"IVORY CITY" ON THE RIVER.

A Brief Synopsis of the Charleston Exposition—the Maryland Building a Beauty and Visitors Welcomed Cordially.

NO. 2.

Having taken a birds-eye-view of the city we pass on to the Exposition. It had wisely been determined from the first that a special feature should be made at the Exposition of the industries peculiar to the South. A Textile building, in which is given an object-lesson in the wonderful development of the cotton manufactures in the South during the past twenty years, was first planned. Liberal space in the architect's designs was allowed for exhibits of agricultural products peculiar to the South, such as tea, hemp and tobacco; of non-agricultural products, such as phosphate, and to exhibits of forestry, fish and fisheries. Arrangements were made to exploit the various resources of the state of South Carolina in detail and for a live-stock exhibit. The United States Government exhibit, perhaps the best at Buffalo, was secured, and in order to show business men of the South the possibilities of the further expansion of American trade and manufactures in the West Indies, special efforts were made to secure a comprehensive and general exhibit from Cuba, Puerto Rico, Mexico and the South and Central American republics. The business men of Charleston believe that with Cuba and Puerto Rico importing wheat, corn, bread-stuffs, hog and dairy products—in fact, most of the necessaries of life—and with all the West Indian island importing and needing large and constantly increasing supplies of cotton goods, there should be a market for everything raised and produced in the South at their very doors.

The principal Exposition buildings are thirteen in number, and comprise the Cotton, Commerce and Agricultural Palaces and the Minerals and Forestry, Administration, Auditorium, West Indian, Woman's, Art, Negro, Transportation, Fisheries and Machinery Buildings. The Court of Palaces, around which the main Exposition buildings are grouped, is twelve hundred feet in length and more than eighteen hundred feet wide. In the center of this vast area is a Sunken Garden seven hundred and fifty feet long by four hundred and fifty feet wide. The Sunken Garden holds a lake, spanned at intervals by rustic bridges, whose borders are outlined at night by fairy lamps. The effects of this Court of Palaces in the daytime, with its wide stretches of soft green lawns, its palmetto trees and its splendid surrounding buildings joined by long colonnades, with the lofty domes of the three palaces standing out against the warm skies, is remarkably beautiful. One misses the grandeur of the great fountain at Buffalo, and particularly the Electric Tower, but the Court of Palaces at Charleston is, apart from this one feature, quite as beautiful as the great court at Buffalo. The natural section is apart from the Court of Palaces, and is reached by a short walk or by the miniature railroad, whose tiny trains, carrying hundreds of visitors, puff to and fro the day and evening through. Lewin took a ride on this railroad and says it is the most distinctive and unique part of the exposition. An artificial sheet of water, Lake Juanita, made by flooding a large marsh from the near-by Ashley River, has on its banks on one side the Maryland, New York and Philadelphia Building, and on the other the Machinery and Transportation Buildings. The Maryland building is a credit to our State and we found there the coziest spot on the grounds. The porter escorted us through its well-furnished apartments and in the reading room was found all the daily papers from this State.

In the spacious hall over the market one may see the flagstaff of Fort Sumter, which was repeatedly shot down; some shell from Gilmore's "Swamp Angel," which was a gun mounted in the marsh, which threw the first shots into the city; specimens of parched sweet potato and parched rye such as were used for coffee in the Confederate army; a pair of wartime shoes used on plantations, having wooden soles with leather hinges; and a flag of truce made of a handkerchief attached to a ramrod, which was used to convey to the blockading fleet the news of the evacuation of Charleston.

Of all these buildings that erected and arranged by the negroes of Charleston and the South, through a committee headed by Booker Washington, will perhaps be found of the most interest to visitors from the North. In it are displayed exhibits which manifest the remarkable advance made during the last decade in industrial education among the negroes of the South, exemplified in the work shown by the pupils of Tuskegee and other institutes. Those visitors interested in the education of the negro will find in small compass in this building a most comprehensive showing of the work that is being done to educate the Southern negro.

Horse-racing has always flourished in the South, and in the palmy days before the war the winter meets of the old Charleston Jockey Club were great features of social life in the South, bringing to the race course of the old city the flower of Southern beauty, wealth and chivalry. The Charleston Exposition has the added unique feature of a race-course, near the famous old Washington course of the Jockey Club, and on its half-mile track races are held every day. About a thousand men and one hundred women were present during our visit and with but few exceptions the attendants joined in the pools or in playing the Monte Carlo games. The object of the races were to furnish something on which to gamble rather than for sport or test of speed. A brass band comprised of Indians furnished music.

An Exposition visitor gives this account of bargaining for a room. "Well, suh," said the landlord, "I ken give yo' a fo'th-flo' room foh fo' dollars a day, suh." "Fo'th flo,' fo' dollars," repeated the visitor facetiously, mimicking the soft Southern accent; "then I presume you can give me a first-floor room foh one dollar, eh?" "No—o, suh," said the haughty Southerner, I kain't give yo' a fust flo' room for one dollar, suh; but I ken give yo' a room without any flo' at all foh nothing,' suh. Jest go down thar to the bahn, and inquire' foh the mewl apahtments."

Can It Be Possible

That you are not a customer of ours? Well, if you are not you should be in order to be in the rank and file of up-to-date farmers. TRADE MARK

FOR TOMATOES

Well, you have heard of our Peerless Tomato Goods it is a wonder. We confidentally believe that we sell more tomato goods than any concern in the country, don't mean we sell more phosphate but more tomato fertilizer. Mr. C. R. Atkinson says Numsen claimed best tomatoes brought to his cannery was grown with these goods. He paid him $287.00 from 4 acres. Mr. D. F. Loose says one ton of these goods alongside an $18 goods brought him $96 more. Smith, Rouse & Webster, the large canners of Belair, heard of its merits and bought last spring over one hundred tons, and said last week there was not a complaint and that they will want 200 to 300 tons this time. We sold Baker & Morgan on one occasion $1200. We have several $1000 customers in Delaware. Mr. J. R. Leager says he got 13 tons to the acre. Mr. Benj. Moore says he got nearly 13 tons and that you could stand off a hundred yards and see the difference. Mr. G. W. Collins has bought as high as 50 tons per year, says his men on the choice farms got from 12 to 16 tons per acre. Mr. W. T. Money, unsolicited, said to us a few days ago, I would like to know how Peerless is made for I honestly think it is the best phosphate I ever saw and that Mr. Hayes always knew a good thing and he always bought it. We could go on, but try it for yourself and let us tell you how to apply it—get good seed and your crop is assured.

Are you going to grow

POTATOES?

Well we manufacture a Special Potato goods that has been used in New Jersey for 20 years in competition with makes and goods that cost $10 more per ton. This goods runs 10 per cent. potash, and there is no better made, and one man from New Jersey has his orders in already for over 60 tons. TRY IT.

Top Dress Your Hay This Month.

We have a cheap goods for this that works wonderfully,

There are your

Nicholson, and scores of others, can tell you what it has done for them. It has nitrate and fish as the source of ammonia, and runs high in potash and phosphoric acid.

FOR CORN

use OUR SPECIAL CORN PHOSPHATE. Corn is a good price; you fertilize your wheat why not your corn? it will pay. Mr. Ham. Crew says our Corn Phosphate beats them all. We sell hundreds of farmers this goods every year.
