SMYRNA has a small-pox scare.

IT IS now charged that all the offices to be distributed at Washington during the next two months are desired for Delaware, which has been without her dividend for nearly ten years, and there are scores who think they deserve a fat berth.

A RHODE ISLAND farmer shot his negro farm hand and from all accounts it was justifiable homicide a case of self defense. But in the South, where the negroes are ten times as numerous, such incidents are referred to the race problem.

THE Delaware House passed the Good Roads Bill of Representative Tyre, providing for a highway commission of three members, one to reside in each county; to receive $1,200 each, with $500 additional for expenses. They shall have permanent headquarters in the state Capitol Building at Dover and shall act in conjunction with the courts of the three counties for the permanent improvement of the public highways.

COL. WILBER F. JACKSON, brother of ex-Governor Elihu E. Jackson, and a well-known capitalist, died Thursday afternoon at his home, 218 West Monument street, Baltimore, after a short illness of erysipelas. Colonel Jackson was moving about during the early part of last week, but on Thursday he was brought to his bed, partly from the shock caused by discoveries of his son's injuries, not noted when the latter was thrown out of his automobile in Druid Hill Park on Feb. 15.

A MAN of 28 who married a widow of 75 is defendant in a suit in the Supreme Court of New York. His wife's relatives are trying to take from him the fortune of $100,000 she left at her death. Cloyde Barker, the defendant, says very frankly that he married the old lady for her money and he intends to see that the bargain is kept. He has endured much and therefore should receive his reward.

GOVERNOR HUNN has appointed J. Edward Addicks a trustee of Delaware College, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Vallingdingham. The position has no emoluments, but is one of the highest honors to Delawareans, the institution being the State's highest educational institution. The appointment does not have to be confirmed by the Senate, otherwise Mr. Addicks might have more trouble. The board itself is helpless in the matter and must admit to membership any one selected by the Governor of the State, but it is known in advance that Addicks will get a freezing reception when he takes this his first office in Delaware.

PROF. FRED WILSON, the well-known fifth district Republican leader, arrived in town last week and soon after his arrival gave one of his noted seances. Upon awakening he said that the Republicans would nominate but six men, viz., three State candidates, senator and two members of legislature! Said he, "the ticket is too large for our voters to master it and we will be sure of electing the most important officers. We are very particular about the legislature because if the Democrats win they will play the d——!"

Indeed. When did Fred get so righteous? If his appointment as examiner has had this result then it should have been done earlier.

THE State Board of Education have issued the following communication to the school commissioners of Kent county.

"Whereas it has been brought to the attention of the board that there is a lamentable want of knowledge of the history of Maryland among its citizens, and it has been suggested that this study should be emphasized in the public schools of the State; therefore, it is

"Resolved by the State Board of Education, that the 25th day of March in each year be devoted in all the public schools of the State to the efficient presentation of some particular event in the history of the State.

"Resolved, That it is recommended that the School Commissioners and Examiners of Maryland and the State Teachers' Association join in requesting the General Assembly of Maryland to appoint March 25 as 'Maryland Day,' and to provide for its appropriate annual celebration."

This is a wise provision of our authorities and it is hoped that the schools of Kent will adopt the suggestion and set apart the day to study Maryland history.

SMALL-POX has broken out at Havre de Grace. H. H. Bowden, a merchant, contracted the disease and his place has been quarantined

SENATOR J. FRANK ALLEE will name his brother for postmaster at Dover.

THE Kent County Teachers Institute will be held Sept. 1, 2, 3 and 4th. The Teachers' association will be postponed for the present, because of no place to hold it, the Board not feeling justified in spending $10 for the hall.
