STILL POND, MD.

STILL POND ITEMS.

Having seen no news in your valuable columns for some time one would suppose our little town was very quiet indeed. But Still Pond so far as business, at least, is concerned is very much alive. With such men of business as Wm. Medders and J. W. Harper, with their mammoth stores, Elis W. Scarborough, A. J. Hackett, Wm. Parr, Geo. W. Covington and others, any town must awake to business. And this one is far ahead of others of its size and wealth so far as we are informed.

Our postmaster is having his office very much improved and during the coming week will have the wall nicely papered.

Our farmers are all quite busy killing hogs and we learn there are many fine porkers in the neighborhood.

Miss Deally D. Crossley, our effcient milliner, is in Baltimore buying goods of the latest styles and fashions.

Our people are gradually beginning to see the convenience of the electric plant and a few lights are put in weekly. Mr. Arthur Allston has had them put in his meat market and the parlor of his residence, and Mr. Wm. H. Krusen is having them placed in his undertaking office and show room.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Roseberry returned from their wedding tour this week and took up their residence near here. We wish them many years of happiness and pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair Turner moved this week into the house lately occupied by Mrs. Mary Wilson.

Messrs. J. T. Jones and R. E. Robinson have just returned from a week's trip to Phila. and report a pleasant time spent in the City of Brotherly Love.

Dame Rumor has it that there is soon to be another wedding in this community. Now guess.

Lewin B. Meekins, son of George Meekins, died at his parents' residence in Worton Station after a short illness of Spasmodic Croup, on Saturday, Nov. 17, aged 5 years, 9 months and 18 days. Funeral services were held at his parents' residence on Monday at 2 p. m., Rev. J. McClosky officiating. Interment at old Union cemetery. Funeral Director W. H. Krusen in charge.

ROCK HALL LOCALS.

Sunday last was an ideal autumn day, and as a consequence the church goers were out in force. All the services held in the several churches were largely attended. The seating capacity in the headquarters of the M. E. Sunday School was taxed to its uttermost during the afternoon. The service being unusually interesting. Mr. Horsey the Boot & Shoe man was a visitor and gave an interesting review of the day's lesson.

Again the noise of the saw and hammer is heard in and about the new church. Several workmen from the city having been secured to push on the work. The foreman made a proposition to members and friends of the M. E. society to take charge of the further construction of the church and finish it and then turn it over to the trustees before Xmas which proposition has been accepted.

That talk about election reform in Wicomico sounds right; but will it be a fact? God grant that it may, throughout the State and country. The venal voter is becoming so great that the honest voters see little now of their exercise of the franchise.

Mr. A. Alexander is having an addition erected to his village dwelling now occupied by Mr. W. B. Coursey.

Last Sunday St. John's Catholic Church, Rock Hall, was reopened with impressive ceremonies, after a thorough renovation. High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. J. L. McSweeney, with music furnished by a special choir from Chestertown, consisting of Mrs. H. L. Boyd, Misses Nannie Dixon, Helen Wilkins and Florence Green and Mr. W. W. Chapman. Solos were sung by Mr. Chapman and Miss Wilkins. All the music was of a high order. The sermon was delivered by Very Rev. John A. Lyons, V.G., of Wilmington, on "Christian Art" and was one of the ablest and most instructive ever preached in St. Johns. Benediction was given by Very Rev. Father Lyons assisted by Father McSweeney.

The improvements make St. John's one of the most attractive churches on the Eastern Shore. The painting was done by Messrs. Blakeney & Son, Chestertown, and is a credit to their skill and a model of good workmanship.

WEDDING EVENTS . . . .

Miss Elizabeth Estelle Fallowfield, of Ridgley, and Mr. Arthur Peacock, of New York, were united in marriage in Ridgely M. E. Church by Rev. E. R. Sidell, of Marydel, Wednesday afternoon. The ushers were Mr. Peacock, brother of the groom; Mr. Elwood Ross, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Stevens and Mr. Frank Lane, of Ridgely.
