SALE EXTRAORDINARY OF

Brass and Enameled Beds and the Best Bedding . . .

IF the manufacturer had been prompt in delivery, you would not have this chance for great savings. As it is, two carloads of Brass and Enameled Beds, that should have been here 60 days ago, have just arrived, and on November 15th Christmas novelties will make their debut. So it is obvious that the Beds must move rapidly. That is the reason for the following almost startling prices.

There is no Bedstead that is more desirable than that of metal—easily kept clean and always sightly. The Bedding is high grade in every way. The prices are marvels of moderation.

This sale is especially interesting to managers of institutions and hotel and boarding-house proprietors, as well as to the thrifty housekeeper.

CHESTERVILLE NOTES.

A Popular Couple Married — Other Notes of Interest.

Miss Ethel Solloway, the bright school teacher, spent Saturday and Sunday with Misses Sophie and Bertie Miller at Still Pond.

Mr. Carol Nickerson, a young Philadelphia merchant, has moved in our village and is managing the store of Mrs. Emma Crittendon.

Mrs. Solloway, one of our estimable ladies, has broken up housekeeping in our village and is now visiting her daughter at Kent Island. She expects to make her future home in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Cosden, mother of Mrs. John Stephenson, has moved in the house vacated by Mrs. Solloway.

Mrs. Wm. Baxter and Miss Dora Loller spent Friday and Saturday with Baltimore friends.

Revival services have been in progress this week at the M. E. Church South under the leadership of Rev. I. Ryder.

Most of the sick are improving, we are glad to say.

There is much interest being taken in this neighborhood concerning the contest over the personalty held by Mr. Robt. W. Lusby. No one thought that any one else but Mr. Robt. was the owner and he has much sympathy from his old neighbors.

Rabbits and birds are both said to be scarce in this neighborhood.

The corn crop is good in this section and a big crop is anticipated. The corn huskers are busy. Mr. Thos. Hurlock is the first in the neighborhood to finish husking.

Our neighborhood was much surprised to hear of the wedding of our popular railroad official Mr. Walter Truitt, of Black's, and Miss Edith Armstrong, of Wilkesbarre, Pa. They were married Wednesday, Oct. 29th, 1902 by Rev. S. P. Shipman at the M. E. parsonage, Galena. Owing to circumstances the wedding was private. Thursday, Oct. 30th, the bride and groom started on their wedding tour, they visited Philadelphia, Wilkesbarre, Scranton and other places of importance in Pennsylvania. They will make their future home at Black's. Congratulations.

We regret to announce that our old friend, Mr. Charles Crittendon, is quite sick. We hope to see him about at an early date.

Mr. John Wallis and family have moved from the village to Mrs. W's father, Mr. Anthony, just outside of the village.

CIRCUS ON A SPECIAL SHIP.

The Minneapolis Brings Barnum's Aggregation From Europe.

The steamship Minneapolis, of the Atlantic Transport Line, bearing the great cargo of Barnum & Bailey's "greatest show on earth," arrived at her dock at Pier 40, North river, at 8. 30 A. M. Saturday, and the herculean task of unloading a great menagerie, comprising hundreds of animals of every species known to naturalists and innumerable freaks, was begun as soon as the vessel had warped into her dock.

The entire ship had been chartered by the show people. The voyage from London, which began 13 days ago, was marked by halcyon days and calm and unruffled seas, and not even a horse suffered from sea-sickness on the voyage. The cargo consisted of 16 elephants, 2 giraffes, 12 tigers, 5 lions, 6 hyenas, 4 leopards, 4 bears, 4 panthers, 54 monkeys, 1 horned horse, 1 gnu, 3 deer, 1 tapir, 1 auobad, 1 water ox, 1 nylghau, 1 black wart hog, 1 orax. 4 antelope, 16 dogs, 1 moufflon, 7 camels, 6 dromedaires, 4 gainses, 1 yak, 4 zebras, 1 water buffalo and 162 horses. The only casualty was the death of a blue-tail monkey, which died as a result of trying to swallow hardtack whole.

The rarest and most prized specimen of the entire aggregation, however, did not belong to the quadruped class. He is the great and only human telescope, Willie Doss. Willie, more familiarly known as "Stretch," has supplanted "Jo-Jo the dog faced boy," the "What-is-it" and other celebrated freaks.

His normal height is 6 feet 1 inch. James A. Bailey, the great showman, was standing at the head of the pier, and when he spied the human telescope he shouted out: "Ah, there, Willie: welcome home!" The freak turned in the direction of the salute and stretched." His neck seemed to rise out of his collar after the manner of a jack-in-the-box, his shoulders followed and his trunk seemed to rise away from his hips until he gained a height that seemed to cut off the view of the lookout on the formast. yards.

"'Tis time to tell the town that the tallest, towering, topmost toiler of Toledo telescopes is twice as tall as the true and trusty Titan of troubled Troy in the time of Titus, the tyrant." So spoke Tony Hamilton, the press agent.

"Other wonders are the legless and armless cyclist," he said, "Gus Selby, who can stand more volts of electricity than is necessary to electrocute all New York's criminals: the wild man from Borneo, Joan, the headless wonder, and a lot more."
