SUPPER, 50 cents.

"The Mistletoe Bough" is a fascinating presentation in pantomime of that charming story in which a beautiful girl playfully steals from the scene of her bridal festivities to hide from him, who cried wildly, "Oh where did'st thou hide? I am lonely without thee, my own dear bride." Arrayed in the spotless beauty of joyous young womanhood she sought the old chest with its fatal spring and thus found a grave. Years after the skeleton was found. "In the bridal wreath of that lady fair." This pathetic but beautiful story will be told in pantomime by more than fifty young ladies and young men, all thoroughly drilled by that master of stage-art, Prof. George A. Gardner.

To Our Patrons.

Having been disappointed in getting the work done on the steamer "Sassafras," we are obliged to do the next best thing, and, as winter weather will soon be here and not being able to get the "Sassafras" before the first of December, we will run the steamer "Susquehanna," until the steamer "Sassafras" is finished.

Beginning Tuesday, November 18th, the steamer "Susquehanna" will leave Baltimore at 2.30 p. m., Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, for Gale's, Betterton and Sassafras River Landings; but owing to the draft of water of this steamer we cannot go to Buck Neck Wharf, consequently will be obliged to cut this wharf out until the steamer "Sassafras" is ready.

We, therefore, request you to travel with us and ship your freight from Gale's Wharf or Tolchester. Steamer will leave Gale's Wharf Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 9.30 a. m., and Tolchester, week days, except Saturdays, at 10.15 a. m. Saturdays the steamer "Emma Giles" leaves Tolchester at 9.00 a. m. and 4.30 p. m.; leaving Baltimore for Tolchester, week days, at 2.30 p. m.

We trust our patrons will bear with us, and we regret very much being compelled to leave out Buck Neck, but this is the best we can do; and we take this method of informing you, so that you may be posted on Gale's Wharf and Tolchester, for freight and passengers. Yours truly,

THE TOLCHESTER COMPANY.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

Wilfred Willson Drops Dead Sunday at His Home Near Rock Hall—William R. Gale Dead.

Wm. R. Gale, youngest son of the late John Gale, died at the home of Mr. George W. Hatcherson on High street, Chestertown, Tuesday evening, aged 44. The deceased had been sick with Bright's disease for some months but had the ministrations of kind and loving hands through it all. He leaves a wife and three children, and had been married just 21 years last Monday. His wife was a daughter of the late George Stephens. Mr. Gale for a number of years lived on his farm in Worton but afterwards met with reverses and removed to Baltimore. The funeral took place Thursday, Revs. E. C. Makoskey and D. L. Greenfield officiating, undertaker Dodd in charge, interment in Chester Cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. Wm. Sappington and Ralph Barnett, from the Jr. O. U. A. M. Edw. Beck, W. W. Hubbard, Joseph R. and L. Jeff. Usilton,

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. WILLSON.

Mr. Wilfred Manning Willson, a prominent farmer, of Eastern Neck, died very suddenly of heart failure at his home, Overton, on Sunday morning, Nov. 9. Dr. W. O. Selby was called in but life was extinct when he reached him. Mr. Willson was the third son of Rich'd Bennett Willson and Anne Martha Young, and was in the fifty-sixth year of his age. He leaves a wife, Anna Maria Smythe Willson and four children, three sons, Charles Bennett, Notley Osward and John Charles and one daughter, Bessie Brooke. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Father McNamara, and the sermon by Rev. Father Valentine, a Passionist Missionary. Interment at St. John's Cemetery, Rock Hall. The pall-bearers were Richard Bennett, Peter C., Paul A., and A. Carroll Willson, J. Walter Sutton. Mr. Willson comes of an illustrious and noted family, whose record in this county dates back into colonial times. He was well and favorably known and his acquaintance was far extended. Like his ancestors he was especially noted for his generous, hospitable disposition and genial manners and always extended the hand of friendship to all, and was never known to refuse aid and succor to those in need. His many friends and the community at large will miss him and as far as possible have expressed their sympathy to his bereaved family.

GUNNING ACCIDENTS.

Several Young Men Hurt As Result From Being Too Anxious To Kill Game.

Mr. J. Frank Wheatley, Jr., in company with several young men of Edesville went gunning last week in "Pig-Neck" and had fine sport until Mr. W. was shot. His companion, Mr. Elwood Burgess went to fire at a bird, and not knowing of the proximity of Frank, fired, and to his amazement saw Frank fall! The shot took effect in his leg and stung him severely. He was carried to the home of Ex-Sheriff Edw. J. Plummer who kindly loaned his team and accompanied him to his home. Dr. Selby was summoned and most of the shot removed. At this writing Frank is able to be out and other than feeling sore is not inconvenienced. Mr. Burgess was very much grieved over the accident and says he never wants to repeat his experience.

Mr. Robert Rash was shot in like manner as Mr. Wheatley while rabbit hunting with Jack Hackett, of Still Pond, he was stung in both limbs.

MR. JOHN S. OWENS INJURED.

Mr. John S. Owens, the genial proprietor of the Chesapeake House, Betterton, met with a painful accident on Monday last. In company with a friend Mr. Owens was out sailing in his gasoline launch. Mr. Owens was attending the engine and accidentally got his right foot caught in the machinery. The large toe was torn and lacerated and the foot painfully bruised. Dr. Maxwell, of Still Pond, rendered medical attention.

FIRST CARGO OF COAL.

The first cargo of hard coal shipped south of Wilmington arrived at Chestertown Monday consigned to Mr. Jefferson D. Bacchus. It created considerable interest at the different stations along the Kent road. It is predicted that other dealers will soon receive some hard coal. The price here is quoted at $7 50. Mr. Bacchus received another car load Thursday and expects another today.

THE Adams Express office has been moved to the room, next door to McWhorter's livery.

CHURCH NEWS OF INTEREST.

Extensive Improvements to I. U. Church Near Worton.

Debt-Paying Day At Worton M. E. Church—Revival At Chesterville—Feast of Tabernacles At Millington — Massey Church Reopened—A Blind Evangelist.

The Asbury M. E. Church is to have a Feast of Tabernacles beginning Sunday November 16th. The pastor will conduct the Sunday evening service November 16. Monday evening, Nov. 17, Rev. J. R. Arters, of Clayton, will preach; Tuesday evening, November 18, Rev. E. E. White, of Wilmington; Wednesday evening, November 16, Rev. W. F. Cochran, D. D., P. E., Easton District; Thursday evening, November 20, Rev. C. S. Baker, D. D., P. E. Dover District; Friday evening, November 21, Rev. H. S. Dulaney, of Wilmington. You and your friends cordially invited to come and participate in these services.

The second Epworth League social was held at the home of Miss Ollie Vansant, Brick Hotel, on Thursday evening, November 13. Parlor games, musical and literary program were rendered, and refreshments served. A good time was enjoyed.

The attendance at Sunday School last Sunday was 104, the largest since last March.

The attendance at Prayer Meeting last Friday evening was 40, the largest for nearly a year.

It has been decided to improve and beautify the Lecture room of our church. Any church wishing benches that will seat 250 people may buy them cheap by applying to the Trustees of the Asbury M. E. Church. Please apply at once.

After being closed for 5 months, the Massey M. E. Church was opened this week, and the pastor of the Millington church was invited to conduct services there. The attendance is quite large and interest is good.

No pains has been spared on the part of the people of I. U. parish to renovate and clean their church. We beg to offer them our humble tribute of praise on the success of their righteous labors in this cause. The inside of the walls have been neatly and tastefully painted, the seats are now in oak finish, the whole building has been thoroughly cleaned. It will be a happy pleasure to anyone to worship in this pretty, neat, modest and unostentatious church. We are fully of the opinion that the little congregation of I. U. deserve very much credit for the way in which they have carried out the renovation of the interior of their church; may God bless and prosper them with abundant spiritual success. A large congregation attended the re-opening on Sunday, Nov. the 9th.

Revival services are being held this week at the M. E. Church South, Chesterville, and will continue all next week, quite an interest is manifested, all are invited to attend, services are conducted by the Rev. I. Ryder and others.

Last Sunday November 9th, was a Red Letter Day in the history of Worton M. E. Church, Fairlee charge. This day had been set apart as debt paying day and Rev. T. F. Beauchamp, of Still Pond, was to preach but was kept away by sickness at the last moment and pastor Pool was in charge all alone. At 3.30 o'clock he called for the offerings and within ten minutes found more cash and subscriptions in hand (most of it cash) than he asked for. The cleaning out of this troublesome debt of about $200.00 without festivals, suppers or dime museum concerts, but by the consecrated dollars of consecrated people has done much toward placing Methodism where she can demand and receive the respect and confidence of the business men and world by people in this community, and gives to Worton one of the most desirable little churches to be found, built two years ago, entirely free of debt. A most gracious revival has been in progress there. With over $1700.00 needed on this charge at Conference, and two liens on an incomplete parsonage before anything could be done, after conference this building was completed, placed on a solid business basis and nearly $600.00 raised under most adverse conditions.

Rev. H. J. Magonigal, the blind evangelist, has been assisting Rev. E. C. Makoskey at St. James during the past two weeks and will be present Sunday. Several conversons have resulted and large audiences have enjoyed the sermons.

Rev. R. Semple Rowe, of Kennedyville, and Rev. David L. Greenfield, of Christ Church, will exchange pulpits Sunday morning.

Rev. A. H. Covey has been requested to return to Bond and Mowbray Churches for the third year. He is popular in Quaker Neck and deservedly so.

At the Quarterly Conference of the Chestertown M. E. Church, held last week the Trustees unanimously invited Rev. E. P. Roberts to return as pastor of the church next year.

The dedication of the new church at Lynch's Station is expected to take place about Nov. 23rd. The delay is caused by the non-arrival of the seats, which are expected daily.

Rev. J. M. Gill's new church in Washington will likely be ready for dedication on November 30th.

CORN-HUSKING MACHINE!

Labor Problem Solved to Some Extent—100 Barrels of Corn Husked Per Day and Fodder Shredded—A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Walter Sparks, the Peninsular "machine king," of Fairlee, has purchased of the Frick Co, Waynesboro, Pa., a handsome new 20-horse power traction engine and also a large corn-husker and fodder-shredder from the McCormick Harvesting Machine Co., of Chicago. Mr. Lewin U. Skirven, near town, gave him the first trial on Thursday and proved quite successful.

This husker is a mammoth machine with capacity of one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five barrels a day, requiring five or six wagons to haul the unhusked corn from the field and two to loft the husked corn. It is surely interesting to watch this wonderful revelation in corn-husking. The feed elevators take a bundle of corn that has been bound by the corn binder, butts first up to the revolving knives that cut the strings, then on to the powerful corrugated rollers that carry it through them mashing it flat on the shredder head in turn, shreds and cuts the fodder like short hay, then passes it into the blower which drives it with a terrific force up in the barn. The ears of corn have been snapped off the stalk by the heavy rollers because they are too close for them to pass and fall through a hole in the feed table upon another set of small corrugated rollers that grasp the husk that is on the ear and takes it through as would a clothes' wringer a pair pants. The ears can not get through and the husk is of course pulled off, then the ears are forced out into a carrier which deposits them in a wagon. What corn the machine shells is fanned and bagged. Truly this is a revelation in corn-husking and Mr. Sparks hopes to give his patrons perfect success with his new rig. He is widely known for his success in machinery and all he asks is a trial. He went to Mr. John P. Nicholson's yesterday.

BRIEF FARM NOTES.

Growers Complain of Rotten Corn—Some Very Fine Yields.

A farmer down the county had fifty acres of wheat to seed this week!

Many farmers are complaining of corn rotting in the shock, nevertheless there is a fairly good crop.

Mr. Adam F. Huey, of Massey, has finished husking and as far as we can learn has the prize crop. He had 54 acres from which we are told he will get 4000 bushels or eighty bushels to the acre! He has been visited by representatives from several seed houses who have been anxious to buy this corn for seed. Landreth & Son purchased some of the corn while many others are securing it. Mr. Huey believes in fertilizer and says it pays.

Many farmers about Worton Station sold their corn at forty cents per bushel on the cob, hauling it from the field to the cars.

George H. Snitcher, the "big" Queen Anne's farmer, has a fine crop of corn estimated at seventy bushels to the acre. This is prize corn for our neighbors but of course Kent goes ahead of that—its in the soil!

John W. Murray, Jr., aged fifteen years, of Hampstead, raised this year on one acre of his grandfather's lot 7,200 pounds of corn, or 20 barrels and 200 pounds. Is there a boy in Kent of like age, who can beat this? The grandfather, Mr. John W. Murray, Sr., was famous some years ago for the big corn crops he raised.

Mr. I. R. Leaverton has one hundred acres in corn from which he husked out about 5,000 bushels. This was fine corn, too.

Wm. B. Naylor, of near Massey, also raised a big crop of corn, harvesting 2,000 bushels off of 36 acres.

Mr. Dave Ford, on the Wilkie farm, brought a foot ear of corn to town Wednesday and said it was but a nubbin. He says his big ear has to be carried on the shoulder. Next.

The best day's work in the husking field is twelve barrels per day, reported from Lankford. The average husker will not get out over five barrels per day.

Mr. L. S. Price has grown some sweet potatoes that we believe will be hard to beat in size and weight. The largest of them weigh from seven to seven and a half pounds and on down to three and four pounds.

Several big crops of corn in the vicinity of Chesterville are reported. It is said that Mr. Alday Clements has gotten a hundred bushels to the acre off of several acres.
