occured near Starkey's Corner. It was caused by too much corn whiskey on the part of the stranger. Dr. Clayton escaped with a cut finger. He was helped to Chestertown where he preached in Christ M. P. Church the same night.

James W. Crouch is spending a few days at Atlantic City.

Big Meeting Of Klu Klux

About five thousand persons were present at the Klu Klux meeting in Queen Anne's, near Centreville, on Thursday night last. Men, women and children from Kent, Queen Anne's and other sections of the Eastern Shore and from Delaware were onlookers of the parade, the lighting of the large cross and the speech of Mr. Hawkins. About 100 members of the Klan in white robes and masks paraded through the streets of Centreville. A class of about 40 were initiated in the Klu Klux after the parade.

Mr. Hawkins in his speech made on Nov. 6th. A severe attack was also made upon the Catholics. It is said a meeting will be held in Kent soon.

Mr. Hawkins in his speech made an attack upon Governor Richie because he would not let the K. K. have the use of the State Armories for meeting of the Klan. Hawkins predicted the defeat of Ritchie on November 6th. A severe attack was also made upon the Catholics. It is said a meeting will be held in Kent soon.

TO ASK FOR NEW CHESTER RIVER BRIDGE

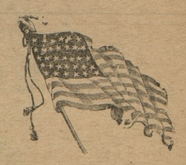

A liberal appropriation for the construction of bridges on State highways will be asked the next Legislature by State Roads Chairman John N. Mackall. The amount has not yet been determined.

Bridges proposed in the program for the next three years are South river, Chester river at Chestertown Bohemia river and a few smaller structures.

Next year Mr. Mackall expects to have more funds for maintenance than during the past year, when $2,000,000 was expended. More would have been spent for widening roads if receipts from automobile license tags and the gasoline tax had warranted, he said.

Governor Ritchie has promised not to divert road maintenance appropriations in his next budget and, on this basis, the road fund should rise to $2,500,000.
