Rev. J. Frank Bryan, D. D. Assails Conditions In City

The Rev. Dr. J. Franklin Bryan, pastor of Emmanuel Protestant Church, Fifty-fifth street and Willows avenue, Philadelphia, and a former Kent countian, will lead the organized church forces of the fortieth ward in a campaign for law enforcement. The North American says, "Doctor Bryan is a veteran at fighting speakeasies, gambling houses and other vice resorts, having engaged in similar work several years ago in Baltimore.

Following a mass meeting two weeks ago, in the Westminster Presbyterian Church, church leaders and citizens have organized the Fortieth Ward League for Law Enforcement and Community Betterment, which began "cleaning up the ward" Monday.

Speaking of vice conditions in the fortieth ward, the Rev. Dr. J. Franklin Bryan said there were a number of illicit saloons in the ward, in addition to gambling and disorderly houses.

"We intend to make a survey of the ward, so as to ascertain what is going on" said the clergyman. "We shall not disturb private citizens, and no action will be taken until we have the facts in our possession. Some of the politicians are with us in our fight to clean up the ward.

"Altho I am a southerner, I didn't come here with a chip on my shoulder. We will work conservatively and will not go over the heads of the police authorities unless they refuse to act. It is our belief that the police desire to obey the law and that they will welcome the assistance of the best element in the community."

When Governor Austin Crothers, of Maryland, tried to clean up Baltimore some years ago, Doctor Bryan joined the crusade "as a private detective, without pay." Accompanied by another clergyman, he investigated illicit saloons, and several were closed as a result of his efforts. In that crusade the lid was clamped down upon Baltimore's segregated district.

"Conditions appear to be bad in certain sections of the fortieth ward," Doctor Bryan said. "When I say this I am not referring to the newly built Sherwood community."

Doctor Bryan is president of the Ward League with other prominent men as officers.

Washington College Notes

The first cotillion hop of the Washington College Cotillion Club this year was held last Friday, Nov. 30, in the gymnasium. Music was furnished by Madden's Orchestra of Wilmington, Del.

The regular weekly meeting of the Adelphia Literary Society was held Monday evening, Nov. 26.

The Mt. Vernon Literary Society held their regular weekly meeting in William Smith Hall last Wednesday evening.

The Maroon and Black squad of Washington College were given a bacation last Monday morning week in honor of the victory over St. John's College in football last Saturday week. But the Maroon and Black squad were not the only vacationists from classes last Monday. The entire student body "played hookey" from classes also. From early in the morning until late at night the students celebrated with unrestrained joy the victory. In the morning the students formed a huge W. C. out on the campus proper. Under the direction of their cheer leader, yells and songs resounded in enthusiastic tribute to the Maroon and Black warriors; and later the students snake-danced over the principal streets of Chestertown. Speeches were made by Captain Duffy, Manager Griffith and various members of the team. Capt. Duffy, who received a tremendous ovation both from the students and townspeople, thanked everyone for the splendid support which has been given Washington College during the season and especially in connection with the St. John's game. He attributed the success to the willingness of every player to sacrifice self in the interest of unified team play. Boxes, paper and everything that was inflammable had been collected thruout the day and the only thing that remained was to touch the torch at 9 o'clock that night. However, due to a heavy fall of rain there was no celebration Monday night.

Announcement was made this week in Chapel of the subjects chosen by the thirteen members of the Senior Class for their required Thesis, this year. Every department is well represented, results being as follows: Department of Political Science, 5; Department of Sciences, 3; Department of Mathematics, 1; Department of English, 2; Department of History 2. 2.

DRESS PATTERNS IN DAILIES

The first full size pattern of the remarkable series of gifts to its women readers by The Sunday Baltimore American will begin in next Sunday's American, December 9.

Women readers got acquainted with method of using the famous "Mimo pattern" last Sunday when The Baltimore American printed two sample patterns.

Beginning next Sunday, however, each copy of the paper will contain regular working copies of exclusive patterns, simple and easy to use, designed by Harry Collins, America's foremost designer of fashions for women and children, fresh from his studio in New York.

After you have read every line of the latest news, after you have read exclusive articles by many of the world's leaders, and have laughed over the 8 pages of colored comics, after all that and numerous other remarkable features in Maryland's super-newspaper, the paper will still be worth from 75 cents to $1.25.

Every Sunday The Baltimore American will contain a Collins pattern printed in invisible ink in the paper. It will not be a supplement, nor a slimsy, folded, complicated pattern, but a pattern that will occupy two full pages of the Sunday edition of The Baltimore American—a "Mimo Pattern" of patented process.

You develop the invisible lines of the pattern yourself. Full directions will be published in every paper containing the pattern, telling where it will be found and describing in detail the simple process.

A few strokes of a sponge or cloth, moistened in a simple formula of a quarter-teaspoonful of lye dissolved in aglass of warm water, patted gently over the pages, and presto! Like magic the pattern comes out bold and clear, ready to work with.

And these exclusive patterns can be secured in no other way than through the Hearst papers.

The offering at the union services in Christ M. P. Church Thursday was for the County Health Association.
