MAJOR PERKINS DEAD!

Stricken With Heart Disease at His Home in Chestertown and Dies Very Suddenly.

A MAN OF EXACT DEPORTMENT.

Chestertown and Kent county received another shock on Tuesday morning when it became known that MAJOR EBEN F. PERKINS had died suddenly the night before. He had spent all of Monday at his law office, as was his custom, and was to all appearances in the very best of health. His familiar form and military bearing as he came and went among his fellow citizens was a memory that could not be easily effaced and when it was reported that he had died without an hour's sickness and conscious to the very last it could hardly be realized. But it was too true.

Mrs. Perkins had been visiting relatives in Philadelphia and came home on Monday by the evening train. Mr. Perkins and son were at the train to meet her and on going home all partook of a late supper. Major Perkins seemed to relish his evening meal and retired at an early hour. Mrs. Perkins had been telling news of the family in Phlladelphia and he was much interested. A short while after eleven o'clock Mr. Perkins was taken with coughing and Mrs. Perkins became alarmed, her son, Eben, at once went for Dr. W. F. Hines, who lives just two doors above. Dr. Hines was at his bedside in a very few minutes, but his skill could avail nothing as he was beyond human aid and death came at once. He was conscious to the end and stated that, "it was just as I expected, as I have had heart trouble for about a year," but he never complained of feeling bad and had kept his trouble to himself. The death ot his oldest son, Charles E., three months ago was a severe blow to him and he never got over it.

No man in Kent was better known, as he traveled from the head of Sassafras to East Neck Island while he was examiner of the public schools. He would have been 72 years old this coming June and during his long life was one of Kent's best citizens and was honored by his fellows in various positions of trust. He had the confidence of all classes and fulfilled the responsibilities of various positions with fearlessness and fidelity. As an educator he had a State reputation. He was the oldest living graduate of Washington College, having graduated with Dr. W. S. Wroth, James Vickers and William Armstrong in the class of 1849. The Old Mt. Vernon Society of this college also loses its oldest and honored member in the death of Mr. Perkins.

After graduating from Washington College he taught school in Kent and at the same time studied law and was admitted to the Kent bar. In 1858 he was elected State's Attorney for Kent county. He was special auditor in equity on a number of occasions; was public school examiner for nearly a quarter of a century and in this position made a reputation as an educator that has always been looked up to with pride and the teachers honored and respected him He was auditor of the court for nearly 30 years; was for many years secretary and treasurer of the School Board; was treasurer of Washington College, and held other positions. In every case his administration was marked by ability and scrupulous exactness in every detail. He was absolutely fearless and irreproachable in the performance of duty. He was the organizer and first captain of tne Reed Rifles, Kent's most widely known military company, and a military exactness characterized his every act, whether in business or private affairs of life. This organization has now about 20 members scattered over the country. He was the founder of the Chestertown Transcript and for many years its editor.

A widow, a sister of ex-Mayor Charles E. Warwick, of Philadelphia, and four sons—Clarence W., a member of the Baltimore bar; George, of Philadelphia; Eben F., teller in the Second National Bank and Thomas W. Perkins, teller in the Kent County Savings Bank, Chestertown—and two brothers, Dr. James A. Perkins, of Germantown, and Dr. Benjamin B. Perkins, of Philadelphia, survive him.

The funeral took place from his late home on Thursday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. Dr. Martin officiated. The bearers were his four sons—George, Eben F., Clarenece W., and Thomas W. Perkins—Lewin W. Wickes and Charles C. Hopper. Undertaker J. E. Ferguson was funeral director.

THE Kent public schools will be closed from Thursday, March 27th, to Tuesday April 1st.

AN ELOPEMENT CASE.

A Married Man Elopes with a Chestertown Man's Wife and Flees to Delaware.

Mrs. Chas. Waddell, of Chestertown, appeared before Justice Melvin on Thursday and applied for a writ for the arrest of John Walls. Mrs. Waddell says that John Walls enticed her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Taylor, to elope with him to Delaware. Mrs. Taylor's husband is Dollie Taylor and is now fishing near Cliff City.

Mrs. Taylor formerly lived with Mrs. Capt. Pheffer in Chestertown, until one night when she suddenly disappeared. This was the time Walls disappeared also and it is said they went together and turned up at Blackbird, Del. Walls has a wife and five children living in Delaware. Mrs. Waddell is very much incensed against Walls for eloping with her daughter and says that if there is any law to punish him she will do it. Mr. Taylor, the husband of the eloping woman, takes it philosophically and says if she wants to stay with Walls he is satisfied, but the mother is not so easily pleased. Officer Cooper had a writ out for Walls for desertion of his wife.

BALTIMORE HUNTERS IN KENT

Fox Hunters from the Society Clubs Entertained by County Friends—Rivaling With The Hounds.

Sixteen fox hunters of the Green Spring Valley and Patapsco Fox Hunting Clubs arrived in Chestertown Thursday via Tolchester. Four lady hunters of Green Spring Valley were in the party. They brought about twenty-five hounds with them and their own horses. In the party were Miss Fannie Lurman, Miss Katherine Lurman, Miss Nancy Lee, Miss Ellinor Stewart, Messrs. Redmond C. Stewart, Frank Bonsal, Edmund Burke, W. F. Cochran, C. M. Stewart, Jr., W. Irving Cross, Jervis Spencer, Jr., Frank Keating, Felix Sullivan, Arthur T. Selden, J. M. Henry and Dorsey Rogers. Another large party came last night and will be on the run to-day. Mr. Redmond C. Stewart was master of the hounds.

Mr. George Brice, the expert Kent rider and hunter, is acting as host for the party and he will see that everything is done for their comfort and entertainment while guests of the Eastern Shore. They are entertained at the Voshell House.

Yesterday the hunt took place across the bridge in Queen Anne's and about one hundred persons witnessed the run. Mr. Brice had his pack of 25 hounds in the run and there was great rivalry between the city and county dogs. The Misses Shaw, of Chestertown, were among the hunters. Last night a reception was given the visitors at the big Westcott house, on Queen street, Chestertown. Another big hunt will take place to-day.

The horses ridden by Miss Stewart and Mr. Burk got terrible falls in a soft field, and the latter's animal was very severely injured. It is thought his neck was paralyzed, as he could not be gotten up and died in a short time.

A COMING EVENT IN CHESTERTOWN.

The fair and bazaar to be given in Stam's Hall the first week in April gives promise of being a novel and beautiful affair. Besides the musical and literary program, and supper, there will be twelve booths representing the twelve calendar months. The following are the managers of the different booths:

January—Souvenir Reception Room—Mrs. W. B. Copper and Mrs. Hiram Brown.
February—Confectionery—Mrs. Anna R. Brown.
March—Inn—Ice Cream and Cake—Mrs. Georgie Reed.
April—Umbrella, Red Cat ?—Mr. M. W. Thomas.
May—May Pole, Fancy Table—Mrs. Charles Richard Twilley.
June—Gondola, Flowers—Mrs. H. Benge Simmons.
July 4th—National Apron and Handkerchief Booth—Miss Anna G. Lambert.
August—Palmistry Tent—Miss Elizabeth Stuart.
September—Post office, Columbia and Uncle Sam—Miss Hallie Toulson.
October—Grape Arbor, Fruits—Mrs. Frank M. Miller.
November—Klondyke Mine—Miss Mary C. Burchinal.
December—Ice Cave, Souvenir—Mr. Harry Jefferson.

Contributions to the fair have been received from the wives of Attorney General Knox, of Washington, Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania, Bishop Bowman and others. Mrs. Knox sent a beautiful handkerchief valued very high.

THE young son of Mr. Ogden Leary, near Rock Hall, was painfully burned by the explosion of a toy cannon on Thursday. The young man was attended by Dr. Selby and he is getting along very nicely.

Personal and Social.

Messrs. R. D. Hynson, Hope H. Barroll, Samuel Vannort, W. W. Hubbard and H. W. Vickers were in Annapolis this week on business.

Ex-Senator W. T. Hepbron, near Still Pond has been quite sick.

Prof. J. A. Greenwood, of Rock Hall, is reported as improving very slowly.

Mr. John W. Harris has been compelled to resign his position as engineer at the Strawboard Mill on account of ill health. Mr. Harris has been a faithful employ of this mill for many years.

Miss Nellie Walker, of Hanesville, is the guest of Miss Anna Tollinger, Queen Street.

The old "Wickes Homestead" South Rock Hall, hostess, Miss Mamie E. Wickes, was the scene of a brilliant gathering of happy people on Monday evening. The occasion being the regular meeting of the Ladies Mite Society of Wesleyan M. P. Church, and a Pie Social. About forty persons were present, the spacious dwelling, was brilliantly illuminated from cellar to roof. After the transaction of routine business a musical, and literary program was rendered as follows: Selected reading, Mrs. John Wood; music. Mr. Manie Miller; recitation, Miss Hattie Lewis. A very interesting musical feature by Mr. Elsworth Leary and sister was on the program, but owing to the sickness of Mr. Leary, this feature had to be omitted. All present pronounced the occasion one of the most enjoyable of their experience.

A most enjoyable social was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sutton on Wednesday evening. About 45 young folks were present and indulged in many innocent games. Refreshments were invitingly served.

The weight social held at the home of Mr. Robert Rash, Worton, on Tuesday evening was largely attended. The Opera House band, Prof. John Cannon, leader, discoursed fine music for the company. It was a success financially and socially. Each person was taxed one-quater of a cent for each pound of weight. There were some heavy weights there too.

Judges for Oratorical Contest.—The judges on "Thought and Composition" for the coming oratorical contest of the Maryland colleges, which takes place in Chestertown on April 25th, have been selected. They are Dr. Bernard Steiner, of the Enoch Pratt Library, Baltimore; Rev. Dr. C. Ernest Smith, of St. Michaels and All Angels Church, Baltimore, and Rev. Dr. David L. Greenfield, of Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown. Those on oratory will likely be Hon. George M. Upshur, of Baltimore; Hon. M. Bates Stevens, of Caroline, and Dr. Turner, of Washington, D. C. The contestants on the part of Washington College, were decided Friday evening.
