The Rose Bud Sign Is Being Recognized As The Seal Of Flour Quality

Ross Bud Flour Sales Are Growing By Leaps And Bounds. Quality Is The Reason

Of All Foods Those Made of Flour Are Used Most By The American People

ADITORIAL

Many of our customers in being shown around our mill have asked the question, "Why do you go to all this trouble in manufacturing Rose Bud flour." This is but a natural question, and is very easily answered.

Two parties gain from the care we constantly exercise. First the user. Our care insures their having a pure wholesome product that matches well any that is made. This assurance is of real value to users and that is one reason why we are so cautions. In the second instance, we are the gainers. And here's how. Every sack or barrell of flour that we turn out, that proves eminently satisfactory, works to an almost inestimatable value to us. It is creating good-will, and good-will is creating for us a continuance of patronage and a future increase to our business.

From this it can easily be seen that we are well repaid for the little extra trouble and care that is practiced at Radcliffe Mills.

This being so, every family should use the utmost precaution in seeing that the flour purchased is of the highest of quality. There should be no loop-hole for impurities to creep in—absolute purity should be an exacting demand.

Rose Bud Flour is a 100% guaranteed pure flour. Only the choicest grain is used in its manufcture—but more about this will be said below. And the care that is exercised at Radcliffe Mills insures the purchaser of the best that can be had. A lot of flours cost more money—but this tells no story. Rose Bud is the cream of the field and its superlatively fineness will always make it incomparable to the ordinary run of flour and the equal of the best that is made.

When you buy a sack or a barrel of Rose Bud you take no chance. If it does not—in your opinion—measure up to the high standards that we boast, the flour is yours and the money that you have paid will always be refunded without a challenge.

The capacity of our mill is great, and though our sales are growing with surprising rapidity, it is not taxed to its utmost possibilities—and this is what we are striving for. Consequently we are anxious that even more people, than at present are faithful users of this flour, get acquainted with our product, and become constant users.

Just try a sack the next time you need flour, and we will with pleasing satisfaction await the result of your judgement of its fitness.

The Selection of The Grain Is Important To Fine Flour

Many mills take wheat as it comes. There is no descrimination practised against the mediocre or cheap grades. This is not so out at Radcliffe Mills. There the finest of wheat grains only is used. We faithfully and consistantly watch the run of the grain, and if it does not measure up to the standard necessary to turn out a good flour the quality of Rose Bud, it is turned down—we refuse to let it enter our mill. Many will say that this is not essential. But we differ, because it is our knowledge and experience that the low grade wheat invariably turns out the low grade flour.

We do not want this in Rose Bud, we want the best, and we feel that even this is none too good. The one message that we want to deliver to you at this time is, NOTHING IN THE WAY OF CARE IS SACRIFICED IN THE MAKING OF ROSE BUD FLOUR—HENCE ONE OF THE REASONS FOR ITS ALMOST INCOMPARABLE FINENESS.

We want you to think of these things, and to appreciate the care that we are constantly using in our fforts to turn out a product that will meet with your most exacting requirements.

What We've Done

About what we have just said regarding the care in the use of wheat that measures up to a certain standard.

During last year we imported approximately twenty thousand bushels of wheat from the state of Pennsylvania, to use in the manufacture of Rose Bud flour. We did this because we were experiencing difficulty in securing wheat that was of a sufficiently high grade to warrant going into the mill to turn out Rose Bud Flour. This is just one of the many instances that we will quote to show you how scrupously we watch over every stage of the manufacture of our product. It must be right, else we do not want to put it on the market.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS NOV. 29TH, THANKSGIVING DAY

President Coolidge's Thanksgiving Day proclamation, issued today from the White House, calls to mind that the year has brought to the American people two tragic experiences—the death of President Harding and the Japanese earthquake — but says that such experiences serve to test and refine men and nations.

During the year, also, the proclamation says, the nation has been blessed with much of material prosperity.

The President asked that the people gather in their homes and places of worship on Thursday, November 29, to give expression to their gratitude.

ATTENDS CONVENTION

Miss Margaret Elliott and J. Weldon Walbert, Jr., represented the Sunday School of Fairlee M. E. Church at the Eastern Shore Regional State Convention of the Maryland Sunday School Association, which was held in Bethesda Methodist Church, Salisbury, last week. Some beneficial reports were brought back, and if carried out, will help to improve our Sunday schools.

MARYLAND SCHOOLS MAKE FINE PROGRESS

Schools in every county in the State except Howard have made progress since 1922, according to further figures issued last week by the State Department of Education.

A comparison of separate index-figures for Baltimore city and for the counties shows that the city's entire progress from 1918 to 1923 is rated at 40.9, while the counties showed an increase of 20.2. The increase in the State rating, including both the city and the counties, is 29.6.

The correct figures of the entire rating show the State's index figure to be 72.8 points instead of 72.7 and the increase in rating over 1922 to be 7.7 points instead of 7.6.

The county average for the year is 60.5, against the city rating of 89.5. And against the city's increase of 11.4 points the counties show an average increase of 4.5. The city's great increase is due in a measure to the school building program.

Figures for the counties follow:

County.	Index Fig.	Increase
Allegany	78.2	1.5
Anne Arundel	62.7	13.9
Baltimore	76.5	1.5
Calvert	46.0	4.6
Caroline	55.6	4.2
Carroll	58.7	3.9
Cecil	59.4	3.9
Charles	43.5	2.9
Dorchester	50.5	4.0
Frederick	67.4	6.1
Garrett	55.3	7.9
Harford	56.1	.7
Howard	51.0	4.0
Kent	55.1	4.6
Montgomery	62.1	8.3
Prince George's.	62.9	8.8
Queen Anne's	56.0	3.4
St. Mary's	36.8	6.3
Somerset	49.6	4.0
Talbot	63.7	11.9
Washington	57.7	3.7
Wicomico	57.3	4.5
Worcester	51.9	.6

St. Mary's is the only county in 1923 with an index number lower than the State average in 1918. These figures were prepared by Miss Bessie Stern, statistican for the department.

Railroads The Promoters of Progress

The HALL MARK OF SERVICE

The Heralds of Prosperity

Did it ever occur to you how necessary the Pennsylvania Railroad System and other railroads are to your well being?

How essential to the convenience and comfort of yourself and family?

Did you ever stop to think of what the railroads have done to facilitate your business prosperity or enhance the development and growth of your community, in its relations to other sections of the country?

Did it ever occur to you, that every dollar expended in the purchase of transportation is an interest-paying investment, yielding abundant returns in better railroad service, greater prosperity, growth, and development of every interest?

As the irrigation of the ground makes fruitful the soil, so the success of the railroads radiates progress and prosperity.

What Your Co-operation Means

Railroads cannot expand alone. They require your help, your co-operation, your friendly attitude to attain the aim they have in view to achieve the best results for the peopl the highest type of transportation service.

Without your co-operation, progress is shackled and the best efforts of the railroads come to naught.
